First Year, Best Result.
Flying Progress.
The Talmadge Fine Cow.
One Georgia Mother.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, looking back over his first year in the White House, ended last Saturday, concludes modestly that the most important event of the year is "the people's increased interest in their own government."

For a long time people in the United States have lived too much of a bovine existence, content as long as their food was brought to them at regular hours.

Events since 1929 have made citizens realize that government is important, since their welfare and happiness depend on it.

IF YOU WORRY about an occasional airplane accident, and ever feel inclined to doubt the ultimate, absolute conquest of the air and of weather conditions, stop thinking about a few rare accidents, and consider what progress flying has made within a few years.

Twenty-three years ago, Lord Northcliffe, British newspaper owner, offered and paid ten thousand pounds to the first man to fly the few miles across the English Channel. A Frenchman, Bleriot, won, and the world wondered.

The achievement seemed so improbable that Britian's insurance company, Lloyd's, for a trifle, insured Lord Northcliffe against having to pay the ten thousand pounds.

In this country, William Randolph Hearst, largest owner of newspapers and magazines in the world, offered a prize of fifty thousand dollars to the first man that would fly across this continent.

The prize was won by Perry Rodgers, flying in a fragile biplane that looks today more like a darning needle than an airplane. Rodgers started from the Sheepshead Bay race track, on Long Island. There were no air fields then, and he landed at Pasadena, Cal.

He had flown the whole way. But it took him just 50 days to make the journey, starting September 17, 1911, landing at Pasadena on November 5. His actual flying time over the 4,017 miles was 84 hours and two minutes.

The longest non-stop flight that he was able to make on the journey was 231 miles, and he stopped in thirty places on his journey that lasted twelve hundred hours. He flew eighty-four hours and two minutes, and spent eleven hundred and fifteen hours and fifty-eight minutes on the ground fixing his plane.

There is progress. Soon ships will fly around this earth in forty-eight hours, and flying will be as much a matter of course with everybody as railroad travel is now.

FOR MORE than a week this writer has been trying to tell you about Mrs. Talmadge's Jersey cow, and how she managed at her husband's luncheon.

Mrs. Talmadge, wife of the Governor of Georgia, lives in a beautiful house high on a hill in the fashionable part of Atlanta, the house purchased by the state of Georgia, as a residence for its governors.

Back of the executive mansion grass grows, and in the grass season a fine Jersey cow eats it. Gov. Talmadge says:

"God made grass for cows to eat, not for city people to chop it off with a lawn mower."

Mrs. Talmadge tells you that the cow—she needs only one—in the city produces two pounds of butter a day, and "five gallons of milk." Five gallons are twenty quarts. Not many Holsteins give more.

MRS. TALMADGE is too busy looking after guests, telephone calls, distinguished visitors, to milk the Jersey cow, but she has milked many a cow and hopes to milk many another.

In fact she runs her husband's big farm in summer when he is busy as Governor. He is one of the most successful farmers in the South, one reason why Georgia farmers made him Governor with the cities voting against him.

THE GOVERNOR gave a luncheon party for a dozen men and you observed that Mrs. Talmadge seated Dr. Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe University, in the armchair facing the Governor. When the other men were seated there was no chair empty.

Mrs. Talmadge spent the luncheon time never sitting down, seeing that her husband's guests had what they wanted, going in and out of the kitchen. It is her opinion that "you can't sit down and attend to your husband's guests properly at the same time."

The Governor, asked "Do you object to my printing your wife's luncheon plan?" replied:

"Certainly not. That's what every woman ought to do."

AS THE results of Mrs. Talmadge's attention, never was there such tender beef. Said Mrs. Talmadge:

"It was a young bull we butchered, about a year old and very fat."

Three whole small birds were provided for each guest, perfectly cooked, and the scalloped oysters were such as never were found on land or sea, except once, long ago, in the house of James Mullins at Wooster, O.

"Uh huh," replied Mrs. Talmadge, "I know how to cook all those things. But I bring my cook up from the farm. I haven't time to cook every-

President Calls on Industry to Boost Employment

Associated Press.

President Roosevelt in his talk to industrial leaders today proposed:

Wage increases and shortening of hours to bolster consuming power and spread employment.

Greater adherence by the people to the Blue Eagle symbol to make all "play the game."

Strict adherence by employers to the law allowing free choice by employes of representatives to do their collective bargaining.

Permanent reorganization of the economic and social structure along the lines already started.

(Text of address on pages 8 and 9.)

WASHINGTON, March 5—(AP.)—President Roosevelt asked American industry today for "immediate co-operation to secure increase in wages and shortening of hours." He declared:

"It is the immediate task of industry to re-employ more people at purchasing wages and to do it now."

Speaking to the several thousand members of NRA's code authorities, assembled in Constitution Hall for a three-day review of the industrial control program, he warned that "the government cannot forever continue to absorb the whole burden of unemployment."

GREATER PROTECTION

He called for greater protection of small business, terming the code authority "the keeper of your small industrial brother."

He said the anti-trust laws "must continue in their major purpose of retaining competition and preventing monopoly."

He demanded that "every corporation in the United States" give its workers free choice to organize themselves and emphasized

King May Forgive Romantic Prince

CANNES, France, March 5.—(AP.)—Sources close to King Gustaf, of Sweden, today said it was indicated he would forgive his grandson, Prince Sigvard, who plans to marry a commoner, Erika Patzek, blonde German actress.

The couple plan to come to Cannes on their honeymoon. Although formal confirmation was lacking, the informants said the King appeared ready "to forgive and forget."

Gov. Rolph Shows Much Improvement

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—(AP.)—Gov. James Rolph, Jr., ill in a hospital here, was described as "vastly improved" today by his secretary, William H. McCarthy.

Death Hovering As Dr. Wynekoop Trial Nears End

CHICAGO, March 5.—(AP.)—Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, charged with the operating table murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, was in a "very, very, serious condition" today—in danger of sudden death itself—as the defense rested in her trtial.

It marked the beginning of the third week of the retrial of the 63-year-old physician, who had been put back on the stand this morning bearing bruises suffered when she fell during a fainting spell in her jail cell.

She had fainted twice before being brought to court in a wheel chair and appeared pale, haggard and weak.

CONDITION GRAVE

Dr. Frank McNamara, the Cook County Jail physician, stayed around the courtroom. Occasionally he looked in the door at the defendant. He said:

"Her condition is very, very serious."

Asked if there was danger of sudden death, he said:

"There was. There is no fake about her condition. It's serious"

Only one witness remained to be heard as court recessed and Judge Harry B. Miller informed the jurors that final arguments would begin after the testimony of Stanley Young, companion of Earle Wynekoop, husband of the slain girl.

CLASH IN CORRIDOR

The state announced it wanted to call Young to establish an alibi for Earle, by showing that he was far from the scene at the time.

A heated clash occurred outside the courtroom after the appearance in the box of Frank (Jiggs) Donohue, a police officer assigned to the coroner's office.

Donohue had testified that he had not made certain remarks attributed to him by Walker Wynekoop, son of the defendant, on the stand a few days ago.

SHERIFF HIT IN DILLINGER JAIL BREAK

Lady Should Resign, Official Says; 'Trick' Gunman Still Free

BULLETIN.

CROWN POINT, Ind., March 5.—(AP.)—Evidence that John Dillinger had been in frequent communication with members of his outlaw gang while confined in the Lake County Jail was uncovered today as five investigations went forward into his amazing escape from the jail with a wooden pistol last Saturday.

CROW POINT, Ind., March 5.—(AP.)—Lake County buzzed with investigations today as state and local officials, with United States investigators at work independently, tried to fix the responsibility for John Dillinger's escape from the Crown Point Jail Saturday. The rumors that a "fix" might have entered into his startling get-away were heard as Dillinger remained free—hunted in half a dozen states.

President Charles Baran, of the County Board of Commissioners, issued a statement in which he declared that the county's woman Sheriff, Mrs. Lillian Holley, should resign.

He said he would ask the county board to pass a resolution asking her resignation when it assembled later today for a special meeting to consider Dillinger's escape. Baran said:

"That's what Lake County gets for having a lady Sheriff. "It's a man's job. A woman, no matter how intelligent or

JAM PILES UP 22 FEET IN ALLEGHENY

Rains on Monongahela Watershed Swell Streams in City

Two huge gorges in the Allegheny River, one 60 and the other 80 miles north of Pittsburgh, were being watched by rivermen late today as the rivers here continued falling slowly.

The stage at the Point was 21.3 feet this afternoon, a drop of only one foot from the crest of 22.3 feet reached at 10 o'clock last night. This was 2.7 eet below flood mark. Rivers here were rapidly clearing of ice.

Rains over the Monongahela watershed yesterday kept that stream at high stage, as ice floes damaged shipping in the upper rived.

TEN-MILE ICE PACK

One of the Allegheny River gorges is at Rimerton, the other at Monterey, below Parkers Landing 80 miles from Pittsburgh. The latter gorge, consisting of a 10-mile ice pack was reported moving slowly downstream toward the Rimerton gorge.

Weather Observer W. S. Brfotzman arranged with employes at Dam No. 8 to flash word if the Rimerton gorge moved out. Brotzman said he believed the two gorges would consolidate, without enough water to dislodge them.

Flood waters from the Clarion River, backed by the Monterey gorge, covered low lying districts of Parkers Landing with four feet of water.

The Wightman Glass plant was closed, putting 150 out of work. Bridge equipment, valued at $10,000, of the John F. Casey Company was threatened. The ice pack rose to a height of 22 feet. Cellars were flooded.

From Freeport down, the Allegheny was clear of all except shore ice late today.

Light rain, expected tonight, would not affect the rivers, Brotsman asserted. A more rapid fall is expected by tomorrow morning.

Locks at the new No. 2 dam in the Allegheny at Highland Park were being dragged today for Robert P. Fogel, 50, of 115 McCandless avenue, a lock tender. He went to inspect the locks early yesterday and has not been seen since, his associates reported.

INSPECTOR DROWNS

William R. Abmar, 26, of 1951 Mt. Troy road, a barge inspector, fell between barges and was drowned in the Ohio River near Montgomery Island, Beaver County, yesterday.

Thirty coal barges of the H. C. Frick Coke Company were swept away from their moorings at Colonial dock, near Uniontown, yesterday. All except one were recovered.

Four steamboats and 19 empty barges of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation were swept downstream at Lock No. 3 in the Monongahela River. All were retrieved.

Weatherman Brotzman said none of the Ohio valley towns in this district or at Wheeling would experience a flood stage.

At Franklin, Pa., the Allegheny was falling today. Both the Allegheny and French Creek were clear of ice, but the ice field from Tionesta to Warren remained firm.

OAKMONT MAN, FRIEND SLAIN

International News Service.

WILMINGTON, Del., March 5.—Two men, whose torn bodies wrapped in an improvised sack were found this morning in a shallow creek near here, were identified this afternoon as Gus Messina, of Philadelphia, and William Schwalbe, of Oakmont, Pa.

The bodies, lying in the county morgue, were identified by a brother-in-law of Messina, state police announced.

Tortured and murdered in barbaric gangland fashion, the two men were discovered, tied together by window sashcord and stuffed into a sack made of a blanket and a carpet, lying in six inches of water in Shellpot Creek, three miles northwest of here.

Loses $100 at Dice, Kills Self With Gas

ERIE, Pa., March 5.—(AP.)—James Hyslop, 52, of Marine City, Mich., deckhand on the steamer J. C. Morse, told friends he lost $100 in a dice game.

With the gas turned on and the cracks about the door stuffed with paper, he was found dead in a waterfront hotel yesterday.

Admiral Horthy Predicts There Will Be No War

Hungary's Regent Sees Need of New Lines in Europe

Editor's Note—Admiral Horthy, regent of Hungary, believed a year ago that war was certain to come. Now, he tells H. R. Knickerbocker in the nineteenth article of the series "Will War Come," he believes there will be no war at all.

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER.

BUDAPEST, March 5.—His Serene Highness, the Regent of Hungary, Admiral Horthy de Nagybanya is not a king by title, but he is a monarch in fact and surroundings. The regent believes that Europe, like a vest that has been buttoned up wrongly, needs to be "unbuttoned and buttoned up right again."

His palace rises above the Danube, splendid, wide, high, big as a mountain. This has been the regent's seat for the last 14 years. It will probably be his seat until he dies. While he is there the regency has all the authority of the crown, and considerably more authority. His serene highness is the undisputed lord of the land.

Sentries present arms at the barracks on the way to the palace. Sentries present arms at the gate. Sentries present arms at the palace entrance. A non-commissioned officer leads the way past other sentries to the door of the regent's apartments. Before the door stands a magnificent figure in scarlet and gold and helmet, pike and shield. CANNES, France, March 5.—(AP.)—Brand Whitlock, former United States ambassador to Belgium, underwent an operation for relief for a bladder ailment today. His physicians announced "he is making good progress."

STRIKE CHIEFS IN MEETING

An executive committee representing striking employes of the Aluminum Company of America was meeting in New Kensington this afternoon to discuss a new wage demand.

While the plants at New Kensington, Arnold and Logans Ferry remained idle, company officials said they were ready to meet the strikers' representatives at any time.

Paul Howlett, president of the New Kensington local of the Aluminum Workers' Union, said a committee probably would be named at the executive committee meeting to confer with the company officials.

Pickets turned out in hundreds this morning to picket the plants Less than half of the 3,700 employes voted yesterday when ballots were cast to decide whether to continue the strike begun Thursday, but out of 1,670 who voted, 1,193 favored continuation of the "holiday."

The pickets were granted permission by Mayor Daniel Burns of New Kensington to make a house-to-house canvass to obtain food for the strikers.

The Logans Ferry plant remained idle despite a vote of the bronze powder workers employed there to go back to work. Harry O. Wolfe, president of the Logans Ferry union, explained it was decided not to go back to work after the workers in the other plants voted against it.

NEGRO NAMED MAGISTRATE

Mayor McNair today sent to Council the name of Charles E. Jackson, Negro, of 5630 Harvard street, as his police magistrate appointee to succeed the late Thomas D. Jones. Since the appointment was not accompanied by a resolution, Council referred it to the Finance Committee.

His Honor's naming of Harry I. Lutz, of 5854 Forbes street, as City Assessor to replace Charles Martin, was confirmed, as were the appointments of Charles F. Lewis and Norman S. Sprague to the Planning Commission.

Council upheld McNair's veto of an ordinance requiring $400 for the erection of a base for a monumetn in South Park to the 2nd Division, A. E. F. The Mayor had vetoted the measure, saying it is illegal to spend city funds outside thec ity limits.

First Lady to Fly Over Sea to Porto Rico

ABOARD HAVANA SPECIAL WITH MRS. ROOSEVELT, March 5.—(AP.)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt sped southward today, headed for the first over-the-ocean flight ever taken by a President's wife. On this first day of her second year as first lady, she's bound for Porto Rico and its poverty problems.

"First-hand information" is her aim. After visiting Porto Rico she will pay a call on the Virgin Islands before returning to the White House.

She is accompanied by Miss Lorena Hickok, of the Federal Relief Administration, sent to report on island conditions. A group of newspaper women also are along, prepared to swim, ride horseback, and otherwise keep up with the vigorous first lady.

Mrs. Roosevelt had planned to leave Washington by plane at 10:40 a. m. today, but fog prompted her to advance her start to 3:25 a. m. by train.

Long after midnight she changed into traveling togs from the blue brocade inaugural ball gown she had worn at last night's cabinet party, celebrating the first anniversary of new dealism.

Mrs. Roosevelt probably will find on the same seaplane with her from Miami to Porto Rico on Tuesday morning Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell and his party of experts. They will make a survey to see if conditions can be improved there.

She has promised to be back in Washington by March 17, when she and the President will celebrate their twenty-ninth wedding anniversary.

Girl Leaps Into River From Downtown Bridge

Dawn was spreading over the skies today when a young woman lifted herself over the rail of the downtown Sixth Street Bridge and plunged into the ice-choked and swollen waters of the Allegheny River, according to a witness.

Joseph Reynolds, of 827 North Lincoln avenue, North Side, told the police that, motoring over the bridge, he glanced through the rear-vision mirror and watched the gripping scene.

With the great blocks of ice and the swirling, swollen waters, there was little chance of soon locating the body.

Reynolds described the woman as about 5 feet 5 inches tall and wearing a dark coat and dark tight-fitting hat.

He said when he first saw her she was standing with a foot on the lower rail of the bridge, about 300 feet from the Pittsburgh side. Later, looking in his mirror, he saw her go over the rail, he said.

River Patrolman Charles Snyder was notified, but he said the swolleh condition of the river made dragging impossible.

Reynolds and Patrolman C. A. Muesser, the officer to whom he reported the affair, searched the bridge in the vicinity of where the woman was seen to leap, but nothing was found.

BANKSVILLE BOY BACK TO FACE DEATH CHARGE

Davis Brought Here After Jail Escape And Recapture

That's as much as the state police headquarters in Greensburg would reveal.

Nor would District Attorney Andrew T. Park break the secrecy that surrounded the South Hills high school boy's return here to face charges in the slaying of State Highway Patrolman Herbert Brantlinger.

Robert B. Ivory, Sr., his attorney, said he was at a loss to locate the 19-year-old boy, but had heard that he was to be taken to Harrisburg or Greensburg to face further state police questioning.

Waving extradition, Davis was taken from the county jail at Carlyle, Ill., yesterday in the custody of State Police Lieut. Charles C. Keller, and was put on a train in St. Louis en route for Pittsburgh.

Davis was started back here after being recaptured Saturday, less than 24 hours after his escape from the jail. He was found in a nearby town by a sheriff.

Young Davis' case was to be presented to the March grand jury today.

DEFENDED BY FATHER

The boys' father, Thomas A. Davis, of 2942 Banksville road, today maintained that his son is innocent. He said:

"I'm going to do my best to save my boy, though I am bucking the State Highway Patrol and a $6,000 reward.

"They have everything to gain and nothing to lose—I have all to gain and all to lose."

Davis, a former Union Township justice of the peace, said the alleged Brantlinger confession was forced from his son by third-degree methods. During a visit to his son in the Illinois jail he said the boy told him:

"I'm not afraid of the electric chair, but I'm afraid of the cops. The stuff they give you is rotten."

The elder Davis said his son was at home in bed the night Brantlinger was shot, and he declared they have many witnesses to prove it.

FAMILY QUARREL CITED

The boy left home September 20, just after the shooting, because of a family quarrel, his father continued. A senior at South Hills High School, he was to have graduated last month and was planning to enter Notre Dame.

Only the circumstantial evidence that his son was driving a Ford and had a rifle link him with the crime, Davis said. Highway police said that their fellow-officer was shot with a rifle and that when he was found dying, said:

"Two guys in a Ford got me."

The Davis boy served a prison term at Huntingdon Reformatory, Huntingdon, Pa., when he was 16, for the robbery of telephone boxes.

BAR TO DECIDE QUIZ COURSE

The judiciary committee of the Allegheny County Bar Association will not investigate alleged political activity of judges as a fact-finding body, William A. Challener, chairman of the committee, said today.

Discussing a resolution proposing an inquiry, passed at a meeting of the Bar Association Friday night, Challener said it is not the committee's duty to investigate charges. If an inquiry is launched, he said, the committee will sit to hear complaints.

The committee will meet Wednesday afternoon to discuss the resolution and decide on the course to be pursued. Challener said that in his opinion any hearings on complaints should be public.

Challener said the committee has no evidence of activity on the part of the judges in politics. John G. Frazer, president of the bar association, said he had no knowledge that the resolution was to be presented prior to its introduction by J. Garfield Houston.

Frazer said there were "only two or three" votes against the proposal.

Sheriff Wails Grief Over Losing Dillinger

'Women Always Get Tough Breaks,' She Weeps

By CORRINNE HARDESTY
Universal Service.

CROWN POINT, Ind., March 5.—Women always get the "tough breaks."

That's the way Lillian Holley, Indiana's first and only woman sheriff, put it when I talked to her, and she wasn't trying to be funny as she summed up her attitude toward John Dillinger's startling escape from her Lake County Jail at Crown Point.

The dazed, drooping woman who huddled in a chair in the parlor of the Sheriff's residence yesterday didn't bear much resemblance to the smartly clad, blonde, dainty-featured 110-pound woman, proud to boast, three days ago, that she was keeper of the country's most notorious badman.

She had dreamed her little dreams. She had considered being Sheriff a career. She wielded the patronage of her post, and in her inexperience thought it was power. Then catastrophe caught up with her and she was not the clever official, but just a disappointed woman.

That being a Sheriff was not exactly woman's work never crossed her ambitious mind.

LISTLESS AND TIRED

Coming through the jail entrance, through the tidy, gleaming kitchen, where two caramel pies—positively not Mrs. Holley's—cooled on the window, I found her in the shabby living room, too utterly listless to resent my not-quite-conventional approach to her privacy.

All her bitter disappointment, seemingly more at the failure of Lillian Holley to be the smartest Sheriff in the country than at any feeling of unfilled responsibility, shone out of the tired, slightly squinted blue eyes.

She wasn't beaten. She'll still fight for her office if the troublesome investigators try to take it from her. But she's stunned at the unkindness of the fates to treat her so, and her chief concern seemed to be for the rather blasted state of her personal ambitions. She said:

"You just have to be sensible about things like this. Women always work harder and are more conscientious than men, and yet this had to happen to me. I can't see why. It is harder to bear than the death of my husband."

Roy Holley, her husband, whose unexpired second term she is filling—after a good deal of political ball playing—was killed more than a year ago trying to capture a demented man.

DEPLORES FATE

The farm girl who became Sheriff alternately deplored the crash of her personal ambitions and the tangle of investigations in which she now finds herself.

Unable to run for office herself, she had planned to sponsor the campaign of her nephew, Carroll Holley, 27, now chief deputy.

Did she wish she had allowed Prosecutor Robert G. Estill to remove her notorious charge to the state prison?

She answered:

"No, I don't. I wanted to keep him. I lectured the guards every day. I told them what precautions to take. I've never had a decent night's rest since he came.

"I can't figure out whose fault it is. I'd be relieved if I could believe it was my own. I wish he had been captured from the outside, with machine guns, instead of walking out like this with a broom-handle gun. Oh, why did it have to happen to me?"

And here the tears appeared. She declared:

"Being Sheriff during the past six weeks, since they brought Dillinger, has been the most exciting time of my life. I did so want to put something across."

The woman Sheriff wailed once more:

"Oh, why did this have to happen to me, just now, and mess up everything?"

APPEAL SLATED FOR M'CLURE

International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, March 5.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today decided to hear argument next Monday on the petition of State Senator John J. McClure, of Delaware County, and his 58 co-defendants, asking outright dismissal of their liquor conspiracy convictions and sentences.

The court declared the petition for dismissal must be ruled upon before consideration can be given to the formal appeal from the District Court's verdict of last November finding McClure and his associates guilty of having operated a giant rum ring in Delaware County.

GO NOW, INSULL TOLD BY GREECE

ATHENS, March 5.—(AP.)—The Foreign Minister telephoned the American Minister to inform Washington today that he had ordered the immediate expulsion of Samuel Insull.

The Minister of the Interior, the American embassy was informed, was directed to see that the former American utilities operator left Greece and his expulsion was expected at once.

Thus, the Greek intention in regard to Insull—wanted in Chicago to face charges growing out of the collapse of his enterprises—officially was declared.

An order for his expulsion was ordered Saturday, but just how or when it was to have taken effect remained in doubt until the Foreign Minister's announcement.

Insull was described today as unwilling to prolong his fight to remain in his Athenian retreat.

A friend said that Insull had commented:

"I am old and sick. I will go home and die."

sincere she is, can't handle it. I think she would resign, and I will ask the board to pass a resolution saying so."

JUDGE FINDS NO GRAFT

One of five investigations now under way was concluded today, but without finding an explanation. It had been conducted by Judge William J. Murray, who would have presided next Monday when Dillinger was scheduled to go on trial for the murder of an East Chicago policeman. Judge Murray said:

"There is no evidence of any graft.

"All the evidence indicates just pure carelessness. I'm convinced that no money passed hands. I'm not ready to place the blame for his escape."

Sheriff Holley, calling deputies and prisoners before her, launched her own investigation of the escape. She declared:

"I'm not going to resign. I don't want to be whitewashed. I welcome the most thorough investigation. There is no evidence of any collusion or conspiracy."

The state's investigation was under way in the offices of Prosecutor Robert J. Estill. The jail force, including Deputy Earnest Blunk, Turnkey Sam Cahoon and others, was called to make statements again.

FEDERAL INQUIRY

While the state and local authorities were interested in Dillinger as the escape artist, two United States investigators began work from another angle. They were interested in Dillinger the car thief. Because he stole the Sheriff's new sedan, in his flight, and crossed at least one state line, he can be prosecuted under the Dyer act, the federal law against taking stolen cars outside the bounds of a state.

Meanwhile, Dillinger remained free today—hunted in half a dozen states.

In Ohio, where Dillinger's men liberated the gang leader from the Lima jail last October, killing Sheriff Jess Sarber, the Indiana authorities were taken to task by Ohio's Attorney General, John W. Bricker. He charged that "either cowardice, corruption of public officials or ignorance permitted Dillinger to escape."

SHERIFF NEAR COLLAPSE

Attorney General Philip Lutz, of Indiana, expressed surprise "that the Lake County officials let Dillinger get away." But Sheriff Holley, reported on the verge of a nervous breakdown, defended the dozen or more guards whom Dillinger herded into a cell with the aid of a self-carved wooden pistol, made from a broomstick, a razor handle and two blades. She said:

"I'd have done the same thing if someone had put a gun at my back."

The hunt for the desperado spread today in all directions. The highways of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Missouri were watched for Dillinger and his Negro companion, Herbert Youngblood, who used Sheriff Holley's automobile (a Ford with Indiana license No. 679,929, with red and green headlights), to make their escape.

In Chicago, Supervising Capt. John Stege and a band of sharpshooting policemen, including Sergt. Frank Reynolds, killer of 13 criminals, searched underworld haunts.

MYSTERY WOMAN

Another possibility for a lead in the hunt was offered by a visit of a mysterious woman to the Crown Point jail about two weeks ago. She posed as Dillinger's wife. The Sheriff's office there had protested that Dillinger was not married, but the visit was permitted by a judge, and lasted for half a hour. The woman was being hunted in the hope her apprehension might throw some light on the affair.

Dillinger's three henchmen in the county jail at Lima, O.—Harry Pierpont, Charles Makley and Russel Clark, held for the Sarber murder—were hopefully awaiting Dillinger's appearance to deliver them to freedom, as Dillinger himself was freed last year by pals. The authorities, however, took extra precaution against such a possibility, piling sandbags against the inside of the Sheriff's door, and doubling the number of guards.

JERSEY WAITS DILLINGER

SALEM, N. J., March 5.—(AP.)—Sheriff Hubert P. Layton, saying he was acting on a "tip" that John Dillinger, who escaped from Crown Point (Ind.) Jail, is headed east, today placed extra guards around Salem County Prison, where two bank robbers from the Midwest are held.

Sheriff Layton said he has been informed that Dillinger may try to effect the release of the two men who were arrested February 3, the day after four robbers stole $130,000 from two bank messengers in Penns Grove in a daring daylight holdup.

Former Hotel Head Held in Theft Case

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(Universal)—Clarence P. Gray, 40, treasurer and paymaster of the Willard Hotel and a former employe of the Treasury Department, was under arrest today, charged with embezzling more than $3,000 from the hotel safe.

He claimed that $1,400 was stolen from him in a holdup, and, rather than admit the loss, he tried to recoup it by gambling—and lost.

M'ELDOWNEY'S $165,000 PAY REVEALED

Bankers' Big Salaries Disclosed by Senate

H. C. McEldowney, president of the Union Trust Company, of Pittsburgh, was the highest paid banker in the United States in the year ending last June.

The disclosure that 10 bankers were drawing annual salaries of $100,000 or more and 370 others were receiving more than $25,000 was contained in a report made public today by the Senate Banking Committee in Washington.

The names of McEldowney and other Pittsburgh bankers were in the bulging report submitted to the Senate by the Federal Reserve Board in response to a resolution adopted last spring.

CUT TO $120,000

McEldowney received $165,000 during the year. His compensation at the start of the year was $180,000, but later it was cut to $120,000, according to the report.

W. W. Aldrich, chairman of the governing board of the Chase National Bank, received $151,744 during the year. The rate of his compensation at the end of the year, however, exceeded McEldowney's, being $175,000.

These two salaries were considerably lower than that of Albert H. Wiggin, former Chase bank head, whose peak salary, as revealed by the banking committee, was $250,000 a year.

PAY OF MELLONS

The report showed Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania received $474 as a director and $50 as a member of the auditing committee of the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh.

R. K. Mellon was paid $18,000 as an officer of the Mellon National Bank, but the late R. B. Mellon, a director, received nothing. The latter also served as vice president of the Union Trust Company without salary, but got $1,700 as director. W. L. Mellon received $539 as a director, R. K. Mellon $1,610 and Paul Mellon $87.

Other salaries:

Pittsburgh — Farmers Deposit National Bank, Arthur E. Braun, president, $40,000; Union National Bank of Pittsburgh, Lloyd W. Smith, president, $26,400; Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company, A. C. Robinson, board chairman, $33,500, and L. H. Gethoefer, president, $35,000; Union Trust Company, John A. Irwin, vice president, $27,000.

OTHER SALARIES BARED

All of the remaining bankers of $100,000 a year or more were New Yorkers.

In contrast was the salary of former Vice President Charles G. Dawes, who as president of the City National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, garnered only $13,300 and a $560 bonus.

Melvin A. Traylor, who died a few weeks ago, received $68,500 as president of the First National Bank of Chicago.

COURT UPHOLDS PRICE-FIXING

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP.)—By a five to four decision, the Supreme Court today upheld the right of a state to fix the minimum price of milk and thereby thrust another substantial prop beneath recovery legislation.

While the action was on a New York state law, the opinion was hailed by administration supporters as a strong indication of the court reception which would be accorded similar federal laws.

That was the same lineup which prevailed on the recent decision in the Minnesota moratorium case when the court upheld the right of a state to suspend contracts during an emergency.

One Dillinger And Three Pigs Job for NRA

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

With the Democrats in office just a year we would like to know if the NRA can:

If it can prevent dressmakers from flattering fat ladies?

Change the pens in the post-offices so we will have an entirely new administration?

And make the climate do exactly what the Weather Bureau says it's going to?

Husband Slain

MRS. BELLE DAICHES

Mrs. Daiches, unable to help police, suspecting an extortion plot, to solve the strange street murder of her husband, Eli, well-known Chicago advertising man. This is an International News Photograph Service picture.

SLAYING LAID TO BLACKMAIL

CHICAGO, March 5.—(AP.)—Extortionists were suspected today in the machine gun slaying of Eli Daiches, wealthy advertising executive murdered Saturday as he motored along South Lake Shore drive.

A theory that extortionists killed him after a vain effort to squeeze $40,000 from him gained apparent support from information given to police by Miss Lucille Osborn, private nurse at the Daiches home.

She said that two days before his death, she overhead her employer plead over the telephone for a "few more days" to raise $40,000.

Police said an investigation of the victim's private life, as related by business associates and friends, disclosed:

That Daiches was the victim a year ago of a mysterious attack which he refused to discuss with any one.

That he was a lavish spender.

That he carried $200,000 in life insurance.

That he spent about $100 a week on Mrs. Lillian O'Shea, aviatrix and former actress.

ALCOMA, VETS' CLUBS SOLD

Two semi-public institutions, Alcoma Country Club and American Legion Post No. 161, Perry Highway, were sold at Sheriff's sale to day to satisfy mortgages and taxes.

Alcoma Country Club was "bid in" at $2,301 by the Peoples' Trust Company, with a mortgage and tax debt of $84,721.88.

Representatives of the bank said the club probably would continue to be used for golf until definite plains had been decided upon.

The club is in Penn Township, covers 122 acres and has nine building improvements.

The Dollar Saving and Trust Company purchased the Perry Highway American Legion Post building for $194.07 to protect its mortgage debt of $9,158.84.

FOOD CODE BODY HERE APPROVED

The Allegheny County Food and Grocery Distributors Code Authority has been approved by the National Food and Grocery Distributors Code Authority and the federal administration.

SENATE ORDERS PECORA TO SIFT 'LEAK'

Whitney Bares List Of Aviation Share Short Sellers

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP.)—Evidence that J. P. Morgan, head of the big banking house bearing his name, sold a block of 4,500 shares of United Aircraft stock within two weeks before government cancellation of the air mail contracts, was presented today to the Senate Banking Committee.

Morgan's name was on a list—submitted to the committee by the New York Stock Exchange—of those who sold more than 1,000 shares of the air transport stocks from a long position within the two weeks before cancellation.

The exchange also submitted a long list of short sellers during the period, but they contained few well-known names.

PROBE ORDERED

The committee ordered a thorough inquiry, however, to determine whether there had been a "leak" on the government's decision to cancel the air mail contracts.

Morgan was listed as selling the 4,500-share blocks of United Aircraft through Richard Whitney & Co.

This firm is headed by Richard Whitney, president of the exchange, who submitted the names to the committee in response to a subpena.

Whitney gave the committee statistics showing the total short interest in seven of the big aviation companies increased from a little over 4,000 shares at the end of December to 44,000 at the end of January.

VANDERLIP ON LIST

The short selling list included the name of F. A. Vanderlip, who was disclosed to have sold 100 shares of United Aircraft during the period.

Just before the names were submitted by Whitney, the committee adopted a resolution ordering an inquiry to determine whether they included names of public officials or officers of the air companies.

The resolution proposed by Senator Carey (Rep.), of Wyoming, was adopted without objection. It directed Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, to make the inquiry.

MOVE TO END WATER PACT

First definite steps by the city pointing to possible cancellation of its contract with the South Pittsburgh Water Company was taken today when Councilman William A. Magee offered a resolution to that effect.

The resolution, which was referred to Finance Committee, provides for canceling the contract, effective June 30, 1934.

Under its terms, the city agrees to purchase water from the company for consumers living in the water company's territory in the South Hills district, paying the difference between the city water rate and the higher rate of the company.

Last year it is estimated this cost the city approximately $300,000.

CITIES' DEBT AID BILL APPROVED

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP.)—The Senate Judiciary Committee, by a surprise vote of 8 to 5, today approved the municipal bankruptcy relief bill as passed by the House last session.

The vote overturned a subcommittee ballot of 4 to 1 against the bill.

The measure would permit cities and other state taxing districts in default on their bonds to petition the federal courts for a scaling down or an extension of their debts, provided creditors holding 30 per cent of the debt consented.

If the court approved, creditors holding two-thirds of the amount of the debt would have to approve the proposition before it could take effect.

Swanson at Desk, Denies He'll Quit

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP.)—Secretary Swanson returned to his desk at the Navy Department after a prolonged rest at the Naval Hospital and told newspapermen that "under no circumstances" would he resign from the cabinet.

oughlin Calls New Deal 'More or Less Success'

DETROIT, March 5.—(AP.)—Asserting that the "new deal" had been "more or less successful" one year after its inauguration, the Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin in a speech yesterday said that it has "not yet taken the high dive into the sea where salvation can be had for the United States."

Father Coughlin's speech, which was broadcast over an independent radio hook-up, was entitled "The New Deal Yesterday and Tomorrow."

The priest reviewed conditions as President Roosevelt found them on assuming office, contrasted the economic problems of European countries with those of the United States and asserted that the "new deals" of Mussolini in Italy, of Stalin in Russia and of Hitler in Germany had many factors absent from the problems facing the United States.

Father Coughlin reviewed the various major acts put through Congress at the request of President Roosevelt during his first year in office and said that the government has not succeeded "exceptionally well" in the administration of the Industrial Recovery Act. He said the home owners' loan act "has not functioned at all," charging politics had entered into it.

Father Coughlin referred to the Roosevelt inaugural address a year ago as the "most important message delivered in the United States since the Declaration of Independence," and said that the major problem facing the new deal in the second year will be the struggle for distribution of production and "credit for all."

Sistie Dall Has Measles, Isolated in White House

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP.)—Sistie Dall celebrated the first anniversary of her grandfather's arrival in the White House by having the measles.

Last year at this time, Sistie, who then had long yellow hair, was right in the limelight in the inauguration ceremonies. She sat in the Senate gallery, heard the inaugural address, and was carried from the stand on a man's shoulder.

Dr. R. T. McIntire, White House physician, said 7-year-old Sistie has been "strictly quarantined" for almost a week in her third floor room. He added that her measles case had been very mild, with no complications.

Extra precautions were taken so her 3-year-old brother, Buzzie, would not catch them. Buzzie, however, was able to go to nursery school as usual, and so far shows no signs of "coming down."

NETTIE IN DEATH SHUNS NOTORIETY BEHIND BOLTED DOOR

FRIENDS MOURN AND PRAY AT BIER

Few Flowers Surround Underworld Queen In Bronze Casket

The word got around town today that Nettie Gordon was laid out in a bronze and walnut casket over in her East North avenue apartment.

There was a time when that would have been the signal for a fanfare of mourning.

But the town that knew her when she was queen of what they used to call "Little Canada," and vice chairman of the Republican committee of the "ward," took the news in its stride.

What with Pittsburgh going Democratic, and the rackets starving to death from the depression and a "revolutionary" government, and the most of the racket guys gone the way of the easy spenders—one more sign of the passing of the old didn't create much stir.

BLACK VELVET SHROUD

Nettie rested at home in a new black velvet dress. There weren't many flowers.

She had died late Saturday night in St. John's hospital after her second gall stone operation within a short time.

Only a few close friends stopped by to see her today. Some of them said a few prayers—and some of them mourned for the "good old days."

It wouldn't have been any good for others to call. The blinds were down tight, and the door was closed to all but a few. The curious were banned.

BURIAL PRIVATE

Services for the late "queen of the underworld" are to be held Wednesday at 2:30 p. m., it was learned. Interment will be private.

For 25 years or more, Nettie lived on notoriety, kind policemen and indulgent politicians—and the headlines the combination afforded.

TWO GREENLEE BROTHERS, 15 OTHERS HELD,

Face Court in Lottery, Gambling Violations; Machines Seized

Magistrate Howard B. McNutt, with Police Superintendent Ben Marshall chiming in, held the Greenlee brothers, "Gus" and George, and 15 other Negroes for court today. "Gus" is charged with maintaining gambling devices; George with the operation of a lottery.

Detectives, headed by Capt. Frank R. Boyd, testified that they broke down the door of a basement room at 1401 Wylie avenue, beneath the Crawford Grill, and found five or six slot machines. Although Greenlee's attorney, William N. Randolph former assistant city solicitor, quoted the slot machine law, which says that the device must be in full view and operating, Superintendent Marshall said:

"We'll take a chance on this case in court."

And Attorney Randolph answered:

"Superintendent, you're full of chances. I know!"

McNutt set "Gus'" bail at $1,000.

In the other case, George Greenlee admitted that he ran a numbers business after detectives had testified that they arrested him and 15 other Negroes at 1323 Wylie avenue, third floor of the Belmont Hotel, where they seized money, adding machines, numbers books and other numbers paraphernalia. Homer S. Brown, Negro attorney, represented George.

On cross-examination he brought out that this was the first time George had ever been arrested and that he was trying to give employment to a lot of men.

Over Brown's protests, McNutt set bail for George and the other defendants at $2,500 each.

Asking that they be held, Superintendent Marshall commented:

"We are just as anxious to break up this numbers business as these men are to keep out of jail."

"Gus" Greenlee is well known as the Negro operator of Greenlee Field and as the manager of a fast Negro baseball team.

RASPUTIN MOVIE SUIT WON BY PRINCESS

Award of $126,000 Ordered in Verdict Of London Jury

International News Service.

LONDON, March 5.—Princess Irini Youssoupoff today was awarded a verdict of 25,000 pounds (about $126,000) in her suit against the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Film Company over the movie, "Rasputin, the Mad Monk."

The jury deliberated less than two hours.

The Princess had asked damages of approximately $2,000,000, alleging that the character "Princess Natasha" in the film was intended to represent her. The defense was that "Natasha" was an entirely fictional character.

Emphatic denial that the film injured the reputation of the princess was made by Sir William Jowitt in his address to the jury.

She had claimed that scenes in the picture gave the impression she was intimate with Rasputin, sinister figure in Czarist court life in the old Russia.

A packed-courtroom heard Sir William's arguments today, just as it did last week when Prince Felix Youssoupoff was telling the starkly realistic story of how he and others killed Rasputin in a dingy St. Petersburg cellar.

Sir William maintained the Princess could not be libelled through the photographic part of the film. He declared:

"The libel, if any, came through sound and therefore is slander. Being slander it is not actionable without proof of special damage unless it attacked the chastity of a woman.

Jowitt intimated he intends to appeal the verdict.

2 NAVAL FLIERS FEARED KILLED

NORFOLK, Va., March 5.—(AP.)—Two Naval fliers are believed to have lost their lives when their plane dived into Hampton Roads just off the Chesapeake and Ohio coal piers at Newport News early today.

The plane was piloted by Lieut. W. P. Davis. He had as passenger Aviation Mechanic Mate Matt David Marchsall.

A diver from the Norfolk Naval Base attempted to raise the wreckage of the plane while overhead every available plane from the Naval Air Base searched the waters of Hampton Roads in the hope that the occupants of the plane might still be afloat.

The crash occurred soon after 9 a. m.

WRECK PROBERS AT DEATH SCENE

The damaged locomotive and the tracks where it piled up when an Akron-New York train of the Pennsylvania Railroad was wrecked at Merchant street, North Side, last week, were examined today by state and federal investigators.

After looking over the scene of the wreck, the Interstate Commerce Commission and Public Service Commission representatives went to the Allegheny railroad shops, to which the locomotive was removed.

Thousands of persons yesterday visited the scene and traffic became so congested that a score of police was necessary to keep the streets in the section open.

B. & O. Freight Cars Derailed at Wildwood

East and west-bound tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad near Wildwood were blocked last night when five cars of a Pittsburgh-bound freight were derailed. No one was injured.

A large section of track was torn up. The cause of the derailment was not established. Trains were rerouted over Pittsburgh and Lake Erie tracks.

FACES KIDNAP GO-BETWEEN

ALBANY, N. Y., March 5.—(AP.)—Daniel P. O'Connell, powerful political figure, came out of his normal seclusion today to relate the deals by which he paid $40,000 to the kidnapers of his young nephew, Lieut. John J. O'Connell, Jr.

Under his sharp blue eye sat Manny Strewl, the former beer runner, who is on trial as one of the kidnapers in the case in which he served as intermediary.

O'Connell told how he received a letter from Strewl, met him in a park and learned that Strewl was to be the go-between in the case. He testified:

"I told Strewl the mob had demanded $250,000 and that we couldn't raise it. I had no money and the boy's father had no money. We had to depend on Ed (his brother) and he had raised only $20,000."

He related how Strewl told him two days later an unidentified man came to him and said:

"Go to the Mohawk Hotel in Schenectady."

LAWYER'S SON VANISHES

Search was being made today for Archibald Weaver Powell, Jr., 13-year-old son of Attorney and Mrs. Archibald W. Powell, of 30 Hoodridge drive, Mt. Lebanon, who disappeared last night.

The boy's disappearance was reported to the Missing Persons Bureau this morning following a check of all relatives and friends with whom he might have stayed overnight.

According to his father, the youth, a junior at Mt. Lebanon High School, left home to make collections on his paper route. He had $7.37 in his pocket, and before leaving had remarked about saving his money for a trip to California.

He seemed to be in good spirits, and yesterday morning had sung in the choir of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Attorney Powell said.

COSTES, FRENCH FLIER, SAFE

International News Service.

MUNSTER, Germany, March 5.—Dieudonne Costes, the "French Lindbergh," for whose safety all Europe had been concerned since he left Lebourget Airport Saturday, is safe and sound here today.

Costes landed at the Loddenheide airfield, forced down by fog in his flight from Paris to Copenhagen.

He expects to continue his flight to Copenhagen today.

Costes said he had intended landing at Hamburg but when he encountered a heavy fog over the Rhine in Westphalia he turned back to the airfield here.

Costes expressed his thanks for the "help given in the truest sporting spirit" by the German airmen who assisted his landing at Loddenheide field.

LEAP ON DRIVE INJURES GIRL

En route home with a girl and two male companions, Jean Kotlinski, 18, of 309 Harmar street, jumped from a truck near the Twenty-eighth street Bridge, Lawrenceville, early today and suffered a hip injury, according to police.

At West Penn Hospital, where she was taken by the driver, she was quoted by police as saying she had wanted to commit suicide and had attempted it several times previously.

Miss Kotlinski, police said, was visiting a house boat at River avenue with Violet Mackowski, 34, of 326 Harmar street. Later, she said, John Coldille, 19, of 1506 Columbus avenue, North Side, and C. W. Pritchard, 24, of Detroit, visitors at the boat, started to drive them home. All were arrested on disorderly conduct charges, police said.

2 SLAYERS DIE AT ROCKVIEW

International News Service.

ROCKVIEW PENITENTIARY, BELLEFONTE, Pa., March 5.—In hushed silence, broken only by prayers recited by a priest, two slayers of a Scranton policemen walked to their deaths in the state's electric chair here today.

Displaying no signs of emotion, Wallace Skawinski, of Scranton, walked to the chair at 7:01 a. m. He was pronounced dead at 7:05. James J. Riggs, of Colchester, Conn., his convicted partner in the slaying of Patrolman Lewis Roberts, broke down under the strain.

With wavering steps, Riggs was assisted to the "death seat" at 7:07 and pronounced dead at 7:12.

AUTO RACE TOLL MOUNTS TO 3

International News Service.

IMPERIAL, Cal., March 5.—Death toll of a four-car smashup during a spectacular race at the Imperial County Fair increased to three with the death early today of Ernie Triplett, Los Angeles dare-devil who was a nationally-known racing car pilot.

George (Swede) Smith, 35, of Portland, Ore., pilot, and his mechanic, "Hap" Happerly, of Hollywood, Cal., died yesterday shortly after the fatal race.

Father Shot Dead, Boy Finds Body

KITTANNING, Pa., March 5.—(AP.)—Herman Schueltz, 43, of Brady's Bend, was found dead of a pistol wound at his home yesterday. The body was found by his nine-year-old son.

Coroner A. W. Dosch, beginning an investigation, said indications were Schueltz shot himself.

'BARBER SHOP' BALKS DIVORCE

Refusing to hear a divorce case today because the respondent's address was given as that of a downtown barber shop, Judge Elder W. Marshall said he would not proceed until a deputy from the Sheriff's office explained why the subpena was served at that place.

Deputy Sheriff B. V. Coffey, appearing before Marshall, explained the barber shop summons custom. According to Coffey, when deputies call on a divorce case respondent is not at home, they leave a card asking him to call at the sheriff's office.

Since a subpena cannot be served there, it has been the custom to serve it in the nearby barber shop, Coffey said the procedure formerly took place on the sidewalk at Ross and Grant streets, but was stopped by Judge Ambrose B. Reid.

Sheriff Frank I. Gollmar said he today ordered a discontinuation of the practice. The barber shop address, 517 Fifth avenue, has been noted in a number of divorce suits in recent years.

Fisherman Lost on Ice In Fog Saved

SANDUSKY, O., March 5.—(AP.)—East Bay fishermen returned from hours of oblivion late last night.

From 6 p. m. on, they wandered around in a void which was as fanciful as horror stories in pulp magazines. They knew where they were, and they didn't know where they were. They were prisoners of fog.

The moist, clammy blanket dropped over East Bay in the early evening while a crowd of fishermen estimated in the hundreds tarried on the ice of Lake Erie for that extra moment to lure catches from the water through holes chopped in the ice.

At one moment the shoreline's soft outlines perhaps a mile to the south extended a comforting directional compass to the men on the ice. At the next moment it was gone, blotted out by the fog.

George Gilbert, of Sandusky, who picked his way shoreward with infinite pains, passing a score of fellow fishermen in the process, first turned in the alarm to the police.

In a twinkling the city's fire whistle—it has a voice like a miffed bull moose—was shouting to the men on the ice, bellowing direction. The fire department clanged down to the water's edge to fire headlights out over the water as an additional aid to the fog-bound.

Presently they began straggling in, singly and in twos and threes. No attempt was made to count them because many were presumed to have trudged gingerly shoreward and reached haven along a 12-mile stretch of strand.

U. S. Files Tax Lien Against Jean Harlow

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—(AP.)—Government tax liens were on file today against three motion pictures actresses—Jean Harlow, Carmel Myers and Greta Nissen.

The government said Miss Harlow owed $2,654 on her 1932 earnings; Miss Myers $36.37 for 1932, and Miss Nissen $155 for 1931.

Boy Falls Into Icy Creek and Drowns

FREDONIA, N. Y., March 5.—(AP.)—Robert Sandesen, 13, and Bobby Topliff, a companion, were swinging hand-over-hand on a trestle across the Canadaway Creek near their homes.

Robert's grip slipped and he fell into the icy waters of the creek. Police are searching for his body amid the ice floes.

Dr. Dean Plans Fight On Murder Verdict

GREENWOOD, Miss., March 5.—(AP.)—Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean, baby specialist, whom a jury branded a poison highball murderess, rested at Sharon, Miss., today and tried to regain her strength for a "last ditch" fight against a life term.

Unless she can upset the guilty verdict returned by a jury Saturday, she must spend the rest of her life at hard labor, expiating the death of Dr. John Preston Kennedy, surgeon associate and admirer. The state charged she gave him whisky and poison in "a jealous rage."

Pale and ill, Dr. Dean was freed under $10,000 bond. Judge S. F. Davis set June 2 as the date for an appeal for a new trial. Recovering from the shock of the conviction, Dr. Dean drove 100 miles, with relatives and a nurse, to the home of her aunt, Mrs. T. W. Cooley, at Sharon.

The verdict and the life sentence by the jury took the defendant and her counsel by surprise. They had expressed confidence she would be acquitted.

Dispatches from Lewes., Del., said Capt. Franklin C. Maull, river pilot whom Dr. Dean testified she had planned to marry, also expressed surprise.

Capt. Maull was quothed as saying:

"I think she had an unfair trial. I feel assured that in the event of an appeal she will have a better chance."

Woman Self-Torture Raised to Sainthood

VATICAN CITY, March 5.—(AP.)—A Spanish noblewoman, who once graced Paris court functions with self-torturing devices concealed beneath her clothing, has been elevated to sainthood. Pope Pius conducted the ceremonies yesterday which brought thousands of worshippers to St. Peter's Basilica.

In court life the new saint was known as the Viscountess of Jorbalan. She was known throughout most of her adult life as Mother Maria Micaela, founder of the Institute of Handmaidens of the Most Holy Sacrament.

Her self-punishment was imposed during several years of Parisian court life in the middle of the nineteenth century. Feeling in duty bound to obey her diplomat brother's wishes she attended balls, parties and receptions.

But she humiliated her flesh while attending these functions to express her religious devotion, and arose at 5 o'clock each morning to pray. She spent most of her time in charity work.

Don Jaime, son of the former King Alfonso of Spain, together with two Spanish cardinals, eight Spanish bishops and 3,000 Spanish pilgrims attended yesterday's ceremonies, adding their tribute to the cheers of thousands that crowded St. Peter's and the surrounding streets.

PINCHOT BACK ON JOB, PLANS FLORIDA TRIP

International News Service.

HARRISBURG, March 5.—Outlawing any discussion of politics, Gov. Gifford Pinchot returned to his desk at the Capitol today after an illness of almost three months with shingles, to act on several pressing problems of state before going to Florida for a brief vacation.

The Governor announced he probably will appoint the third member of the State Liquor Control Board within the next few days unless "unforseen difficulties" arise.

He gave no definite indication, however, of when he will name a judge to the vacancy on the Allegheny County bench.

The Governor, who is approaching 69, appeared fit and healthy, although his features were somewhat pale. He said he expected to leave within a few days with his wife, Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, for Florida, where he plans to bask in the sun in a final effort to rid himself of the shingles with which he is still afflicted. His immediate plans are to go fishing at a camp in Long Key, Fla., where he will meet his 18-year-old son, Gifford Bryce Pinchot, who has taken a leave of absence from Yale University, where he is a freshman.

The Governor declined to discuss his campaign plans for the Republican Senatorial nomination against David A. Reed and likewise remained silent on questions concerning the possibility of another special session of the Legislature.

EVANS TO HEAD REED CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP.)—Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, has announced he had decided to name Raymond D. Evans, of Pittsburgh, to manage his re-election campaign in Allegheny County.

Reed said:

"As soon as I announce my candidacy for the Senate, I will name Raymond D. Evans, of Pittsburgh, to be chairman of my Allegheny County Committee and in charge of the primary campaign in the county."

Reed is expected to formally announce his candidacy for the Republican Senatorial nomination within a week. Evans was a guest at the Senator's home yesterday.

Spanish Jail 44 In Monarchist Raid

BARCELONA, Spain, March 5.—(AP.)—Jose Maria Albinana, nationalist deputy, and 43 other persons were arrested last night when police raided a meeting of monarchists.

A few soldiers and several anarchists were reported among those taken into custody.

Los Angeles Judge Speaks at Bellevue

True progress was defined as "spiritual discernment" by Judge Frederick C. Hill, of Los Angeles, is a lecture on "Christian Science: God's Law of Progress" yesterday in Bellevue theater. The lecture was under auspices of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Bellevue.

SMITH SILENT ON MARSHALL

After a week-end of cogitation, Public Safety Director Ralph E. Smith had nothing definite to say today as to whether he would resign.

Police Supt. Ben R. Marshall, having been reinstated by Mayor McNair after being fired by Smith, was still in office.

Smith said he was with the Mayor Saturday night and indicated their conversation had been satisfactory. Asked about a possible resignation, he said:

"When the proper time comes, I'll speak."

MAYOR INVITES FEDERAL SLUM ENGINEERS

Mayor McNair has invited Federal Housing Director Robert D. Kohn to send housing and slum clearance engineers to Pittsburgh in an effort to formulate a suitable building project here.

The action follows a conference held by the Mayor's Secretary Theodore L. Moritz with housing officials in Washington. The engineers would study the peculiar topographical and social conditions here in order to revise present plans or make new ones which could be favorably considered for PWA funds.

Prominent civic, business, and social work organizations are supporting the Mayor in his invitation.

Among them are the Welfare Fund, the Public Health Nursing Association, the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, the Kingsley Association, the Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women, Soho Community House, Builders' Exchange of Pittsburgh, Civic Club of Allegheny County, Irene Kaufmann Settlement, Pittsburgh Housing Association, Retail Merchants' Association, Allied Architects of Pittsburgh, Family Society of Allegheny, Co-ordinating Committee on Housing Projects, and Pittsburgh Architectural Club.

FORCE CHARGED IN FIRM SHIFT

The resignation of Dr. R. J. G. McKnight to make a place for Leslie M. Johnston, Pittsburgh Public Works Director, on the directorate of the Keystone Driller Company, was "specifically demanded" by bank creditors of the company, J. Vale Downie, a director, said today.

Downie said a big majority of the Keystone stockholders are opposed to Johnston as president and general manager of the company, but that he was re-elected under pressure from two Pittsburgh banks that hold demand notes for $353,000 against the company.

500 Cases Listed, Grand Jury Picked

With more than 500 cases listed, the March grand jury was sworn in today by Judge W. Heber Dithrich. Charles Magnani, of 1208 Kelton avenue, Dormont, was made foreman of the jury of nine women and 14 men.

M'NAIR NAMES CAMPAIGN AIDE

Mayor McNair's campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination moved another step forward today with the appointment of Francis W. Maguire, a single taxer, as his campaign manager.

The Mayor said Maguire would take charge of the circulation of petitions in Allegheny County. He added that unauthorized persons were circulating his petitions around City Hall.

Pennsy Employes Set Safety Mark

The maintenance-of-way men on the Pittsburgh and Conemaugh divisions won first places in their respective groups in the Pennsylvania Railroad safety contest for 1933, the railroad announced today.

The announcement said the safety record for last year was the best ever attained. With an average of 110,000 employes constantly at work, the percentage of casualties per million man-hours worked was 4.2.

That Chesterfields are Milder ..that Chesterfields Taste Better is no accident

—not by a jugful

IT TAKES just about three years, and lots of money, to make a cigarette that's milder, that tastes better.

To give you the Chesterfield flavor and mildness, we don't just mix together different kinds of good tobaccos—you can't do it that way.

This is what we try to do: We blend and cross-blend aromatic Turkish tobacco with ripe, mellow home-grown tobaccos.

You know what Burbank did for fruits—how he crossed one fruit with another to make a new and more pleasing flavor—we don't do this, but we do blend and cross-blend mild ripe tobaccos to make a milder better-tasting cigarette.

We ask you to try Chesterfields—to prove to yourself that they are milder—that they taste better

TAX EXEMPTION ON INCOMES EXPLAINED

(This is the seventh of a series of articles explaining the proper procedure in making out income tax returns.)

Two of the terms used in the income tax law, "gross income" and "net income," must be explained since they are vitally important in computing taxes.

Gross income includes all income from any source whatsoever, unless it is exempt from tax by law. Net income, on which the tax is assessed, is gross income less the deductions allowed by law. Such deductions include business and professional expenses such as salaries, pensions and bonuses to employes, taxes, losses, interest paid, bad debts, depreciation, depletion, contributions and similar expenses.

Failure to understand deductions against gross income and credits against net income has resulted in numerous errors on the part of taxpayers.

Having arrived at the net income, the next step is to deduct the personal exemption—$1,000 for single persons, $2,500 for married persons living together and heads of families, and the $400 credit for each dependent. The normal tax is computed on the remainder at 4 per cent on the first $4,000 and 8 per cent on the balance.

The gross income of the usual business consists of the gross profits on sales plus any income from investments and incidental or outside operations or sources. The return must show the gross sales, purchases and cost of goods sold. To reflect income correctly, inventories are necessary at the beginning and end of each taxyear.

A lawyer, doctor, architect, physician, dentist, clergyman, author or other professional man must include in gross income all fees, salaries and compensation of any kind from professional services.

Thieves Warned Not to Drink Liquid Loot

NEW YORK, March 5.—(INS.)—The police radio system today was broadcasting at intervals one of the strangest alarms in the city's history. The warning said:

"Will the thieves who stole the bottles from a parked automobile near Forty-ninth street and Tenth avenue refrain from drinking out of them in peril of their lives. These bottles contain a fluid that looks and tastes like wine. The fluid is harmless when taken in minute and medicinal quantities, but is deadly when drunk as a beverage."

The bottles were taken from the automobile of a salesman for a pharmaceutical company.

TWO NUNS HERE NAMED IN WILL

Bequests of $1,000 to each of two Dominican sisters in Pittsburgh and East Pittsburgh are provided in the will of the late Rev. Timothy M. Crowley, of New London, Conn., according to an Associated Press dispatch.

They are Sister Mary Vincent, O. P., of St. Lawrence's Convent, 5321 Penn avenue, Pittsburgh, and Sister Mary Clementia, O. P., of St. William's Convent, East Pittsburgh, both nieces.

WOMAN'S CLUB IN SHERADEN FOR SALES TAX

Declaring that a manufacturers' sales tax will produce a large national revenue with a minimum of disturbance to the economic structure of the nation and without interference with individual welfare and convenience, the Junior Section of the Woman's Club of Sheraden today had adopted a resolution asking Congress to enact sales tax legislation.

Mrs. Eldon M. Cady, president of the organization, said the club had adopted the following resolution which is to be sent to Allegheny County's representatives in Congress:

"Whereas, it is the policy and purpose of this organization to give its unqualified support to the President, the Congress and the State Legislature in furthering all constructive measures designed to establish a basis for permanent recovery and economic stability beneficial to all of the people, and—

"Whereas, the tax reform and economy in government, national, state and local, are fundamental to any efficient and adequate plan for the accomplishment of these purposes.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved: That we, the Junior section of the Woman's Club of Sheraden, advocate the enactment by the Congress of a national manufacturers' sales tax as a substitute for the present federal income tax for the reasons that:

"1—An income tax discourages industrial and commercial enterprise, lessens employment of labor and thereby reduces payrolls and purchasing power.

"2—That as against an income tax a manufacturers' sales tax will produce a large national revenue with a minimum of disturbance."

TAX VOTE DUE IN W. VA.

Violent opposition in the House failed to remove the sales tax from Gov. Kump's $10,000,000 emergency revenue program, scheduled for a vote on passage today.

It is generally agreed the Senate will favor a sales tax, but a fight is expected there, upon the rates. The Governor calls for a two per cent tax and exemptions for essential goods. A Senate subcommittee on finance proposes a three per cent tax with no exemptions.

The Senate is expected to revamp the House measure and call for a conference to reach a compromise.

A luxury tax in the Governor's program is to meet opposition in the Senate. It calls for an average tax of 20 per cent on tobaccos, candies, soft drinks and amusements.

Two Hurt as Fire Damages Dwelling

Ellis Wills, 35, Negro, of 200 Paulson avenue, was cut by glass, Wilbert Johnson, 20, Negro, of 7308 Kelly street, suffered arm lacerations. 30 chickens were burned to death and four persons were forced to flee a fire in a two-story frame dwelling at 6427-6429 Frankstown avenue yesterday.

Johnson was cut as he turned in an alarm for the blaze, which caused $1,000 damage.

Empty Your Gall Bladder

And You'll Feel Like a Billion Dollars!

Sleepless nights, dog-tired days, headaches, pains in all parts of the body—indigestion—gas. Do you suffer from one or all?

And have you tried every medicine under the sun, only to find yourself back where you started?

No wonder, for you, like thousands of others have probably been treating yourself for everything but the right thing. Get at the unsuspected cause—your gall bladder. If sluggish, it won't pour into your small intestines the most important digestive juice necessary for neutralising gastric acid, quickening digestion and disinfecting the intestinal tract. If this juice doesn't flow freely, then your food sours, putrifies, stomach becomes filled with gas and acidity.

From the world's greatest chemists comes a simple, pleasant means to make this digestive juice flow freely and put you on the sunny side of life. Magnesia Oxoids, little white tablets that release pure oxygen. This amazing oxygen—purer than the air you breathe—plus magnesia, gently stimulates the gall bladder, neutralizes burning acidity and sweeps that poison-packed bowel clean.

Take two Oxoids after each meal—and before retiring—drink plenty of water—put your gall bladder to work—and you'll jump out of your skin for joy. Such new health! Such robust vigor! Get Magnesia Oxoids today from your druggist.

DANDRUFF soon Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it. Then, you destroy it entirely. To do this, get some plain ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring, using enough to moisten the scalp and rubbing it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It won't cost you more than thirty-five cents (35c). No matter how much dandruff you have, this simple remedy never fails.

COMMISSIONER HITS HIGH COST OF GOVERNMENT

Two important steps which must be taken before any substantial relief can be obtained for the overburdened taxpayer are outlined by County Commissioner W. A. Barnes, of Washington County, in today's article. This is the 46th of a series being published by the Sun-Telegraph in the campaign to reduce taxes through elimination of waste and overlapping in governmental services.

Economy in present governmental operation under existing laws and new legislation to better adjust the tax burden are suggested today by County Commissioner W. A. Barnes, of Washington County, in a statement supporting the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's stand on tax reduction through governmental economies.

Mr. Barnes says:

"Relief from the present burden of taxation on real estate cannot be much longer delayed in Pennsylvania. The trouble is we are working under laws dating back to 1835, and just about 100 years behind other states which have adopted up-to-date tax laws in keeping with the present day conditions. Chiefly the reforms needed can be classified under two headings:

"First—The scaling down of overhead costs of government, by eliminating duplication. This can be done only when less thought is given to politics and more real concern to those who pay the bills.

"Second—The enactment of proper legislation whereby real estate in all its forms shall pay only its proper share of tax in proportion to net income from any other source or investment whatsoever.

"The matter of duplication in local government and the need of a change in our present form of assessing property is very evident in cities of the Third Class. We have an assessor for city purposes and separate assessors for the county, each doing the same work. Then we have an assessor elected for each township and borough in the county, with different ideas as to values.

"The same also applies to the system of tax collection, with one collector for each district. While this is not so expensive, except in first class townships, a considerable savings could be brought about if taxes were paid direct to the county treasurer's office like is done in other states."

"I want it understood that I am not opposed to local government, but we should have a county board of assessors in each county, centralized under one department, and one collector of taxes in each county."

Mr. Barnes pointed out that while the County Commissioners are the parties responsible for levying taxes and collecting the money, they are limited in many ways as to what shall be done with the money. He declared the commissioners are forced to pay many bills contracted by the courts, the District Attorney and other elective officers.

The Washington County commissioner suggested that the offices of poor directors, register of wills, clerk of courts, prothonotary, recorder of deeds and the coroner be appointive instead of elective.

Mr. Barnes also believes that the state should pay the entire cost of operating the public schools and that the only tax on real estate should be that for the upkeep of the local or county government.

In talking consolidation of governmental units, Mr. Barnes warns that there is danger of too much centralizing. He said:

"While we are striving for consolidation of government in order to cutout districts or overlapping bureaus in order to have more efficiency with less expense, we should not sacrifice and do away with the local elected official altogether. What we do need is a reorganization of our whole political setup, leaving certain amount of home government, but under a system which does away with duplication and unnecessary expenses, with proper county supervision and not too much centralization at Harrisburg."

In closing, he said:

"We could perhaps improve things materially in Pennsylvania by examining the new county home rule recently established in Ohio."

GIVE THAT COLD JUST ONE DAY!

Rout It Overnight!

A cold that hangs on is a cold to fear! Serious complications are possible. Daily with no cold, but treat it promptly and for what it is—an internal infection. Employ internal treatment and one that is strictly for colds and not for a lot of other things as well.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is internal and direct. It is complete in effect. It does the four things necessary.

It opens the bowels, gently but thoroughly. It combats the cold germs in the system and reduces the fever. It relieves the headache and grippy feeling. It tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack. Anything less than that is courting danger.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is absolutely safe to take. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet of the world, the formula keeping pace with Modern Medicine. Every druggist sells Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine, 30c and 50c. Druggists who put your interest above a few pennies extra profit won't try to sell you a substitute.

Don't wait until a cold has taken over your system, but at the first sneeze or chill go right to your druggist for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Always ask for it by the full name and look for the letters L B Q stamped on every tablet.

ROOSEVELT FOR NEW CUT IN WORK HOURS

that "those two words 'free choice' mean just what they say."

Saying he knew industry with few exceptions would give wholehearted compliance, the President warned that in these exceptions "the government itself must and will under the law move firmly and promptly to prevent failure."

He continued that industry must keep to "the lowest schedule of prices on which higher wages and increasing employment can be maintained."

For the future, he said,

"The methods and details of reorganization may and will change from year to year but the reorganization must be permanent for all the rest of our lives in that never again will we permit the social conditions which allowed the vast sections of our population to exist in an un-American way; which allowed a maldistribution of wealth and power."

So far, he said, "we have been tolerant of certain misunderstandings even when they resulted in evasions of the spirit, if not the letter of the law," but "we have arrived at the time for taking stock for correcting manifest errors, for rooting out demonstrated evils."

He added:

"We cannot tolerate actions which are clearly monopolistic, which wink at unfair trade practices, which fail to give to labor free choice of their representatives or which are otherwise hostile to public interest."

The President congratulated industry on its understanding of the recovery program's problems.

He described himself "a little amused and perhaps at times a little saddened" by writers and speakers who proclaim that the administration has committed the country to Communism or Fascism and dictatorship.

REPLY TO CRITICISM

His speech contained also one direct answer to criticism:

"There are some people, of course, who do not think things through; as, for example, the man who complained in one of yesterday morning's papers that criticism was held to be unpatriotic.

"Let me put the case so clearly that even his type will understand. If we admit that the government has a specific problem to solve and undertakes to do it in a specific way, the critic is unpatriotic who contents himself with loudly proclaiming that that way, that method is no good; that it won't work; that it is wrong to do this.

"This critic contributes nothing—he is not constructive; he is unpatriotic because he attempts to destroy without even suggesting a way to build up.

"On the other hand the critic is patriotic whether he be a businessman, a worker, a farmer or a politician if he says, I don't like the methods you are using to solve the problem; I believe it would be far better if we were to use the following alternate method, and thereupon outlines for the benefit of his neighbor and his government a helpful proposal."

Then, he added, the "average American is doing splendid service by coming back at the captious critic and saying to him:

"'Well, old man, and what do you suggest?'"

WON'T TURN BACK

"One thing is very certain. We are not going back either to the old conditions or to the old methods."

The President said that NRA and the entire New Deal are fundamentally democratic, conceived for the greatest good of the greatest number, adding:

"The real truth of the matter is that for a number of years in our country the machinery of democracy had failed to function. * * * The operations of government had fallen into the hands of special groups, some of them vociferously led by people who undertook to obtain special advantages for special classes. * * *"

Mr. Roosevelt said the great majority of complaints assembled by NRA was not directed against the act or the codes, "but at errors and omissions in what has been done under codes."

TELEGRAM FROM BANKER

In conclusion, the President told of a telegram from Francis M. Law, president of the American Bankers' Association, which said the national banking structure was "sound and liquid." There is a definite call, said the message, "for a most sympathetic attitude toward legitimate credit."

Thereupon, Mr. Roosevelt departed from his prepared text to say:

"If the banks come along, my friends, we'll have the three great elements in American life working together, industry, agriculture and banks, and then we can't stop."

The President was vigorously applauded at this point, as he had been repeatedly.

Because the number of industrialists attending was so huge that two overflow halls had been pressed into service, the chief executive, accompanied by Hugh S. Johnson, went from Constitution Hall to the other gathering to speak a word directly to those who had heard his address only through amplifiers.

Editor John Alden, Kin of Puritan, Dies

BROOKLYN, N. Y., March 5.—(AP.)—John Alden, 73, a direct descendant of the John Alden who came to America on the Mayflower, and associate editor of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, died yesterday after being ill since Thursday.

Alden, a New York and Washington newspaperman since 1885, for the last 30 years, lacking two days, had written a daily poem on the editorial page of the Eagle.

TEXT OF ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE ON NRA

WASHINGTON, March 5—(AP.)—The President's text today as he addressed the NRA Code Authorities:

Eight and a half months ago when I signed the Recovery Act I said, "must we go on in many groping, disorganized, separate units to deafeat or shall we move as one great team to victory?"

The team is before me this morning—3,500 leaders of 600 greater organized industries representing, as measured by employment, more than 90 per cent of the industrial field which is covered by the NRA. Naturally I am gratified that the faith which I expressed last June is so well justified in March.

I do not undertake today to present either a broad review of all the manifold causes which led up to the distressful situation from which the nation is emerging or a recapitulation of the events, the measures and the results of this past year.

You are here as the direct representatives of only one element in our complex modern life but at the same time because of the fine spirit you have shown I can congratulate you on an approach to your own problems which shows an understanding of the many other problems which cris-cross and dovetail into each other to make up the broad objective of the American people.

DANGEROUS SITUATION

It is sufficient for me to point out once more that the difficult and dangerous situation into which the United States had got itself was due to the general attitude, "Every man for himself; the devil take the hindmost."

Individuals were seeking quick riches at the expense of other individuals. Geographical sections were seeking economic preference for themselves to the disadvantage of other sections. Cities were recklessly offering inducements to manufacturing plants to move away from other cities.

Within given industries unfair competition went on unheeded or resulted in vast consolidations whose securties were peddled to the public at dishonest prices. There was little consideration for the social point of view and no planning whatsoever to avoid the pitfalls of overproduction or of selling methods which foisted articles on a gullible public, which the family budget could not afford.

That is a strong picture but you and I, in the bottom of our hearts, know that it is a true picture. Most of us participated in the making of that picture. We did not know as much then as we know now and because our eyes have been opened it is possible that future history will call that crazy decade of 1919 to 1929 one of the greatest blessings that ever came to the American people.

REMEDIES APPLIED

It was because the situation in March, 1933, was so serious all along the line that remedies had to be applied to every phase of the illness. The objective was, as you know, to apply these remedies in the American way and not to copy those which are being tried in other countries which do not live under the same form of Democratic government as ours.

I am always a little amused and perhaps at time a little saddened—and I think the American people feel the same way—by those few writers and speakers who proclaim tearfully either that we are now committed to communism and collectivism or that we have adopted fascism and a dictatorship.

The real truth of the matter is that for a number of years in our country the machinery of democracy had failed to function.

Through inertia on the part of leaders and on the part of the people themselves the operations of government had fallen into the hands of special groups, some of them vociferously led by people who undertook to obtain special advantages for special classes and others led by a handful of individuals who believed in their superhuman ability to retain in their own hands the entire business and financial control over the economic and social structure of the nation.

The fine response given by the overwhelming majority of the component parts of industry as represented here today proves to me that you have the same understanding of our broad purpose as is held by the average of the workers of the United States—and that word workers means almost all of the American people. You have shown sincere desire for real co-operation; you have shown prompt response to the governmental request for national unity. For this support I give you my thanks.

RECOVERY ACT

The National Industrial Recovery Act was drawn with the greatest good of the greatest number in mind. Its aim was to increase the buying power of wage earners and farmers so that industry, labor and the public might benefit through building up the market for farm and factory goods.

Employer, wage earner and consumer groups are all represented on its boards with the government: all three groups with the government must have the interests of all the people as their main responsibility.

What we seek is balance in our economic system—balance between agriculture and industry and balance between the wage earner, the employer and the consumer. We seek also balance that our internal markets be kept rich and large, and that our trade with other nations be increased on both sides of the ledger.

You and I are now conducting a great test to find out how the business leaders in all groups of industry can develop capacity to operate for the general welfare. Personally, I am convinced that with your help the test is succeeding.

CONCEPTION OF NRA

TEXT OF ROOSEVELT MESSAGE ON NRA OBJECTIVES

Its theory of self regulation follows the American method rather than any of the experiments being tried in other nations.

The very fact that you have been in Washington to criticize and to discuss the way NRA is working out is sufficient proof of this point.

There are some people, of course, who do not think things through; as, for example, the man who complained in one of yesterday morning's papers that criticism was held to be unpatriotic.

Let me put the case so clearly that even his type will understand. If we admit that the government has a specific problem to solve and undertakes to do it in a specific way, the critic is unpatriotic who contents himself with loudly proclaiming that that way, that method is no good; that it won't work; that it is wrong to do this.

This critic contributes nothing—he is not constructive; he is unpatriotic because he attempts to destroy without even suggesting a way to build up.

On the other hand, the critic is patriotic whether he be a business man, a worker, a farmer or a politician if he says, "I don't like the methods you are using to solve the problem: I believe it would be far better if we were to use the following alternate method," and thereupon outlines for the benefit of his neighbor and his government a helpful proposal.

In this great evolution through which we are passing, the average American is doing splendid service by coming back at the captious critic and saying to him, "Well, old man, and what do you suggest?" One thing is very certain, we are not going back either to the old conditions or to the old methods.

NRA LEGAL

And now to be more specific in regard to NRA itself. You have set up representative government in industry. You are carrying it on without violation of the constitutional or the parliamentary system to which the United States has been accustimed.

Your industrial groups are composed of two parts—labor and management; and the government is a participant in this organization in order to carry out this mandate of the law, "to promote organization in industry for the purpose of cooperative action in trade groups and to induce and maintain united action of labor and management under adequate government sanction and supervision." Somebody, of course, must strike the equitable balance between conflicting interests and especially must protect the third group—the consumer—and that word "consumer" means the whole American people.

That group has also been in Washington, invited to come here and to make known publicly any complaint as to the effects of any of the codes. I am sure it will hearten you to know that the great majority of the complaints were directed not at the codes but at errors and omissions in what has been done under codes.

The great bulk of complaint or criticism of the Recovery Act does not go to the act itself or to its basic principles, but rather to the details of mere method. In this we should feel encouraged and heartened that we are on the right track and can go forward.

In working out the balance on a national scale, of which I have spoken before, we can list certain immediate objectives.

I spoke last June of the fact that wage increases will eventually raise costs, but I asked that management give first consideration to increasing the purchasing power of the public. I said, "That is good economics and good business. The aim of this whole effort is to restore our rich domestic market by raising its vast consuming capacity."

Complaint has been made of a few industries and of some companies that they have not followed this suggestion, and evidence brought forward shows that in some cases these complaints are justified. What I said was true in June and it is true now. The first task of industry today, as it was then, is to create consuming power.

SENSIBLE PROFITS

We must remember that the bulk of the market for American industry is among the 90 per cent of our people who live on wages and salaries and only 10 per cent of that market is among people who live on profits alone. No one is opposed to sensible and reasonable profits, but the morality of the case is that a great segment of our people are in actual distress and that as between profits first and humanity afterwards and humanity first and profits afterwards we have no room for hesitation.

With millions still unemployed the power of our people to purchase and use the products of industry is still greatly curtailed. It can be increased and sustained only by striving for the lowest schedule of prices on which higher wages and increasing employment can be maintained.

Therefore, I give to industry today this challenge: It is the immediate task of industry to re-employ more people at purchasing wages and to do it now. Only thus can we continue recovery and restore the balance we seek.

It is worth while keeping in the front of our heads the thought that the people in this country whose incomes are less than $2,000 a year buy more than two-thirds of all the goods sold here. It is logical that if the total amount that goes in wages to this group of human beings is steadily increased, merchants, employers and investors will in the long run get more income from the increased volume of sales.

I want to speak for a moment directly to the public. In my initial statement of policy, I said:

"Finally, this law is a challenge to our whole people. There is no power in America that can force against the public will such action as we require. But there is no group in America that can withstand the force of an aroused public opinion. This great co-operation can succeed only if those who bravely go forward to restore jobs have aggressive public support and those who lag are made to feel the full weight of public disapproval."

You all know what happened. We gave you the Blue Eagle as a symbol of co-operation. Its display in a shop or factory window, or upon a garment, or product, or delivery wagon, informed you that the firm with which you were dealing was doing its part in this great national co-operation to defeat depression. For the first time—so far as I know—all of the people in this country were given a part in making a law effective.

This is a law for the public benefit. Obviously an employer who pays Blue Eagle or code wages cannot compete with an employer who does not. It is therefore common sense for the consuming public in their own interests, as well as for labor and for industry, to join in seeing to it that the few who think only of selfish gain be made to play the game with the overwhelming majority.

SHORTER HOURS

Every examination I make, and all the information I receive leads me to the inescapable conclusion that we must now consider immediate co-operation to secure increase in wages and shortening of hours. I am confident that your deliberations will lead you also to this conclusion.

Reduction in hours coupled with a decrease in weekly wages will do no good at all, for it amounts merely to a forced contribution to unemployment relief by the class least able to bear it. I have never believed that we should violently impose flat, arbitrary and abrupt changes on the economic structure, but we can nevertheless work together in arriving at a common objective.

The government can not forever continue to absorb the whole burden of unemployment. The thing to do now is to get more people to work. Your self-governing groups are not here to devise ingenious plans to circumvent the purposes of the act. You are here in a patriotic spirit to effect these purposes.

With few exceptions industry will give wholehearted compliance. It is only in the case of rare exceptions where industrial self-government may fail that the government itself must and will under the law move firmly and promptly to prevent failure.

CODE SAFEGUARDS

Under the code system you and I are aware that experience must be the guide for the working out of difficulties and the prevention of abuses.

For example, you on code authorities are your industrial brother's keeper and especially are you the keeper of your small industrial brother.

We must set up every safeguard against erasing the small operator from the economic scene. Many years ago anti-trust laws were passed and one of the primary reasons for their enactment was the protection of the little fellow against the big fellow. In many cases these laws failed to protect the little fellow. We do not want to maintain that condition.

The essential provisions of the codes should check or reverse competitive methods by which the small business man was or is being squeezed out.

These same anti-trust laws must continue in their major purpose of retaining competition and preventing monopoly: It is only where these laws have prevented the co-operation to eliminate things like child labor and sweatshops, starvation wages and other unfair practices that there is justification in modifying them.

One more subject I call to your special attention. The law itself has provided for free choice of their own representatives by employes. Those two words, "free choice" mean just what they say. It is obvious that the government itself not noly has the right, but also the duty to see, first, that employes may make a choice and, secondly, that in the making of it they shall be wholly free.

I ask that the letter and the spirit of free choice be accorded to its workers by every corporation in the United States.

STERN ENFORCEMENT

We have been seeking experience in our first eight months of code making; for that same reason we have been tolerant of certain misunderstandings even when they resulted in evasions of the spirit if not of the letter of the law.

Now we are moving into a period of administration when that which is law must be made certain and the letter and the spirit must be fulfilled. We cannot tolerate actions which are clearly monopolistic, which wink at unfair trade practices, which fail to give to labor free choice of their representatives or which are otherwise hostile to the public interest.

In a word, we can not tolerate abuses of economic power—abuses against labor, abuses against employers or abuses against the consuming public, whether they persist either with the aid of codes or despite their prohibitions.

This does not mean that we can at once make perfect many hundred codes covering the major trades and industries of the nation nor that we can get a mark of perfection in a day or a month. It does mean that we have arrived at the time for taking stock for correcting manifest errors, for rooting out demonstrated evils.

One year ago we were suffering and shrinking under economic pressures so intolerable that collapse was at hand. We had arrived at the day to make our choice. We made that choice.

The American people responded to the call for action with eager enlistment—enlistment in the struggle against ruthless self-seeking, reckless greed and economic anarchy. We undertook by lawful, constitutional processes to reorganize a disintegrating system of production and exchange.

NEW DEAL TO STAY

The methods and details of that reorganization may and will change from year to year, but it is very certain that the American people understand that the purpose of the reorganization was not only to bring back prosperity. It was far deeper than that.

The reorganization must be permanent for all the rest of our lives in that never again will we permit the social conditions which allowed the vast sections of our population to exist in an un-American way, which allowed a mal-distribution of wealth and of power.

The willingness of all elements to enter into the spirit of the New Deal becomes more and not less evident as it goes on. As an example, I have just received a telegram from Mr. Francis M. Law, the president of the American Bankers' Association. In it he said:

"On this your first anniversary please allow me in behalf of the country's banks to express our full confidence and our sincere desire to co-operate in your courageous efforts to bring about recovery.

"The banking structure of the country is sound and liquid and banks have never been in stronger position to function effectively. Conditions have improved to the point where it is no longer necessary for banks to be super-liquid. There is a definite call now for banks not to extend loose credits or to make improper loans, but for a most sympathetic attitude towards legitimate credit needs and for a recognition of responsibility for their proper and vital part in the program of recovery."

Think back exactly one year ago today. You know where the banks stood at that time; you know where your own business stood. That telegram is a living illustration of the progress we have made.

Let us consolidate our gains and let us resolve that that consolidation shall be for the continued progress and especially for the greater happiness and wellbeing of the American people.

HIGHLIGHTS OF ROOSEVELT MESSAGE

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Some of the highlights of President Roosevelt's speech today follow:

"The real truth is that for a number of years in our country the machinery of democracy failed to function."

"Operations of government had fallen into the hands of special groups . . . . led by people who undertook to obtain special advantages for special classes . . . Led by a handful of individuals who believed in their superhuman ability to retain in their own hands the entire business and financial control over the economic and social structure of the nation."

"The National Industrial Recovery Act was drawn with the greatest good for the greatest number in mind."

"The very conception of the NRA follows the democratic procedure of our government itself. Its theory of self-regulation follows the American method rather than any of the experiments being tried in other nations."

"The critic is unpatriotic who contents himself with loudly proclaiming that that way, that method is no good; that it won't work; that it is wrong to do this This critic contributes nothing—he is not constructive; he is unpatriotic because he attemps to destroy without even suggesting a way to build up."

"One thing is very certain, we are not going back either to the old conditions or to the old methods."

"The first task of industry today . . . is to create consuming power."

"I give industry today this challenge: It is the immediate task of industry to re-employ more people at purchasing wages and to do it now."

"You on code authorities are your industrial brother's keeper, and especially are you the keeper of your small industrial brother."

SPEAK UP, SISTERS!

:-: Glances Into the Realms of Domesticity and Romance :-:

By MARION BRUNOT

Men Retain Old Qualities After Marriage

Your sensibilities have been hurt.

Your boy friend is too tough a guy for you. He doesn't know his declensions or table manners.

He believes in the up and up, but without any of the trimmings.

You have done much reading and have dreamed of travel. Yet his idea of a good book is one that describes Jack Dempsey in action, while his plan for a trip is one to Bermuda to see the races. Or to Niagara Falls to watch the biggest bathtub in America fill up.

"Gee," he says, "that'd be a fine place to fish for trout."

And of all things. When you are only thinking of some fitting line of poetry.

You write:

Dear Miss Brunot:

I am a young girl of 22, and my mother thinks I should marry and settle down. She likes a certain young man who is paying me much attention. She says he is made of the stuff that'll be rich, and mother, although she married Dad when he was as poor as the string on the average package, only sees money for me.

HOST TO FAMILY

This young man has a car and he took all of us, mother and dad included, on a trip to Niagara Falls last summer. He paid all the expenses, and my parents just ate it up. But I was ashamed some of the time. He set us up at fine hotels and drove us out to the Falls in his seven-seated car, as if he was the Mayor of Buffalo. I did enjoy it until we got to the Falls. For there was something nice in being shut up in a car and having my people along, and me being the real cause of it.

I do hate to ride in day coaches and watch children soil their faces with candy. And see them parade back and forth to the drinking faucet. And of course, we missed all of that.

But when we got out to the Falls, and I was thinking of all the great poems I had ever read, I said:

"Isn't it a wonderful cataract?"

"Cataract. What's that? Have you the toothache?"

Now, he knew better. But was just being funny. That's what he is always doing.

CAUSES EMBARRASSMENT

That's it, Miss Brunot. When he takes me out for a dinner in a swell place, he always spoils it for me, by doing something common. He'll say to the waiter, maybe: "What have you got to eat that's cheap." And when we get out to the cloak room, he always plays a foolish little act, winking all the time, of trying to steal his hat, so he won't seem to want to give a tip.

I am so ashamed. When he's eating he talks and eats at the same time, and shoves the food on his fork the wrong way. And when he and I are at the theater, after it is over, he always says in a loud voice:

"Come on, honey, let's hunt my buggy."

And there I am all dressed up and looking like someone. I've seen more than one well-dressed woman turn up her nose at us.

It just breaks my heart. For he is a good fellow, if he would only learn to be more refined. What shall I do? Go against my mother's wishes, and shove him out of the scene? Or marry him, and be embarrassed for the rest of my life?

MISS REFINED.

I'm afraid if you do listen to mother and marry this "tough guy" you're in for plenty of humiliation. But also you may be in for the top rung of the ladder. Big cars and fine feeds do not always go hand in hand with gentle manners. Gigiloes are noted for their elegant social amenities. But they usually expect the woman to foot the bills.

ALL RIGHT FOR SOME

"Diamonds in the rough" are all right for some of us. We can see down beneath the dirt and the coarseness. And the glow of the real gem underneath lulls us. But not others. Superficial exteriors are important to them. They are out for the big parade. They want the polish that gleams publicly. And maybe will never be happy without it.

And if you are one such, for your own peace of mind, sister, you had better give this man up. There are other men. You are young and do not have to take what comes your way. You can go out and look around.

But remember some of the grand beaux who, when you look at planked steaks and baked Alaskas and eat bacon and beans the other nights out of the week.

Yet all of us run a risk. Marriage is that every time. And we can't be cowards about it.

A man who hasn't enough sensibility to see he is offending a girl when he courts her, will not have enough of the same quality later on to make her happy. He may have sufficient money to pay all of her bills. He may look upon her as the finest woman in the whole world, and for always.

But what if he says in an off hand fashion: "I leave the SASIETY END OF THE FAMILY TO THE WIFE?"

She will swallow it, yes. But there will be tears kept back.

So if you are that kind, let the rough guy go while the going is good.

Many persons think too much of what others may be thinking of them. If they could only realize that no one is thinking that much about any one!

To each person, nothing, good, bad or ordinary that happens to another interests him one-tenth as much as what happens to himself.

A moment of laughter, criticism, applause, ridicule, sympathy or gossip is all one can expect.

After that, each turns again to his own thoughts, a world in which his own life is the apex and axle.

The least that occurs in one's own life seems vastly more important than the greatest success or sorrow that comes to another's life.

No one is thinking as much about you as you are thinking of them.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Order of Service

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When two bachelors are entertaining at dinner in their apartment, in what order should the serving be done? Should the butler serve one of the hosts first, the women guests next, the men guests next, and the other host last? Or should both hosts be served last?

The butler serves first the woman guest of honor, and then continues his serving to the right, serving the guests in the order in which they are seated. That is, he doesn't serve the hosts first, and he doesn't serve first the women guests (after the woman guest of honor) and then the men guests. This latter procedure is inconvenient, for it retards the service unnecessarily. But it is important that the woman guest of honor should be served first.

Winners Keepers

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

At a recent shower in my honor, I won and accepted first prize. Was I entitled to it? I afterward thought I should have presented it to my hostess. What do you think? C.

You did just the right thing. You won the prize, and you should keep it.

Given in Marriage

A Sequel to Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Asked to Decide on Edith's Suggestion

What did Dicky mean by his reply to Edith Fairfax's invitation to go for a drive to the ocean by moonlight, and what did he wish me to say in answer to his query as to my wishes?

Those were the questions which beat in panicky fashion against my brain as I mulled over what he had said. He had put his query to me in such fashion that I could not determine whether he wished me to go or to stay at home.

But he had appealed to me—made it my province to decide for or against the proposal which Edith had made to him. 'I would have been something utterly unfeminine if I had not felt a distinct, if mean, little thrill of triumph at the knowledge. It helped me to believe that Dicky's attitude toward my going on the ocean drive was based mainly upon his concern for my fatigue, and that Edith Fairfax's feelings had nothing to do with his rather ambiguous speech.

COMRADELY AFFECTION

Armed with this conviction I raised my eyes to his and smiled at him in comradely fashion.

"Suppose we settle it this way," I said. "I'll stay at home, for I am a bit tired, if the rest of you will promise to go. Otherwise I shall go."

"Count me out of that program," Katherine said in my ear. "I must get back to the nursery."

The ears of Junior and Roderick were quick to catch her words. They made a dash for me, pleading for permission to go.

"Perhaps. Keep quiet and wait. If possible, you may go," I said.

With my arms around them, I waited for Dickey's answer to my counter proposal. Had I said the right thing?

"Mussolini and the other boys have nothing on you, old dear," Dicky gibed. "'You'll all go, willy nilly,' says you, 'or I'll up and go myself, if I have to employ a wheel chair and two crutches to get to the car.'

But there was nothing save comradely affection in his jesting voice and his smile, and I answered his teasing in kind

"That's just what I'm saying," I told him. "It's so wonderful a night that I'm sure you will all enjoy the ocean, and it would be perfectly silly for any of you to stay at home on my account."

I flashed an appealing look at Lillian, and she promptly caught my cue.

"I agree with you, darling," she said, "but with one amendment. If there's another weary soul or two, don't insist on everybody going. But as for me and my house—" she sent an impish grin at her big husband—"We go by the ocean; not so?"

"Positively," he answered. "Let's take a poll? As I call your names, say 'aye' or 'no.' Then we'll know how many cars to take."

I expected, of course, that Katherine, my father and my mother-in-law would not go for the drive. But I equally expected that all the rest would be in favor of the proposition, because it was so wonderful a night.

LEE CHOW DECLINES

I had forgotten Lee Chow however. The high-born Chinese friend of Hugh Grantland had kept so carefully in the background during the wedding festivities, that I not only had failed to remark him, but had forgotten my uneasiness concerning him, caused by the watchfulness with which I imagined he constantly regarded me. When his name was called, I was conscious of a sudden little tremor—not fear, but something akin to that emotion.

"Lee Chow!" Harry boomed. "What's your choice?"

The gaunt figure of the Chinese, who had been so near death because of the poison concealed in the mysterious objects in Marion's lock box, bowed me in what was almost a salaam.

"I would like to remain here," he said. "There are some things I should like to say to Mrs. Graham, and this seems an opportunity for the conversation."

How to Keep Well

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Wrong Diet 'Blotches' Skin

It is the proper ambition of every young person to have a clear and attractive skin. Nothing adds more to the appeal of any face than sparkling eyes and a velvety skin.

Dr. Copeland

There are many causes for rough, pimply, dry and harsh skin. Perhaps it might promote the happiness of some young man or woman if I said a few words on the subject. I am sure this would be the case if I could give advice that would help to acquire the desired complexion.

"Don't envy a good complexion—have one!" Since it was invented that sentence has attracted many a pair of wistful eyes.

In the body are a number of tiny chemical laboratories, producing substances which have a vital effect upon our welfare. These busy establishments are known as "endocrine glands" or "ductless glands," because they pour their secretions directly into the blood stream. Upon the proper functioning of these organs depends the general health and normal behavior. Failure of just the right speed ction may result in unpleas- changes, notably in the ut there are other physical efects which may cause the skin to be blotchy or unpleasantly marred by eruptions and pimples. For example, acne, that common ailment of youth, is frequently associated with wrong eating and failure of elimination. This is true, too, of most of the superficial skin ailments.

We cannot hope to clear the skin till right habits of living are established. To this end, there must be cleanliness of the surface and cleanliness of intestinal tract. Simple food, green vegetables, milk, fruit and plenty of water should be added to exercise, fresh air and sunlight. By following these suggestions I have no doubt that many an unattractive skin would give way to the glow of health and beauty.

Now we don't want to seem morbid, and we're not contemplating suicide . . . to the contrary we're encouraged by the prospects of better business . . . however the old phrase strikes us as being pretty true—particularly about taxes. Public Utility Companies operate under rigid restrictions which limit earnings in prosperous times . . . they must maintain a high degree of service at all times, incurring certain enormous costs that cannot be reduced as their revenue declines. One big item is Taxes . . . and regardless of business conditions taxes are inevitable . . . ever-increasing sums which must be paid. ¶ We agree that taxes are necessary to civic and national life. Our companies paid $2,235,536.88 in Local, State and Federal taxes in 1933 of which $91,360.69 in real estate tax and $63,178.04 school tax was paid to the City of Pittsburgh. In the past five years—the depression notwithstanding—our taxes have amounted to $13,226,157.73. Money to pay these taxes must come from revenue derived from our customers . . . it is your money—your utility dollar . . . more and more of it is being consumed by taxes.

Contract Bridge

How to Play How to Win

By Josephine Culbertson

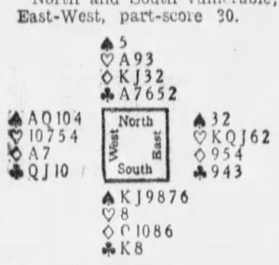
Shortening Trumps for An End-Play

There is no bidding partnership in Contract Bridge which is so percise that it never reaches an indifferent or bad contract. Therefore, the ability to play hands at unnatural and unsound contracts is as much a part of the game as the ability to get the most out of a hand when the final contract is a sound one.

On today's hand definite overbidding by both the North and South players brought them to a contract where anything but the finest possible play would have resulted in a 200- or 500- point penalty. By good play, however, North and South were able to score a game.

North, Dealer.

North and South vulnerable; East-West, part-score 30.



The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♡	1 ♠	3 ♡
Pass	Pass	3 ♠	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding needs little or no comment. After his partner had opened the bidding South did not wish the opponents to play three hearts unmolested, particularly since that contract would put them out. West, of course, can hardly be blamed for doubling.

In the play of the hand West opened his fourth-best heart, which was won with the Ace in Dummy, and a heart was immediately returned, the Declarer ruffing in his own hand. The King of clubs was now led and followed with another club, which was won with the Ace in Dummy and another heart led and trumped. The second step had now been completed in South's attempt to shorten his own trump holding.

A diamond was now lead, and West's play was immaterial. Actually, West played low on the first diamond, and the trick was won with the Knave in Dummy. A low club was now led, which South trumped in his own hand, bringing his own trump holding down to three, with West, his left-hand opponent, still holding his original four cards. A diamond was now led and taken by the West player, and no play he could now make could prevent South from making two more trump tricks or a total of nine tricks in all.

It is easily seen that any attempt on the part of the South player to draw trumps and set up the diamond suit would have resulted in failure, as West's holdings of four trumps would eventually put him in a position where he would be in complete control of the hand, but by making as many of his trumps as possible seperately, South was able to fulfill his contract for quite a large swing on the hand.

Assuming, on the hand below, that East and West, due to the part-score, get to the ridiculous contract of two spades, and South makes the unfortunate Opening of the heart Knave, how can North subsequently defend the hand to prevent the making of the contract?

West, Dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

East and West, part-score 60.

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

'NO WAR,' ADMIRAL HORTHY, REGENT OF HUNGARY, TELLS KNICKERBOCKER

The regent himself is more simply clad than any of his aides save the naval officer. The regent wears the plain blue uniform of an admiral. A single white decoration is on his jacket.

He is hearty, friendly, open, frank, hard. He put down the Reds with a hand so strong that the Third International lists him Communist enemy No. 1. He looks it. But he looks above all the naval officer. Postwar Hungary has no seacoast and not a boat to its name, but its ruler still smacks of the sea. His cabinet is plain as a captain's cabin.

READY TO TALK

He is not afraid to talk. He talks slow but good English. He fired back at my opening:

"To put it shortly, last year I was certain there would be war this year. Now I think there will be war at all.

"The grave danger was of the so-called preventive war. Of course it would have prevented nothing, and would only have brought about in the end the same disaster that would overtake Europe after any war, whether you call it 'preventive' or not.

"From time immemorial whenever anybody wanted to make war he always did it saying it was in order to preserve the peace. Napoleon ran around Europe fighting all day long, every day in the year, fighting everybody in sight and all the time he swore he was doing it to make peace." The Admiral chuckled. "The Romans," he said, "they did it, too. And, of course, they were right. They whipped everybody in sight and then they had peace for 300 years."

AIDE TO EMPEROR

The Regent looked up for a moment at the portrait of the Emperor Franz Joseph. He had been adjutant to the emporor for five years, and he called him "the best man I ever knew; the most perfect gentleman with more goodness of heart than any man I ever knew."

"So the idea of preventive war is not new. Yet in the Europe of today a preventive war would be the most catastrophic mistake. It would be as disastrous for the people who started it as for the people against whom it was directed.

"But it seems now virtually certain that wiser councils have prevailed. After all, in order to carry out a war, it is necessary at any rate to believe, to have a certain conviction that you are going to win. Now who today could go to war against anybody else and say positively 'we will surely win?'

"What combination of powers is so sure of the internal strength of each member, and of the fidelity of its allies, that it could afford to provoke a conflict with any other power or group of powers? It is a risk no responsible statesman could take, and I think it is a risk that no responsible military leader in Europe today would take.

SEES NO WAR

"No, I now think not only that there will be no war, but that questions which now disturb the peace of Europe will ultimately be settled without any war at all. There is not one point of friction that could not be removed if the proper pressure were brought to bear by the great powers."

In interpretation it may be remarked that Hungary's chief aim today is to recover from the Little Entente the enormous blocks of territory she lost, but particularly to recover Slovakia from Czecho-slovakia. If the great powers were to bring "the proper pressure" to bear on Czechoslovakia, Hungary feels her claim might be satisfied without war.

"What we need in Europe though," went on the regent, "is more authority. Authority is absolutely essential to the preservation of peace, because when moments of strain come, and great decisions have to be made, you need your power concentrated. I agree with Mussolini that fundamental changes in the organization of Europe are essential—essential for the preservation of peace.

"The reorganization must be along lines that will permit the great powers to get together and say to any trouble-maker: 'You must behave; you must cease to do this or you must do that.' I do not mean a League army. That is not necessary. It would suffice if the great powers merely used their own forces as a threat With such authority behind anybody I am confident that order would be restored in Europe in one day.

CITES OWN LAND

"But the reorganization must be thorough, and the injustices must be corrected. I cite the case of my own country. The situation in which we are today is absolutely intolerable. No civilized people could expect that we should tolerate it, and I am happy to note that the appreciation for Hungary's position is growing in England and in other countries They recognize not only the material injustice done to us but above all the moral humiliation which is the hardest to bear."

The admiral became vehement. "We had everything—we had coal and iron and gold and salt and oil. Now what have we got? They took away from us 72 per cent of our land and 60 per cent of our population. They left us nothing but wheat and soldiers. Good wheat and good soldiers have no value nowadays.

"And what makes it particularly hard to bear is the fact that Hungarians of all people are not accustomed to this sort of treatment. You as an American who comes from the South remember what the feelings of your people were when the Civil War Negro Governors were put in power in the southern states.

"After all we Hungarians have been an organized people with a unique culture for a thousand years, and for a gentleman whose forefathers have been gentlemen for a thousand years, to be kicked out of his castle, robbed of his land, thrown on the streets, and condemned to beggary,—that is very hard to bear.

FACES REALITIES

"I understand the feelings of our people. We have had to use our authority for the last fourteen years to calm the natural emotions of a people that suffers so keenly under the intolerable injustices to which they have been submitted. I had to because I know the realities of the situation, and I know there is no use in running your head against a brick wall.

"But the patience of the people will certainly one day be rewarded, for I am convinced that revision will come by peaceful means.

"You ask what will happen when Germany is rearmed. It is not necessary that anything should happen. Sooner or later the justifiable claims for revision will be granted, and there is no reason why there should be any war at all.

"But," he rose and straightened his jacket. "First must come reorganization and revision." Pointing at his buttons, "when your vest is not buttoned correctly, you must first unbutton it all the way down in order to button it up again. Europe must be unbuttoned and then buttoned up correctly again, and then we will have that peace for which all of us in Hungary are working."

The Danube flowed away down below the palace, its gray surface mirrored a flood of sunshine. For a thousand years it has flowed through the land of the Magyars, a proud people. It will flow another thousand years before Hungary surrenders her claims.

"Two things I wanted—

"I found out my trouble—

"... more strength and a clear skin."

It is well to remember that a probable reason why you do not have red lips, rosy cheeks, a clear skin, good health, energy and cheerfulness is that your blood is in a run-down condition. Lack of hemo-glo-bin, the red-coloring of the blood, may also cause a weakened condition of the body ... loss of strength ... poor appetite.

Neglect of diet, worry, overwork, colds or sickness, frequently break down and retard the natural development of the red-blood-cells and their oxygen-carrying hemo-glo-bin.

Why not set in motion the rebuilding of these precious blood-cells instead of procrastinating and sacrificing your appearance and the feeling of being well and fit?

If your condition suggests a tonic of this kind, try S.S.S. It is not just a so-called tonic but a tonic specially designed to stimulate gastric secretions, and also having the mineral elements so very, very necessary in rebuilding the oxygen-carrying hemo-glo-bin of the blood. Unless your case is exceptional, you should soon notice a pick-up in your appetite ... your color and skin should improve with increased strength and energy.

S.S.S. is truly a blood and body tonic. Its value has been proven by generations of use, as well as by modern scientific appraisal.

You will find S.S.S. at all drug stores in two sizes ... the larger is more economical. © The S.S.S. Co.

"... and it was all so simple ... my physician said I had no organic disease, but I did have what is so commonly and truthfully called a low percentage of hemo-glo-bin in the blood. It didn't take S.S.S. very long to get my blood back up to normal ... and as my strength and energy returned my skin cleared up."

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W.: Remember Lora Foster of the Ziegfeld shows before she married and divorced Jack McGowan? Well, she re-married the other day—whom I don't know . . . Roger W. Kahn's new wife is at Dr's Hosp—and Roger has taken a room next door to be near her . . . Rudy Vallee and Will Osborne will not reconcile as was reported in the papers, I am informed . . . Nicky Blah called. He said you keep his press agent out until all hours listening to police and plane calls on your radio but the Paradise never gets into your column any more. And that his new show has Sally Rand, Aunt Jemima and Buck & Bubbles, etc. . . The Paradise was mentioned only last week—he must be going blind or something, what? . . . Radio wire charges from the coast very steep—so you can't go.

I saw "Palooka" with Durante at the Rivoli—very gay . . . Cliff Hall, Jack Pearl's "Sharlee," is to be operated on soon for the scar sustained in that car smash on the coast . . . J. Rivkin, the contract getter, is now flying to the coast on big business . . . Jessel phoned. Said that he wishes he had no friends—because friends are the only ones who can hurt you.

Complaints from several members who were in Guthrie McClintic's flop "Jezebel" because Guthrie engaged 40 actors for his newest play and didn't give them any parts . . . Joey Nash's simile: The fight was as one-sided as a postage stamp. . . . A friend of mine overheard Mayor La Guardia tell this to a member of his cabinet: "When real hot weather comes around and the cops start sweating, I will go into action myself and the coats will come off the cops" . . . The Police Commissioner, you know, had said the cops would have to wear complete regalia no matter the weather . . . A phoney (who tried to gyp a cab driver the other night) by saying: "Wait for me, I'm Winchell" and then disappeared into the Hollywood cafe, was later socked good, and made to pay the driver. Imagine doing such a thing for only 50 cents . . . He's from Boston, but I'm afraid they'll never recognize him up there now.

Have you heard the new ditty "Night on the Water"—very pretty . . . Bert and George Clarke, newcomers, wrote it . . . There is no such ruling as reported about uniformed cops getting a day off for arresting wikkid women . . . incidentally, there is a cop nicknamed "Tiny" on 5th Avenue, who is 6 feet 5½ inches high, and is the same weight as Carnera—tell the newsreels . . . Marlette Gustaffson, of Trade Lake, Wis., was married recently out there. She's Greta's first cousin—is that news? . . . Len Lyons called. Said with the dollar dropping to 50c it should be spelled dlr . . . A new gum on the market has a neat souvenir for kids. You merely soak a piece of paper wrapped in the gum and out comes a photo of a movie star.

Something should be done about this. At the Captiol, the line girls reported at 9 a. m. and did four shows and rehearsed between them and at 11 p. m. had to play a benefit. The following day, Washington's birthday, they had to report at 9 again and did five shows—and rehearse between each show! . . . Good heavens! . . . Harry McCormick is running the American bar at the Times Square Hotel . . . His pals are newspaper editors and reporters . . . Here's another definition of friendship—From Thoreau: "The language of friendship is not words—but meanings. It is an intelligence above language" . . . Josefsberg called. Said statistics prove that more people cross Broadway than any street in the world . . . And that he'd bet more people are crossed by Broadway than by any other street, too.

Maurice L. Rollins wishes his wife would come home. There'll be no litigation, he promises—he's very miserable. He says that at least six human hearts are involved . . . Will Osborne is supposed to have made this up—anyway—he defines alimony as a system, when two people make a mistake—one of them has to continue paying for it. . . . Gus Edwards, your very first boss, was in again—but I explained your hours are wild and you sleep when you can and get up ditto . . . Patsy Flick is funnier than ever in "She Loves Me Not" . . . Don't forget your promise to him to tell the movie producers to hire Patsy for the same role—anybody else would ruin it . . . I forgot to tell you that Arthur Godfrey of WJSV, Washington, is doing the Metropolitan Parade programs on the Columbia network, Tuesdays and Thursdays, 3 to 3:30. Although he isn't billed yet, his fan mail out-bunches his pan mail.

Dale Armstrong wonders if you've heard the new mother-in-law song "Didja Ever See A Nightmare Walking?"... (Well, he did!) . . . Lou Ashendorf defines B'way as a place where they toast you one year and won't even give it to you to eat the next . . . And where two and two make four-flushers... You ought to wise that ciggie ad maker that the marksman is shooting with the wrong eye open . . . How true it is I know not—but I hear a former $50,000 a year executive is now a waiter at the Biltmore... The former millionaire who now is a head waiter at the Palais Royal story was confirmed in the papers Tuesday . . . David Freedman says when you are up to your neck in hot water—do what the kettle does—sing!... Oh, sure! . . . Thanks for letting me stay home those two days—my first real cold this year . . . I had most of the important calls shifted thru the board here to my apartment—and you missed nothing . . . So if this isn't veddy, veddy good today—it's because obb da code id by dode.

Movie Actors Set to Aid Selves

By GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD, March 5.—The Screen Actors Guild, recently formed by the movie players in Hollywood, is all set to do a lot of big things besides becoming as strong on the film side as is the Actors Equity on the stage side of the entertainment fence.

They have not only banded together several hundred strong (and the list still growing!) for the defense and maintenance of their rights with the producers, but are about to launch their own monthly magazine, devoted to the interests of screen players.

The first issue will be off the press March 18. The editorial board consists of Ann Harding, Frederic March, Robert Montgomery, Lucille Gleason and Kenneth Thomson. The policy of the magazine, according to Thomson, will be to present news of general interest, news of the players and features and articles from many well known contributors.

* * *

Now it is Carl Brisson, recently imported Danish actor under contract to Paramount, who claims to have given Garbo her "start in life." In 1921 Brisson was the owner of a theater in Stockholm and, according to him, he gave Greta a job in a show called "Blue Blondes." He says that several years later the glamorous one thanked him for giving her the big chance and taking her out of the barber-shop where she had been employed.

* * *

A famous theatrical producer, and Inez Norton, onetime friend of the gambling figure, Arnold Rothstein (who was murdered), are very much "keeping company" around Hollywood. There's a story around that he just dropped some $60,000 in a gold mine venture here. Not that the mine isn't O. K., but it seems there were many thousands invested in machinery, etc., and a big fire broke out, destroying everything but the hale that had been dug!

And by the way, Miss Norton is awful mad because she can't have a certain role in the picture of Rothstein's life that is about to be filmed at Fox. Alice Faye has drawn the role of the gambler's sweetheart, and Helen Twelvetrees plays Rothstein's wife. Inez has another less important role in the picture, which will be called "Now I'll Tell."

* * *

Random shots: Doug Fairbanks and Alexander Korda are in Spain selecting locations for Doug's next flicker . . . Ruby Keeler, back in Hollywood for more pictures, in spite of Al's desire that she quit the films . . . Erin O'Brien Moore will play a part in "The Black Cat" with Boris Karloff at Universal . . . Robert Young stays on at M-G-M with a raise in salary . . . Sari Maritza with Bernie Toplitsky at the Cocoanut Grove . . . And we spotted Helen Mack, wearing what looked like a healthy engagement ring—but she wouldn't talk! . . . Jean Harlow was there with her ma and pa, too—but Hubby Hal Rosson was working . . . Jane Murfin has been made a supervisor at Radio—the first woman to hold such a job . . . Joan Crawford just gave Franchot Tone a 10-cara ruby ring for his birthday . . . The Evelyn Venable-Hal Mohr amour is plenty serious again after an interruption . . . Remember Pauline Garon? Well, she's getting a crack at a comeback with a new contract at Warner's . . . Charlie Ruggles just got a featured role in "She Loves Me Not," with Bing Crosby and Arline Judge . . . Mrs. Jimmy Gleason rushed to the hospital for an emergency appendix cutting . . . Ted Healy got out of his sick-bed to go to work in "Operator 13."

Emperor and Empress

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Elizabeth Bergner in "Catherine the Great," dramatic film coming Thursday to the Fulton, with Miss Bergner, swell actress, in the title role.

Ed Lowry Gets Job In Movies

Ed Lowry, who made his screen debut in Monogram's dramatic thriller "The House of Mystery," has just been signed by Radio for the top spot in a comedy series.

Lowry is a well known master of ceremonies who has appeared with various stage units and night clubs.

Shearer and Laughton Cast as Leads

Norma Shearer and Charles Laughton will have leading roles in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's film version of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," under direction of Sidney Franklin. Production on this picture will begin at the Culver City studios as soon as Miss Shearer finishes work in "Riptide," her first film since her return from abroad last fall.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

By William J. Lewis

Among those attending the preview of "Catherine The Great" in the Fulton a week ago Sunday was Ben Bernie, who told Manager Cool afterwards that "it is a masterpiece and truly magnificent." Incidentally, the picture, coming Thursday to the Fulton, has been drawing raves for Elizabeth Bergner, little Viennese actress who plays the title role, to the exclusion of everyone else in the cast. Yet Flora Robson, as the Empress Elizabeth, does a grand characterization.

* * *

American theatrical and movie producers are so terribly wise! Some time ago we learned how Margaret Lindsay, American girl, got a job in "Cavalcade" only because she made studio heads believe she was English. It is now revealed that Brice Hutchins, juvenile in the current "Follies," impressed managers in the very some way. Finding he could get no chance in a play or musical production without a reputation, he went to England. On the other side he wrote punch-filled letters to London representatives of American producers stating that he was an English actor. It worked. As an American from Joplin, Mo., his home town, he was just a hick, but as an "English music hall artist" he got a break on Broadway. Talullah Bankhead never got a nod in America until she went to England and scored in dramatic roles for a couple of seasons.

* * *

The Warner offices report a heavier opening of "Wonder Bar" than either Ben Bernie or "Artists and Models" drew . . . "Wild Cargo," the new Frank Buck jungle film, is being edited by Buck, himself, and will be released some time this month . . . M-G-M is said to be looking for a story in which to team Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery again . . . The premiere of Warner's "The Earth Turns" was held last week in Danbury, Conn., because the picture has a New England atmosphere . . . Charlotte Henry, the Alice of the "Alice In Wonderland" film, will be Lovey Mary in a photoplay of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

Warner Trade Showings Here Tomorrow

Warner Brothers' second trade exhibit which between 500 to 600 exhibitors from Western Pennsylvania and Ohio are expected to attend, is to be held tomorrow in the Schenley Theater. "As the Earth Turns," "Gambling Lady," "Wonder Bar" and "Journal of a Crime" will be shown. Other pictures that may arrive in time for the screening are "DuBarry" and "Napoleon."

Charles Rich, newly appointed district manager for the Warner-First National Pictures in this territory, will be in charge of the exhibit. Headquarters for out-of-town exhibitors will be the Hotel Schenley.

Trip to Bermuda

(PART TWO)

BERMUDA (Castle Harbour Hotel)—I'm not as happy down here on this trip as I have been on several other journeys to the same spot. Bermuda, to me, has always been one of the grandest places in all the world. But this trip has me a little nervous.

Maybe it's the weather—or maybe it's the hotel. I've been here several days now, and the only sunshine I've encountered has been poured out of a bottle. My other voyages to Bermuda were made in the summer and, if you ask me, that's the best time to be there.

Then there's the little matter of this Castle Harbour Hotel. It's a magnificent establishment that must have cost some ten or twelve million dollars to complete. No matter where you roam, you'll find very few hotels to equal it in beauty or situation.

But the management at the moment is a horse of a very different color. If ever I saw a spot that is being mismanaged right into the ground, this is the one. A maitre d'hotel named Titze is in charge of the works—and all I can say is that I feel mighty sorry for the works.

I won't bore you with much of this because the mistakes of anybody named Titze are completely unimportant. But it does seem a pity because the hotel, itself, is such a perfect piece of work.

Oh, well, that's the way those things go. It was Walter O'Keefe, one of the brightest of the radio stars, who summed up the situation beautifully a few days ago. Walter was here for a short stay, and someone asked him what he thought of the hotel.

"It's absolutely grand," he replied, "but that manager gets me nervous. He gives me the feeling that, if I drop a quarter, it's going to cost me a half dollar to pick it up!" . . .

If I seem to be in a fighting mood in this column, please forgive me. It's the golf that did it to me. I only play golf two or three times a year because I get too sore at myself for my own good. I can't hit the fool ball, the whole game seems silly to me. I get too much exercise when I play—and each time I play, I swear I'll never play again. So I played again this morning.

On this occasion, I had two added attractions to make my game complete. One was that the wife was playing better than I—and the other was that my trousers were too tight. I can assure you I would have felt much better if my trousers had been playing good golf and my wife had been tight. But things don't seem to work out that way for me.

I started off fairly well with a 16 on the first hole and a nifty 12 on the second. I asked the wife what her score was, and she told me 23 for the first two holes. I didn't want to argue about it, so all I said was that—in golf—we count score with the hits and not the misses. By the time we reached the third tee we weren't speaking.

That would have been a very good idea, if it hadn't been for Mrs. X. Did you ever hear of a golf kibitzer? Well, that's Mrs. X. She's a guest of this hotel, and she wanders out on the course all by her lonesome. She waits until a pair of dubs come along and then asks if she can play with them. And what can the dubs say?

The moment you miss a swing Mrs. X goes into action. She tells you exactly what's wrong with you. Your chin is too high. Your head is too low. You stand too close to the ball. And by the time she's finished talking, you know far less than you did before.

One of the proudest boasts of my life will always be that I reached the sixth tee without murdering Mrs. X. My wife teed off there and hit a splendid ball straight ahead for a grand drive of about ten yards. Then it was my turn—and Mrs. X began her chatter.

"Chin down," she cried. "Remember. Head up. Eyebrows arched. Step back a little. Step forward a little. Don't wrinkle your nose. Shorten your grip. Lengthen your club. Keep the left heel out and the right sole in. And don't forget to follow—"

With a beautiful oath, I swung violently at the ball. There was a strange sound as my club grazed the pill. The ball rolled five or six inches. And, believe it or not, Mrs. X began to laugh.

"Oh, dear," howled the old witch, and I don't mean witch. "That was one of the funniest sounds I've ever heard. You must have struck a pebble."

I felt a sudden draft.

"Pebble, hell, lady," I said violently. "That was my pants."

And I stormed off the course...

"Look, honey," she said, "I know you're sore at the world today. But you really shouldn't let it get you. What if your golf game wasn't so hot? What if it is raining out now? Maybe it will be swell tomorrow.

"And besides, look at the weather they're having in New York. From what I hear, we're mighty lucky to be here. Away from all those blizzards and things."

I saw the light.

"You're right, baby," I agreed. "I should be ashamed of myself. Up in New York they're having nothing but bad weather and taxi strikes and waiters' strikes and the Lord knows what other kind of strikes. And here I am, lucky enough to be on this peaceful and lovely island—and I'm still complaining! I certainly am ashamed of myself.

"Let's forget it. I'm sorry I was sore. Let's go and eat."

We stepped nto the elevator, and the attendant grinned at us. I asked him what was so amusing.

"Well," he returned, "I hope you folks aren't too hungry. The waiters just went on strike."

JUNIOR PATROL

Now we have a real secret code, fellows!

Both the numbers and the letters of the alphabet. And Junior and his gang have "senders," little cricket like snappers to make the long and short dashes.

The code isn't hard to learn, and we are sure that most all our members can learn it pretty quick. Then you can have a good time sending messages back and forth to other members.

You know this is the same kind of code that is used to send messages over wires on the telegraph and to signal with flags from ship to ship or from one hilltop to another.

Besides using snappers you can use flags to wave the signals back and forth. Then, when you go on a hike out in the country some day you can "talk" to each other from a long distance.

Now, here is a letter from Pauline Bell, of Box 242, Grindstone, Pa. She is a captain now, and writes:

"I am writing to you about my armband. My name was in the paper once to send four more pledges in before I could get an armband.

"Now we have 10 members. Our club members and I are making arrangements for the club. We have named our club 'The Busy Bee Junior Patrol.' It will not take place until March 29. You may think we are getting ready too soon but we are not, because we have very much to do."

Fine and dandy, Pauline. Of course, we will send your armband right away, and we are mighty sorry we haven't sent it sooner. It's our mistake all right. Write and tell us what all you have to do before March 29.

David Lee Knepshield, of 317 Lincoln avenue, Leechburg, Pa., writes today that he would like to join the Junior Patrol. He says that if he starts a club when summer comes maybe his dad will take all the fellows for hikes in the country. David hikes with his dad now.

Blast, Fire Damage House, Man Injured

Damage estimated at $1,500 and injury to one man were caused by a gas explosion in a two-story frame house and garage at 25 Carver street early yesterday. Fire followed the blast. Jerry Manfredo suffered burns on both hands.

An adjoining house at 21 Carver street was shaken by the blast, and two automobiles were damaged by flames, which swept a garage attached to the house.

JUNIOR PATROL PLEDGE

I promise to help children less fortunate than I am.
I promise to do my best to make my parents proud of me.
I promise to watch carefully when crossing streets and to aid other children in keeping out of danger.
I promise to study hard and do errands willingly.
I promise to be a 100% Junior Patrol member.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The annual Army supply bill, carrying $69,981,773 less than was provided last year, was reported to the House by its Appropriations Committee.

Despite testimony from high ranking officers to the effect that the Army has been seriously hurt by economy, the committee recommended a total of $279,541,505 and cut the presidential budget estimates slightly.

The full Appropriations Committee, at the last minute, struck out a provision recommended by the sub-committee in charge of the bill, designed to prevent future public works allottments for the Army.

DROP ALIEN FUND

The provision which was recommended as a means of getting the Army budget "back to normalcy," would have prohibited use of funds for any Army officer in connection with PWA work.

The committee also deleted an appropriation of $150,000 for the repatriation of unemployed aliens, who have been employed in the service of the United States government or the Panama Railroad Company on the Isthmus of Panama.

The committee provided funds for an assistant secretary of war for air, a position which has not been filled by this administration.

The action resulted from criticism of the handling of airplane contracts, which now go to the assistant secretary of war, and because of the increased authority given the general staff over aviation.

ALLOT AIR FUND

The measure provides for an Army of 12,000 officers and 118,750 enlisted men.

A total of $25,396,453 was allotted the Army Air Corps which, the committee reported, received a severe setback during the past year because of the economy drive.

The measure carries $35,484,864 for the National Guard, and an increase of from 36 to 42 in armory drills is contemplated. It includes a fund for the training of 14,000 youths in CMT camps.

FIGHTS OFFICER, GETS 60 DAYS

Ambitions to be a traffic policeman brought a fine of $25 or 60 days in the workhouse today to W. C. Donovan, 3622 Mintwood street, in Oakland Police Station.

Magistrate Charles J. McCall passed sentence after Patrolman P. J. Donohue testified at the hearing that Donovan tried to take over his traffic stand at Center and Morewood avenues yesterday afternoon.

According to the policeman, Donovan refused to leave and resisted when Donohue tried to move him. Donohue arrested him for disorderly conduct after his uniform had been torn in the scuffle.

MRS. TALMADGE keeps chickens at the executive mansion. They supply her with eggs.

"Will Gov. Talmadge be re-elected this fall?" asks Mr. Anderson, owner and editor of the Telegraph, of Macon, Ga. Mr. Anderson, who fought Gov. Talmadge at the last election, says that nobody else in the state could get twenty-five thousand votes against him this time.

EDITOR ANDERSON knows interesting Georgia characters. He and some friends crossed a narrow river one time on a boat, a kind of boat that is pulled across with a chain by hand-power.

A woman six feet tall pulled the boat, the men and their automobile across the river, and pulled them back again when they returned two or three hours later. On the return trip Mr. Anderson noticed on the boat a market basket, a newborn baby in it, and asked:

"Whose is it?"

"Mine, of course. I just had it. Having a baby is nothing. This is my fifteenth."

She had washed the baby in the river. Nobody had helped her. And she pulled the boat, men and automobile in it across the river less than three hours after the baby was born.

Marvellous strength was shown in that incident, but it helps to account for the fact that in this "richest nation" there occur, every year, more deaths in childbirth than in any nation on earth calling itself civilized.

WHAT WILL POWER is wasted in crime. From the Crown Point Prison in Indiana, John Dillinger, called "America's arch-desperado," escaped with the aid of a wooden pistol, and his own determination, taking with him another criminal, a Negro named "Youngblood."

Several jailers, overcome by fear of the toy pistol, made real by the look in the eye of the criminal, were all locked in cells by Dillinger, who said, laughing at them:

"I certainly fooled you lugs that time. If you aren't hick cops, I am the chief of police."

Now the hunt will go on with the aid of radio and airplane until the criminal is recaptured.

YOUTH KILLED RIDING ON TRAIN

A Turtle Creek youth is dead and two of his companions are recovering from injuries today, received while riding on a shifting train in the Conway yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad last night, according to a report.

William Melvin, 18, of 1616 Center avenue, Turtle Creek, was killed when a steel shaft in the gondola, in which the boys were hiding, rolled on him.

The others, Donald Greene, 14, of 1101 Airbrake avenue, and William McAllister, 19, of 349 Larimer avenue, Turtle Creek, were slightly injured.

The boys had been missing from their homes since Friday. Police believe they were trying to reach the home of a friend in Detroit.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Accept a substitute. At druggists. © 1936 C. M. Co.

Hello, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Today's mystery—Norman Brady writes:

"Enclosed is a little tin box. Open it. It is a sign of spring."

Uh-uh! Not me. I've seen bees, wasps and grasshoppers. I haven't the nerve to look. Maybe after I eat I will.

* * *

More Johnstown Flood news—Mrs. C. F. Meyer, Derry, has four issues of the Johnstown Weekly published in 1889, containing the articles on the flood and a list of the identified dead.

* * *

Fourteen-year-old Arlin Jones has become a moth fancier by accident. Last fall he found three cocoons and placed them on a shelf in the cellar. Later he placed them on a furnace pipe. Later, again, he noticed them all dried up so he placed them in an old icebox where he keeps his playthings.

Yesterday he had occasion to open the icebox and to his astonishment found the most beautiful moth he had ever seen.

He will display it in a Wilmerding store window.

* * *

George W. McCurdy, Noblestown, defends the starling. Since I have already printed the prosecuting side it is only fair that the defense argument be given.

For eight years on his own property Mr. McCurdy has observed their habits. He says they are not destructive to orchards, nor do they molest other birds or their nests.

On the contrary they have exterminated every kind if insect pest that might have been a source of annoyance to his garden plants, his strawberry patches, and his truck garden.

* * *

Pandoran curiosity overcame me. I opened the tin box mentioned in paragraph one.

A ladybug, still wiggling. Ugh. I wish spring were already here.

Operettas Replacing Opera

Operettas will take the place of vanished culture when the Met operas and the Stokowski recitals fade . . .

* * *

The opera sponsor will go musical comedy, and the soap firm which once employed Virginia Ray has taken over the 10 to 11 p. m. spot Tuesdays at WJZ for operettas, beginning April 3 . . . Nat Shilkret will provide the instrumental music.

* * *

The Marx Brothers opened their oil show series on WJAS last night at 7 o'clock by representing themselves as news commentators, more or less insane . . .

* * *

Evelyn MacGregor, who was just a voice in the chorus, was picked out the other night by Andre Kostelanetz, and given a vocal test . . . Result: She becomes the newest Cinderella of the CBS, and will get a program all her own.

* * *

Ilomay Bailey and Lee Sims will go to Chicago for their commercial series . . .

* * *

I have just discovered why Frank Novak can play so many instruments . . . his father was proprietor of a music store in Chicago . . .

The DeMarco sisters will play a repeat on Rudy Vallee's show Thursday night . . .

* * *

WEE WEEMS

"Dear Sir:

"The photo of 'yours truly' published in the Sun-Telegraph recently has caused a great deal of comment.

"Many of the clippings have been sent to me by radio listeners.

"Thought perhaps the comment of my mother would be interesting to you, as she insists that I am thirty-two, while the story that accompanied the picture said I was forty.

"Please correct either the story or my mother at an early date.

"TED WEEMS."

But where will I find Mrs. Weems?

REMEMBER WHEN MOBS RIOTED IN UNPOLICED BOSTON?

This is a Picture-Story of Dramatic Events, Per[illegible]ities, Beauties, Customs and Fashions Within the Memory of Living Americans

Remember when Boston's policemen went on strike in September, 1919, and mobs ran wild, hoodlums threw bricks through store windows and 10,000 rioted in Scollay Square? Here are National Guardsmen, bayonets fixed, efficiently rounding up the rioters in Scollay Square, and restoring peace to Boston.

Remember when Gov. Calvin Coolidge first came to national prominence by ordering out the National Guard to protect Boston from hoodlums? Here's an inspection of troopers.

Remember when the first subway train ran? Here are New York officials on the inaugural trip on October 27, 1904.

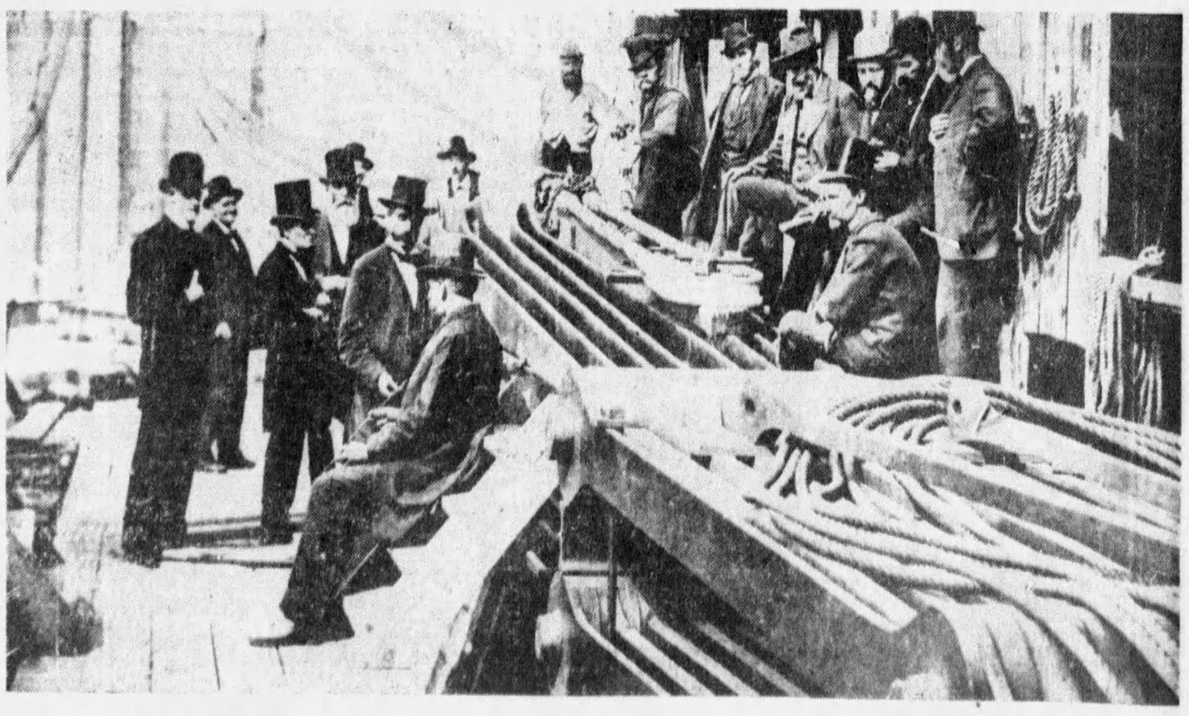
Remember when the U. S. S. Oregon, "Bulldog of the Navy," made her thrilling race around Cape Horn from San Francisco to Santiago to fight the Spanish fleet? She left March 19, 1898, took 75 days, showed need for the Panama Canal.



Remember when the Brooklyn Bridge, still one of the marvels of the world, was built? Pittsburgh's John Roebling was greatly responsible, did much of his work at Saxonburg, Pa. Here are officials inspecting the bridge work in May, 1883.

CHICKIE'S DAUGHTER

By Elenore Meherin

Chickie Encourages Daughter to Have More Friends

CHAPTER IX.

Pippin hung the lovely sapphire dress far back in her closet. She was suddenly all at sea and bitterly depressed. She had never figured men might regard the clothes a girl wore as an invitation. Now scenes from the past year swept burning to her mind.

A night at the Mark, when she stopped to greet Emmie Lawton. Emmie stood with her back to the table, resting on her hands. Pippin thought she looked fetching, casual and luxurious. A man in the party, rather old, perhaps 30 or so, stood at Emmie's side.

He put his hand under her arm. Emmie got red. "Mustn't do that!" she told him. He gave a queer, slow smile and answered: "Why do you advertise, darling, if you don't want customers?"

Another scene—a Halloween party given by some artists in an enormous old house on Nob Hill—the place must have been built half a century ago during the heyday of the Comstock silver lode. All the locks and knobs were of pure silver with great ornate monograms.

The walls were in gorgeous old brocade, but the place was falling to pieces. It was rented at a nominal sum and divided off into apartments by these artists.

All was hilarity, color and convivial joy. Like the picture in the movies—laughter and girls riding down waterfalls. Pippin wanted to sing. Until the middle of the evening when she saw a girl who was piquant and dark like a forest creature sitting on a table in one of the rooms where groups were drinking. The girl's face got whiter and whiter. Her eyes grew enormously big and black. Presently her dress, held at the shoulder with thin straps, slipped down. She made vague, fumbling attempts to shove it back. Her escort—the divorced husband of some writer—picked that time to kiss her.

Dresses in White

Pippin turned hot with shame at the memory. She was not accepting Edward's judgment. But, after all, why DOES a girl wear sexy clothes unless she means them?

She thought fiercely: "I'm glad Bill didn't see me in that dress!"

When she went out with him she wore a white girlish thing, very high, and with little puff sleeves. Helena had selected it.

Pippin wore it twice, then protested:

"It's too young. It reminds me of that silly picture, 'Standing with reluctant feet where the brook and river meet.' Why do you like me in the schoolgirl pose, mother? I'm not the coy maid type."

Now she touched the demure puff sleeves and surveyed herself with wistful uncertainty:

"Am I all right, I wonder!"

Bill regarded her with something like awe. As they danced he whispered:

"You're lovely in white—unearthly. I'm half afraid to touch you."

"Oh, Bill, do you mean it? I want to be lovely—I don't mean to look at, but inside. I want to be better than I am."

"Please don't. You're above me enough as it is. You look as though you might float away. White is for you—" he grinned, "and angels."

Chickie Pleased

For some obscure reason that reinstated her; that freed her from the stain. She was happy again.

Bill was easy and pleasant. It was nice having him around—chummy like when Jon was home. Pippin adored her older brother and missed him deeply. Bill was compensation.

He came in the evenings. They coaxed David from his

Synopsis

Pippin, pretty daughter of Chickie, and Kathie McPike laughingly appeal to Kathie's foster-brother, Kevin Malone, to take them to their first dance. Kevin promises. Then, teased by the two girls because he is eight years older than they, he seizes Pippin and kisses her. Pippin goes home to her mother to secure permission to go to the dance, astonished and thrilled at the first real kiss she had ever known. Given permission, Pippin attends the dance with Kevin and has a glorious time. Chickie thinks her daughter has gone into the strange land of adolescence too soon. Kevin sails to Europe and his first letter thrills Pippin. Pippin meets a handsome young ensign, Bill Lodge, at a ship dance. Edward, Kathie's brother, argues with the two girls about their new backless evening gowns.

Now Go On

POLICE VETS ELECT

The Police Veterans Association met yesterday in the Courthouse, elected five officers and passed a resolution thanking the police pension fund board for the recent increase of the police pensions.

City Detective Thomas Malone and Assistant Superintendent of Police Andrew Charles, retiring president and vice president, respectively, could not succeed themselves under the by-laws of the association.

MAN HURT, SEEK AX WIELDER

Alleged to have hacked a fellow roomer with an ax, Mike Schulli, 60, of 41½ Boundary street, was sought by police today as the victim lay in Montefiore Hospital with a possible skull fracture.

Henry Ditano, 42, said he went to his bedroom at midnight and asked Schulli, lying in bed, to "move over," according to police. The latter answered his request by jumping from his bed, racing to the cellar and returning with the ax, Ditano told police.

Schulli then struck him on the head, he claimed, and nearly severed one of his fingers with the ax when he raised his hand to protect himself against Schulli's assault, according to police.

Child Eyesight Clinic Arranged

Dr. A. M. Skeffington, of Chicago, will be the principal speaker at a graduate clinic on the study and correction of children's eyes, under auspices of the Pennsylvania Optometric Association Extension Program, in the William Penn Hotel Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. He is a director of the Graduate Clinic Foundation of Optometry, Chicago.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SANTA MONICA, Cal., March 5.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Funniest thing I ever read about a coronation was that one over in Manchuria. It seems that they would have had it sooner, but Japan had to wait till they could get an armored carriage to haul him there. That shows what you call being emperor by popular demand.

Will Rogers

Did you know that we got 10 dry states, 11 part dry and the other 27 can have anything they want, the same as other 21 do.

Chile is selling nitrates, Europe is fertilizing again. Yours,

SPELLING BEE RULES GIVEN FOR COUNTY

Adults to Compete; Students, Teachers Are Barred

Preliminary rules and plans for Allegheny's County's old-fashioned spelling bee, sponsored by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, were announced today.

Dr. C. E. Dickey, county school superintendent, who is in charge of the contest, announced the following rules:

1—Participants shall be adults not now in school or college as students or teachers.

2—The spelling shall be oral.

3—Words shall be repeated or defined at the request of the contestants.

4—Webster's new International Dictionary shall be considered authority.

5—Three disinterested persons shall act as judges and their decision shall be final. The judges shall act as final authority upon the pronunciation of the words used in the contest.

6—The pronouncer shall be chosen by the conductor and shall have general control of the contest while in session.

7—The conductor shall be the principal or superintendent of schools or some one chosen by him. He shall select the list of words and have general management and control of the arrangements of the contest.

DISTRICT CONTESTS

Each of the 118 school districts in the county may hold a spelling bee to select a representative not later than Saturday, March 17, according to Dr. Dickey. A "runner-up" should be chosen as alternate.

The final county contest will be held in Pittsburgh between March 19 to 24 to select a representative and alternate for the state competition.

The state finals will be held in the forum of the State Education Building in Harrisburg, Wednesday, April 4.

The Sun-Telegraph will pay the expenses of the county winner and also the alternate to the state finals.

CONTEST STATE-WIDE

The old-fashioned spelling bees are being held throughout Pennsylvania by the Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg. They are in connection with its program for the centennial celebration of the public school act.

In letters mailed Saturday to school principals in the 118 districts coming under his jurisdiction, Dr. Dickey said:

"We believe this is a worthwhile project at this time. You may have a number of suggestions for featuring this idea, such as an old-fashioned singing school, arrangement and decoration of the stage or room, dress of judges, etc.

"We have been urged by the department to secure the cooperation of all school superintendents and school officials in this project."

Watch tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph for more details of the county spelling bee.

Juniors to Join In Aid to Refugees

Representatives of 27 organizations of Jewish young people will form a junior division of the joint distribution committee to aid in helping refugees from Germany at a meeting in the home of Lois Hollander, chairman, of 5436 Albermarle street, tomorrow night.

The joint distribution committee came into existence 20 years ago. Members of the advisory committee to the juniors are Mrs. Karl J. Kaufmann, Mrs. Saul Lavine, Rabbi B. Benedict Glazer and Leo Lehman. The executive is compose of Jane Metzger, Flora Rothenberg, Stanley Goldman, Robert Baer and Harold Seder.

Coal Research Men To Speak at Dinner

Dr. H. C. Howard and Bernard Juettner, of the Coal Research Laboratory of Carnegie Tech, will speak at a dinner of the Pittsburgh Coal Research Club in the Bureau of Mines Building at 6:30 p. m. today. They will discuss the results of their laboratory research.

Lodge Fete Intruders Ousted, Purses Vanish

After ejecting four well-dressed men from their entertainment in Lithuanian Hall, 142 Orr street, last night, members of a Lithuanian organization learned that a like number of wallets was missing from the pockets of those present, with a loss of $33, they reported to police.

The men were asked to leave when it was discovered they were non-members.

An armed Negro fled from the Harry Fowler drug store, 2540 Wylie avenue, late yesterday with $35 from the cash register. James Anderson, clerk, threw a pop bottle at him as he fled, police reported.

George Meyer, 13 Sprain street, was robbed of 45 cents by three Negroes as he was watching the rise of the Allegheny River near Tenth street, he reported to police.

While walking in Webster avenue, near Congress street, early today, Michael J. McCoy, 230 Jucunda street, was held up and robbed of $2 and a $30 watch.

Bert Fox, 506 Kirkpatrick street, reported to police the theft of a baby carriage from the front porch of his home. Inside the carriage was a purse containing $20, he said.

County Spending Over $27,000 a Year to Keep 12-Man Troop of Mounted Police on Park Duty

Horses, Cottages Furnished for 'Recruits'

Allegheny County is spending more than $27,000 a year on a 12-man mounted park patrol patterned after the Royal Canadian Northwest Mounted Police.

In addition to that, the county spent $14,000 on horses, 12 log cottages and equipment for the men who were enlisted into the troop last June and have been in "training school" ever since.

This half of the story comes from the records in the office of Ray Sprigle, county director of supplies. But the story of how the new organization has been whipped into shape from a group of men who hadn't ridden horses for years into a crack riding patrol comes from Sergt. U. S. Madden, their officer and instructor.

ON 24-HOUR DUTY.

In the absence from the city of Col. C. C. McGovern, who sponsored the troop, no official explanation of its existence could be given, but Sprigle pointed out that there are 5,000 acres of county parks to be policed, that 2,000,000 persons used the parks last year and that the troop can also be used to handle crowds at the City-County Airport on exhibition days.

Reminded that the county previously employed only six park police and used eight horses, Sprigle said that was not enough to protect the property and that several cases of trees being stolen from the park and damage being done to county buildings had escaped them.

The 12 men are on 24-hour duty throughout the year, although the parks are practically unused except for skating, during four or five months of that time. Six are stationed in each park.

COTTAGES PROVIDED

Besides, their salaries, they are all provided with cottages and $40 yearly allowance for uniforms and equipment, according to the budget figures. Their gas heat has been paid for by the county.

"You can't make a policeman in a day, nor a real horseman either. These men spend about three hours a day in equitation and then attend lectures by Chief W. E. Rucker of the county police.

"They are instructed in fish and game laws and legal details so that any one of them can handle a case from the arrest until it reached the district attorney.

"It would be dangerous to the public to have inexperienced horsemen patrolling the parks. For that reason we are training our men to jump and handle their horses under all circumstances. Right now I'd match them against any famous cavalry troop in Europe."

PLEASED AT RESULTS

Four of the patrol recruits were former members of Col McGovern's H Troop cavalry organization before the World War. Sergt. Madden, besides serving with the U. S. Cavalry, has been an investigator with the U. S. Department of Criminal Investigation and the Pennsylvania State Police.

The patrol has been active since its organization, according to Madden. Its members have recovered stolen cars, captured robbers and served 19 days at the Clairton strike, patrolling the county highway in front of the steel company, he said.

In his opinion, the county got a bargain when it paid $165 apiece for 12 horses for the troopers, because all of the horses are from government thoroughbred stock and are between three and four years old.

During February, he reported, the men covered 1,581 miles by horse, 2,186 miles by automobile and 1,721 miles on foot in the course of their patrol duties, in addition to their training work.

Pleased by his men's performance at their first public exhibition February 22 in the Agricultural Hall at South Park, Madden said they were going to ride next Wednesday night at an exhibition being staged by the Civilian Conservation Corps at South Park.

VOICES STAND WITH FEW 'STRINGS'

Leaves It to Council, And That Body Can't Act

Mayor William N. McNair today offered to match any salary cut Councilman William A. Magee may propose. He even offered to go further—to the point of an additional 5 or 10 per cent slice above $12,000.

But he tied a string to the offer—he stipulated that all action toward that end would be Council's affair—and Council, by law, can't do anything about it.

The Mayor voiced his "stand" when asked what he thought of Magee's statement urging a voluntary reduction of salaries of Councilmen, the Mayor, and all other city employes except laborers and those affected by furloughs and the like.

FOR GOOD MEASURE

He said:

"I'll match Magee's cut and take a little more for good measure. But it's got to be in the form of an ordinance. If he appropriates a certain amount for my salary I'll take it, whether he short-changes me or not.

"If he cuts my salary to $14,000, I'll voluntarily take another 10 per cent; if he cuts it to $13,000, I'll only take a five per cent cut. If he cuts it to $12,000, I won't take any further reduction.

"This will give him a little mathematics to work on. He's such a municipal expert."

MUST VOLUNTEER

The Mayor's salary is $15,000. Before inauguration he offered to let Council cut it to $10,000—a gesture which was refused by that body with a verbal reminder that it didn't have the power to cut the salary of the city's chief executive. McNair must volunteer the cut in the form of a rebate—and he prudently refuses to do that.

Recommendations of Mrs. R. Templeton Smith and M. C. Conick for curtailment in city expenditures are not applicable, as a whole, at least for the current year, and if adopted by Council would leave the budget in the same shape in which the outgoing Council left it, Magee declared.

An analysis of the recommendations of Mrs. Smith and Conick indicates that the $750,000 item of sinking fund conversion is illegal; only one-half, or $150,000 of the South Pittsburgh Water Company rate, and none of the $100,000 item proposed in the street lighting contract could be made effective this year, the statement said.

Thus $1,000,000 of the proposals are not applicable at least for the coming year, it continued, and the recommendations of the directors of the departments reduce the other $800,000 in proposed reductions to $450,000.

The statement continues:

REVENUE DELAY SEEN

"The outgoing Council left an estimated balance of $2,100,000. Since then a revision of the estimates of the Board of Assessors, it is claimed, indicates a higher total assessment, justifying higher estimated revenues to the extent of $600,000 and thus reduces the estimated deficiency for 1934 to $1,500,000.

"In addition to that, the Kane tax bills are to be calculated as revenue to the extent of about $600,000. While Council would be legally justified in including these two $600,000 items of revenue, nevertheless there is little ground to believe that those sums will be received this year.

"But, even though this revenue would be received, the budget would be still unbalanced to the extent of about $500,000.

AUTO CURB URGED

"An item that should be given consideration is the elimination of all passenger automobiles except those used exclusively for all-day departmental service. All personal unofficial use should be forbidden.

"The city dealt with this subject in 1923. It was found at that time that the average cost per car was $2,851. The total expense of all the cars of the class that I am describing was $88,000. This expense was reduced to about $22,000 by substituting taxicab service.

"It has been discovered that the miners at Mayview are paid far in excess of the United Mine Workers wage scale in District No. 5; a saving of about $10,000 can be affected there."

350 Men to Work On Pennsy Orders

Orders for $300,000 worth of materials, received by the Pressed Steel Car Company from the Pennsylvania Railroad, will mean 27,517 eight-hour working days of employment for 350 men, Walter A. Bonitz, one of the receivers, said today.

Practically all of the money will be spent in Pittsburgh and vicinity and should stimulate purchasing power, he said. The orders resulted from the PWA loans for extensive improvements on the railroad.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Happenings

Newest recruits to popular Palm Springs, Cal., are Mrs. F. W. Edmondson and her daughters, Martha and Eleanor, who are at Desert Inn.

At the same hotel are the William A. Irvins, the George W. Crawfords and their baby daughter and Mrs. Crawford's mother, Mrs. Robert N. Warmack, and the A. L. Humphreys.

Mary Louise Mitchell To Wed in New York

At least four weddings of note are to grace March, and several garden exhibits and a Good Friday shoot and that's quite enough for the social set to get excited about for a while.

The first wedding is scheduled for Wednesday, in New York, at the romantic Little Church Around the Corner. The bride will be Mary Louise Mitchell, daughter of Mrs. Lou Mitchell, of Marlboro street, and she will marry Richard Miles Dewhurst, Jr., son of Mrs. Margaret Hay Dewhurst, of South Aiken avenue.

Two Weddings Listed For St. Patrick's Day

And on March 17 there will be two weddings—one in Milton, Mass., when Elizabeth McGinley, daughter of Mrs. Holden McGinley, of Milton, and of Thomas Atterbury McGinley, of Sewickley Heights, will be the bride of Richard Borden, of Fall River, Mass.

The other will be here in Pittsburgh, at the home of the junior Robert Joseph Coyles, of Beacon street. Their son, Robert Joseph Coyle III, and Virginia Emogene Lee, daughter of the James E. Lees, of Hagerstown, Md., will be married that day.

On Saturday, March 10, Jean Lewis, daughter of Charles Hepburn Lewis, of Oakmont, will wed Samuel Showalter Mossman, of Quincy, Mass., son of the William Templeton Mossmans, of Mt. Lebanon. That wedding will take place in Quincy.

Good Friday Shoot At Rolling Rock

The Good Friday shoot, March 30, will be at Rolling Rock. The garden exhibits, to be held at Carnegie Institute, sponsored by the various garden clubs, are scheduled for Thursday, and for March 15, March 18, 19, 22, 26 and 29.

Add travel news—The junior A. H. Bleckleys, of Pittsburgh, are in St. Petersburg, Fla., where they joined their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bleckley, of Kingston, at the Vinoy Park Hotel.

University Speaker Just Back From Study of German Revolution

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

Dr. Esther Caukin Brunauer, secretary of the international relations committee of the American Association of University Women, who is to address the international relations luncheon of Pittsburgh branch on Saturday, returned in January from Germany, where she had been doing special research work on the revolution.

Dr. Brunauer was received by Hitler while she was studying under a fellowship of the Oberlaender trust of the Karl Schurz Memorial Foundation.

A graduate of Mills College, California, Dr. Brunauer received her Ph.D. from Leland Stanford University, where she held the Margaret Maltby scholarship of the A.A.U.W., doing her thesis and research in the Hoover War Library on "Peace Proposals of Germany and Austria-Hungary from 1914 to 1918."

Dr. Brunauer attended the opening of Crosby Hall in London and stayed at Reid Hall in Paris, two of the international homes maintained by the A.A.U.W. Later she studied at the Geneva School of International Studies and the Institute of International Relations of the non-partisan association of the League of Nations and the British League of Nations Association.

She met women from more than 30 countries when she was sent as a delegate to the International Federation of University Women's conference in Madrid in 1928. In 1930 she attended the council meeting of the federation in Prague and it was to attend the conference on the cause and cure of war that she returned to this country.

Members of other organizations have been asked to attend the luncheon in the Hotel Schenley Saturday.

LINGERIE HIGHLIGHTS TO GO WITH THE DARK FROCKS

By PRUNELLA WOOD

FIRST CHOICE for a bandbox appearance with most women who have come through a long winter is a dark frock with lingerie touches. Last year it was the man-tailored, crisp, opaque doodads which spelled that touch. This year we have gone to Hollywood for many of its versions, borrowing the frills and refinements of such girls as Jo and Meg, Queen Christina and Mary, Queen of Scots. Also, we have remembered the charms of the gossamer batiste or linen blouse which was such a feminine wow before the war, and which is no less becoming for its long, forgotten slumber.

* * *

FLOUTING THE ultra-careful years of the immediate past, moreover, we don't seem to care a fig when these lingerie accents (which are horrid unless they are quite, quite fresh) are sewed firmly into the design of our frocks, instead of being budgetly detachable. We have come a long way lately, and this may be one of the more subtle straws on the wind.

Accessories for frocks that come within this genre are interesting this year, for they strike new notes. The fastenings of the lingerie blouse sketched at the right below, for instance, are big ornaments of crystal and rhinestone, very lush and unexpected on such soft fabric. And the metal devices used on the other two frocks pictured are not at all the kind of thing one would expect on cotton or linen-trimmed models.

* * *

WHITE GLOVES ARE, of course, the final touch to such costumes, and for bags, patent leather which makes either a gown or its lingerie trimming is considered very gleaming and springlike. A nosegay of flowers which may be real or phoney often gives just the proper lilt to your dark frock with its washable trimmings, and bracelets look very well with them. Scarfs are just that much too much, and wearing them is a mistake frequently committed which is guaranteed to put the sartorial thumb down on the smartest frock of this sort obtainable.

The proper shoes for these simple yet not at all knockabout dresses are those delicate kidskin or patent leather much detailed numbers which conceal sterling wearing qualities under their prettiness.

Note the Bernhard "scoop" on the straw and horsehair hat.

A all-day joy, this coat and frock ensemble of thin black wool woven with a shiny stripe in it. The white touches are pleated pique; the belt is patent leather. The full, loose coat is collarless, and its sleeves are three-quarter length.

The lingerie touch in this ribbed crepe model is the entire blouse, which is white mousseline with a shadow stripe. It snaps to the skirt handily, keeping it in place beneath the tie-belt jacket with its fin-shoulder pleats. The frilled collar and jabot is of the mousseline richly inserted with fine white lace.

White Sulphur Season to be Active

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., — Easter season at the Greenbrier promises to be one of much activity. On March 31, the first annual flower show will be held on the Colonial floor, continuing through Easter week. The Old White Art Gallery will be used for a display of work in landscape architecture. Students from Harvard, Cornell, Ohio State University and University of Illinois will participate in the exhibitions. The Federated Garden Clubs of West Virginia, the 4-H Clubs of the State, and the Clubs of Greenbrier County will also have exhibitions.

Following Easter week, polo will take a prominent place among the sports activities, with many games scheduled between visitors from Pittsburgh, Detroit, Cleveland, Columbus and many of the Virginia teams, notably the Middleburg Club, and the White Sulphur team.

The Casino, sports rendezvous for society's notables, will open for the season on Easter Saturday, with a luncheon, followed by the usual tea dance at 4. The three golf courses (two of 18 holes and one of nine holes) will be in play for the season.

On April 9, the Mason and Dixon golf tournament for men will take place.

RUSHMORE TEXT DRIVE SPEEDED

Patriotic Society Opens Campaign For Inscription

By KENNETH M. ELLIS

With enthusiasm expressed throughout the length and breadth of the country, national patriotic societies yesterday joined the competition inaugurated by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and associated Hearst newspapers to set America to writing its own 600-word epic!

The National Society of Colonial Descendants of America instituted its own campaign to get from its membership a text for the use of the Mount Rushmore National Memorial Commission in determining the final inscription to be carved by Gutzon Borglum on the western slope of Mount Rushmore.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Henri-Fischer, of 333 Central Park West, New York City, president-general of the society, resolutions commending the competition and undertaking an auxiliary campaign were passed by the parent body.

OTHERS TO FOLLOW

Dozen of other national organizations have announced plans to follow suit. Under the plan of the Colonial Descendants, each chapter of the society will appoint its own judging committee, which will pass on inscription texts summitted by its members, sending the best of them to the local committee in charge of the competition.

Mrs. Henri-Fischer said yesterday:

"The Society of Colonial Descendants believes the Mount Rushmore National Memorial is a project that will awaken deep and widespread interest among patriotic organizations in every part of the country."

WRITERS ADD PRAISE

Comment and praise from great writers, poets and civic leaders continued yesterday to pour in on the Hearst newspapers. Gertrude Atherton, Stewart Edward White, Fannie Hurst, Haig Patigian, noted sculptor, and Edgar Walter, also internationally known sculptor, were among those who indicated their approval of the search for the enduring word, to carry to posterity the message of America's greatness.

Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, of New York State, said:

"It seems to me particularly fitting that such an inscription should come from the people themselves. If an epic of America is to be created, I have always thought it would arise spontaneously from just such a source."

Inquiries are beginning to pour in from all parts of the country asking:

"What do we have to do to write our texts?"

INFORMATION PUBLISHED

The Sun-Telegraph will carry every day during the competition information you will want. The rules, the prizes, the subject matter of the inscription, historical sidelights to enable you to better determine what you want to write—all these will be carried in part in every issue of the Sun-Telegraph. Be sure to read it every day.

Gutzon Borglum, world famous sculptor, whose trained imagination is guiding the building of the great memorial—carving the colossal 450-foot figures of Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson and Theodore Roosevelt in Dakota's Black Hills, declared yesterday:

"I am fired with fresh enthusiasm at the tremendous approbation of this competition. I have my ear to the prairies—to Louisiana—to my beloved Texas—to every part of the country—listening for the pen scratch that may be just the text for which we are so earnestly seeking."

N. Y. GROUP ORGANIZE

In New York the local committee was completed, with Dr. George J. Ryan, president of the Board of Education, acting as chairman; Mrs. Russell Evan Tucker, president of the Daughters of the Cincinnati, the auxiliary of the patriotic organization of which George Washington himself was a founder, and Mrs. Oliver Harriman, noted civic leader, as outstanding members.

Others included the professors of history of Columbia University, Manhattan College, the president of Hunter College and other prominent educators.

The periods to be covered by the 600-word inscription include the Declaration of American Independence, the making of the Constitution, the purchase of Louisiana Territory, the ceding of the Floridas to the United States, the acquisition of California, the entry of Texas, the purchase of Alaska, the settlement of the Oregon boundary dispute and the cutting of the Panama Canal.

SIMPLE WRITING WANTED

Just give each of these periods some real, earnest thought. Then determine what the significance of each was in the development of America's progress, then write, briefly and simply—and as beautifully as you can, your thought about it. Then read it over. Ask yourself:

"If I read that long after the cities around me are dust—would I understand it? And would it make me say to myself—'I wish I had been one of those men!'"

If it satisfies you, mail it to the Pittsburgh committee in care of the Sun-Telegraph unless you are a school boy or girl—or a college student. There are special rules for student entries, as you will see by reading the rules as published in the Sun-Telegraph.

Someone is going to express the immortal spirit of America!

It may be you!

Mission Society Will Exhibit Jap Costumes

An authentic presentation of some of Japan's delightful customs is being made this afternoon and tonight in the Second Presbyterian Church, Wilkinsburg, under auspices of the Women's Missionary Society. Costumes, music, legends, decorations and everything else connected with the presentation are authentic, having been arranged by Miss Rose M. Russell.

Lovely lotus, peony, iris, plum, cherry, chrysanthemums, maple, pine and wisteria blossoms used in the decorations will be sold at the conclusion of the evening program. There will also be an exhibit of Japanese art objects.

On the varied and unusual program are Miss Russell, Mrs. C. R. Beall, Peggy Jane Cole, Jane MacMullen, Mrs. W. F. Keller, Betty Jean Smith, Jean Chapin, Mary Louise Baker, Marion Gayle Lilly, Miss Margaret Holliday, Mrs. Paul Craig, Mrs. S. B. Ingram, Mrs. C. R. Fay and Mrs. Ralph Buterbaugh.

Mrs. Alvin Wilt Hostess For West View Forum

The West View Forum will meet Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Alvin Witt, Amherst avenue. Miss Ann R. Hasley will speak on "Switzerland," the theme for the evening. Mrs. Harry Smith is to be assistant hostess.

Through the Spyglass

Viewing The New

You little shoppers who want to learn the names of the shops whose items are listed in this column day by day . . . call GRANT 6500 . . . and ASK FOR THE SPYGLASS. Or send in a stamped self-addressed envelope for your reply. THE SPYGLASS is always on the alert, peering out new "finds" . . . and you will be answered promptly.

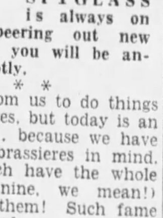
* * *

Far be it from us to do things in half-measures, but today is an exception . . . because we have the new half-brassieres in mind. T' ones which have the whole country (feminine, we mean!) talking about them! Such fame must be deserved . . . and hence we investigated. To find that . . .

They are dainty little half moons of crepe strung together via elastic bands . . . almost phantom brassieres in their abbreviatedness . . . but they do the trick. Fit just under the lower part of your wayward frontage, lifting and steadying just enough to give you all the these-thems-and-those look which is so essential in the new clothes. $1.00.

* * *

Boucles, little ones, boucles! And for only $5.95! Make haste to the nearest mode of conveyance and gallop townwards! For here are boucles two-piecers in all the new shades . . . with frilly bits of jabots, rosettes, bows and what have you making them spruce and gay! Shades such as seablue and tomato-bisque (reminiscent of soup, but only in name!) New three-quarter sleeves such as you want. And sizes for each and every . . . 14 to 20.



* * *

Have you a little Rip Van Winkle in your home? Possibly not . . . but you CAN have one of his gnomes if you'd like. To use as a door stop . . . to set beside the fireplace . . . and to put out in the shrubs or the garden as soon as nice weather starts!

These are fat, roly-poly little men with all the gnomishness of a real gnome . . . wearing little caps . . . poking out their fat tummies . . . and doing many things from carrying a fishing rod to smoking a pipe! $1.25. Brightly painted and lacquered . . . guaranteed against wear for one year. (Also other forms . . . frogs, toadstools, and storks—especially good for gardens-to-be!)

* * *

Now we sing a "yo-ho-ho" . . . and grasp one of the new bottle holders! These come in several sizes . . . are silver plated . . . have a place for a monogram (engraved free) . . . and certainly dress up the table. To fit over the base and partway up the sides of ginger ale bottles, tobasco sauce bottles, ketchup bottles, and others! $1.00—$1.50—$2.00.

* * *

Someone had a bright thought. Realizing that seersucker is far too goodlooking and practical a sport fabric to have its light hidden under any bushel, they up and out with this new idea.

With result . . . that NOW you can get yourself neat, natty little seersucker frocks complete with a naughty little hat to plop on one side of your cranium . . . and gauntlet cuffs to match, to sew onto the wrist of some otherwise plain and unexciting wash gloves! And there you are . . . ready to go here, there and all 'round the town! $4.95 for this whole costume . . . or $3.95 minus the hat and gauntlet cuffs. 14 to 20.

* * *

NOTE: For nosey folks like you and us! Some perfectly hot-socking string sweater blouses are roosting comfortably on certain shelves. All the pastel shades . . . white . . . and a natural that will flatten you out with its swank! Two-tone combinations . . . plain . . . sizes for women and misses. $1.69. Gather ye such values while ye may!

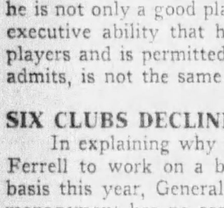
HEIDELBERG REACHES WESTERN AMATEUR CUP FINAL

JAMES J. LONG'S SPORTS COMMENT

French Must Go Slowly.
Danger of Overtraining.
No Second McGraw Seen.
Ferrell Reckoned Gamble.
Johnson Ranks Heavies.
Fitz Given First Place.

Larry French having kept himself in such good condition during the winter that he was only one pound overweight when he took his first workout Saturday, it will now be Manager George Gibson's job, and an important one, to keep the southpaw ace from overdoing things in spring training. In previous years there was no cause for worry on that score. French usually had so much excess beef to take off that it was safe to give him free rein. But when he is so close to his normal pitching poundage, care will have to be exercised to keep him within bounds during the conditioning period, as Larry is such an enthusiastic worker when he gets on a ball field that he might easily weaken himself by removing too much weight.



Larry French

Overweight in the early spring never bothered French. He always managed to work it off and be ready at the bell. Last year he timed himself so well that he was able to win four of his first five games. Two of the four victories were shutouts and in another he allowed only two runs. In one game he gave only three hits, in another four, and in another six. To be in similar shape for the hop-off of 1934 he now faces a problem just the opposite—to refrain from doing too much work in camp. A baseball season lasts five and a half months and it is not good policy for a hard worker like French to be ground down too finely at the start.

M'GRAW'S TYPE MAY HAVE DIED WITH HIM

The rare managerial type represented by the late John J. McGraw, combining the qualities of a dynamic, fighting leader, a colorful showman and a master strategist, may have died with the famous Oriole and Giant figure. Certainly there is no possible successor in sight at present to continue his line. Surveying the two major fields, big league magnates, as well as players and fans, admit they cannot find any suggestion of a second McGraw or any sign that the future will produce one.

President Emil E. Fuchs, of the Braves, is one of the club owners to declare that there is no manager in the majors who can be labeled another McGraw. He sees Rogers Hornsby and Bill Terry as the nearest approaches to the late leader in traits. Hornsby, Fuchs believes, is the most dynamic and outspoken of the current pilots, a manager who never would hold back a single word of a call-down due a player merely because that player was an established star or a public favorite. And Terry, in the opinion of the Brave owner, resembles McGraw in that he is not only a good player and real manager, but has so much executive ability that he is entrusted with the signing of his players and is permitted to fix their salaries. But Terry, Fuchs admits, is not the same fiery, aggresive handler of men.

SIX CLUBS DECLINE TO TAKE FERRELL

In explaining why the Cleveland club wants Pitcher Wes Ferrell to work on a bonus plan instead of a straight salary basis this year, General Manager Billy Evans says the Indian management has no assurance that the hurler's arm is in good condition. Obviously, he adds, six other clubs in the American League do not believe it is in winning shape, disclosing that Cleveland offered Ferrell to each of those six clubs in a trade and all of them turned down the proposal, saying they were not interested.

Wes Ferrell

Ferrell remains firm in his holdout. He has returned unsigned a second contract, which was precisely like the first, saying he would refuse to sign until the Cleveland club made him a better offer. Evans insists that the club has been fair in tendering the right-hander $5,000 as the basis of a bonus plan, the contract calling for $500 additional for each game won from 10 to 15, and $550 extra for each victory in excess of 15.

JOHNSON RATES FITZ BEST HEAVYWEIGHT

Modestly omitting himself from the list, Jack Johnson, when asked to name and rank the best 12 heavyweight fighters of all time, rated them in this order: First, Bob Fitzsimmons; second, Jim Jeffries; third, Peter Jackson; fourth, Jim Corbett; fifth, Sam Langford; sixth, Sam McVey; seventh, Joe Jeannette; eighth, John L. Sullivan; ninth, Philadelphia Jack O'Brien; tenth, Tom Sharkey; eleventh, Gene Tunney, and twelfth, Jack Dempsey. Surprise was expressed at the low rating given to Dempsey, with 11 others ranked ahead of him, but Johnson said that was his opinion and stuck to it.

Explaining why he ranked Fitzsimmons as the greatest of them all, Johnson said there never was another heavyweight like Fitz and added that there never will be another. Jack remarked that Fitz met every test of the ring; he met the test of weight, boxing and slugging; they all looked alike to him; he gave away weight, 40 to 50 pounds in a match; he outboxed boxers and he outslugged sluggers, and he kept on fighting until he was 52 years old.

SULLIVAN JUST ROUGH, TOUGH AND GAME

Asked why he put Sullivan no higher than eighth, Johnson said John L. was a tradition; that he wasn't anything more than a rough, tough and big game fellow and didn't know anything about boxing, as he proved in his fight with Corbett, bewildered when Corbett feinted and fooled by every boxing trick that Corbett uncovered. Johnson opined that Sullivan could not have gone far with any good heavyweight from Corbett on. He admitted that John L. was a powerful man and could hit, but expressed the view that Sullivan could not have put a glove on any of the good modern fighters we have known.

Jack Johnson

While Johnson picked a white man, Fitzsimmons, as the greatest of all time, the late Jim Corbett always gave the No. 1 place to a Negro, Peter Jackson, who could box as well as Corbett and hit much harder, and who fought Corbett to a 61-round draw when he had the use of only one hand. Corbett ranked Sullivan as a man of magnificent physique and considerable speed for a slugger, with a ferocious fighting spirit and a punch as terrific as any man ever delivered. Of Jeffries, Corbett said he never would have been champion if he had not owned a natural left hand; that if he had been a natural right-hander his progress would have been speedily stopped. Fitz, Corbett used to say, was a man of herculean strength from the waist up, with the rare ability to hit accurately and with tremendous force from any angle, either at long range or close in. And Jackson—there, Corbett insisted, was the champion of champions, but never crowned "because Sullivan wouldn't fight him."

Three members of the Pirates' pitching staff and club executives sunning themselves on the steps of the Hot Springs Hotel at Paso Robles, Cal., while waiting for Manager Gibson to start spring training. Activities on the coast will get under way in full blast next Thursday when the second squad reaches California. The second squad left Pittsburgh this morning and will traverse the same northern route taken by the vanguard. All hands were gladdened by the signing of Pitcher Larry French, who had been an important holdout. These are International News Photograph Service pictures.

BUCS RESUME HARD TRAINING AT CAMP

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 5.—Having taken due advantage of the partial holiday granted them yesterday by Manager George Gibson, the batterymen of the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League prepared today to open the first full week of their annual spring training campaign here.

The leg muscles of the Buccaneer pitchers and catchers are beginning to feel the effects of the hard work on the field, but so far, not a sore arm has developed. The more veteran of the flingers are taking special pains with their throwing, and so far, none of the boys have cut loose with any fast ones. Boss Gibson is well pleased with the showing made by his charges so far.

FRENCH IN FOLD

The Pirate officials, President Benswanger and Manager Gibson, were tickled to have Larry French, star southpaw in the fold, especially after Larry had hinted that he and the Buccos might wind up in enstranged circumstances due to the terms offered him for the year. Larry signed in camp on Saturday and took part in yesterday's single workout, a two-hour morning session.

In the afternoon, the players divided their attentions. Some motored to the ocean and others took in various points of interest of the locality. Honus Wagner went fishing with his close friend, Jim Cousins, of Paso Robles. Manager Gibson, Otis Crandall and some of the others drove to Morro Rock, a celebrated landmark of the Pacific.

It was announced yesterday that the Corsairs' exhibition campaign would get under way next Sunday with a game here with the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League.

SECOND PARTY OFF

Floyd Young, infielder, and Larry Collier, of the Pirate business staff, made up the second contingent of Buccos which left here for the training camp at Paso Robles today. They will be joined in Chicago tonight by Scout Bill Hinchman, Tommy Thevenow, Fred Lindstrom and Nick Etten, a recruit outfielder.

The Waner boys and Wally Roettger will join the party in Omaha tomorrow.

I. C. 4-A. MEET ON TONIGHT

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP.)—The indoor track and field whirl reaches its climax so far as college athletes are concerned tonight in the thirteenth annual Intercollegiate A. A. A. A. championships.

Twenty-nine colleges, mostly in the East, have nominated athletes for the meet which will be held in Madison Square Garden and under the metric system for the first time in history.

Pitt is to be represented by three athletes—Ken Wagenhouser in the mile, Bill Albright in the two-mile, and Arvel Fleming in the 60-meter sprint and broad jump.

TOMORROW: THE SINGLE PLATE.

By TOM BIRKS

The Heidelberg Soccer Club today is celebrating its fourth entrance into the western final of the national amateur cup competition. By virtue of a thrilling 3-to-0 triumph over the Cleveland Indians yesterday in a game played on a muddy and treacherous gridiron at Greenlee Field, the Heidelberg eleven, twice national champion, won the right to meet either the Cincinnati Kickers or the Chicago Slovaks in the final round. The Kickers and Slovaks clash at Cincinnati next Sunday.

It had been announced that this particular game was the western final, but evidently someone had forgotten the fact that the Cincinnati club was still in the tourney and had to play Chicago. It may develop that the game will be played here, because the final will be played in Philadelphia again this year.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS

A large crowd basked in the sun to watch the Green and Gold-clad local aggregation outplay, outscore and outlast the Indians on a field that was ankle deep in mud. Heidelberg took the offensive right from the start and Urbanic took the first shot to hit the cross bar after one minute of play.

Fifteen minutes had elapsed, however, before the Indians' citadel fell. Larry Dolinar crossed in front of goal after tangling up the Cleveland defense and Ray Barrett smashed the ball over the goal line.

The Indians exhibited some great footwork, but could not pentrate the Bobish-Kuten defense. Sweeping down the field, Heidelberg went further ahead when Johnny McCosky feinted Sommers out of position and then sent the ball into the corner of the net. That accounted for the scoring in the first half.

LOCAL TEAM BRILLIANT

Heidelberg came back in the second period to monopolize the game. The Cleveland halfbacks could not get working, and McCosky, together with Dolinar, engineered some bewildering movements that completely twisted the Indians' defense. From one of these sorties, Dolinar scored a brilliant goal.

The entire Heidelberg team, especially McCosky and Dolinar, was brilliant. The Indians had a good front line, but the defense was weak. Referee Dave Evans of Detroit, turned in a perfect game. The lineup:

Heidelberg—3.		Cleveland—0
Ramos	G	Sommers
M. Kuten	R. B.	Lewis
Bobish	L. B.	Hadavich
Palka	R. H.	Stachy
Pawlic	C. H.	Hogye
A. Urbanic	L. H.	Lubin
Dolinar	O. R.	Seman
S. Urbanic	I. R.	Balogh
S. Kuten	C.	Hriz
McCosky	I. L.	Stady
Barrett	O. L.	Fisher

GALLATIN, DUNLEVY TIE

Gallatin Juniors and Dunlevy battled to a 2-2 draw in a Mon-Yough League game at Gallatin yesterday. Welsh, Davis, Lupori and Patterson scored the goals. The lineup:

Gallatin.		Dunlevy.
Zadnick	G	Chiechi
Suarez	R. B.	Rossi
Jamison	L. B.	Holman
Pasquinelli	R. H.	Niccolai
Voelker	C. H.	Bercini

Welsh	O. R.	Lupori
Wilson	I. R.	Gray
Natali	C.	D. Barbiozzi

Substitutions: Gallatin—Davis and Ruttle. Goals—Welsh, Davis, Lupori, Patterson. Referee—F. Hart.

PHILS PROMISE NEW DEAL

PHILADELPHIA, March 5.—(AP.)—The Phillies are going "some place."

Leaving for their Southern training camp at Winter Haven, Fla., Manager Jimmy Wilson said he did not know where they would wind up, but he knew they were "going." He said:

"We have created a new spirit this year. Fans who back the Phils are going to have a new deal this summer—they are going to see a fighting, hustling club."

BASEBALL BRIEFS

FORT MYERS, Fla.—(AP.)—Of all the rookies rambling around the Philadelphia Athletics training camp the only pitcher who seems assured of a place on the team is Harry Matuzak, who won nine of his 28 games in the Texas League last year. Connie Mac, veteran of the A's, says Matuzak is a real find and is sure to help the club.

ST. LOUIS.—(AP.)—A small party of St. Louis Browns entrained here last night for West Palm Beach, Fla., to train under Manager Rogers Hornsby for the summer's baseball battles.

AVALON, Catalina Island, Cal.—(AP.)—The Chicago Cubs arrived here for spring training today, bringing with them Floyd C. (Babe) Herman, the scouting outfielder, who signed his contract just before the club sailed from Los Angeles. Herman came to terms with President William Walker without much ado.

LAKELAND, Fla.—(AP.)—The Detroit Tigers went through their first workout under the tutelage of their new manager, Mickey Cochrane, three hours after they detrained at their training camp yesterday.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP.)—Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, the New York Yankees' star southpaw, reaffirmed his decision to hold out for more pay as the Yanks battery squad gathered today to begin spring training. Three other unsigned athletes, Catcher Bill Dickey, Infielder Lyn Lary and Pitcher Danny MacFayden, arrived with the first group of nearly 20 players.

ORLANDO, Fla.—(AP.)—The Brooklyn Dodgers' first workout was slightly "phony," but Casey Stengel promised real work today. The squad of 19 was summoned to the practice field yesterday afternoon, but it was largely for the benefit of press photographers.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—(AP.)—After a week of hard work, the New York Giants had a chance to rest their aching muscles and cool off their sunburn. Manager Bill Terry gave the squad a day off yesterday for fishing, golf, swimming or even "a few schooners of beer."

PASADENA, Cal.—(AP.)—Although not exactly worried, Manager Lew Fonseca, of the Chicago White Sox, is wondering what has become of Luke Appling, his prize shortstop. Nothing has been heard from Appling, who hit .322 last season. Meanwhile Mysterious Joe Chamberlin, who eluded the Sox all last season, has been doing well at short.

RAVENS FINISH ICE SCHEDULE

The Red Ravens, of Sewickley, will wind up their schedule in the City Hockey League when they meet the H. J. Webers, of Oakland, in a league fixture at Duquesne Garden tonight. One additional battle remains on the Webers' card, against Carnegie Tech, on Mrch 14. The season is to be closed here Saturday of next week.

SOUTH, DUQUESNE MAY REPEAT AS DISTRICT CHAMPIONS

NINE SURVIVE IN W. P. I. A. L. TOURNEY

By JULIUS LEVIN

With South High School an overwhelming favorite to retain the City High School League championship by defeating Perry in the Pitt Stadium Pavilion tomorrow afternoon, and Duquesne, 1933 W. P. I. A. L. titleholder, one of the nine survivors in the annual elimination series in that league, there is a possibility that the two quintets which represented Western Pennsylvania in the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association playoffs for the state title last season may repeat.

South High School, defending champion in the City League, which represents District VIII in the state playoffs, hopes to succeed where it failed last season, when it was eliminated by Altoona, champion of District VI, in the semi-finals at State College. The Orioles, almost intact from last season, Bill Jesko, a member of the present Pitt Freshies, being the only absentee, are every bit as good, if not better than in 1933. They boast a winning streak in the City League of 27 straight games and will be eager to make it 28 in a row tomorrow afternoon when they meet Perry, champion of Section II, in the second and what many think will prove the deciding battle of the local post-season series.

IMPRESSIVE RECORD

South not only has kept its slate in the City League free from defeat during the past two seasons, but owns victories over Duquesne and Dubois in inter-district games, scored in 1933.

Duquesne, defending champion in the W. P. I. A. L., still faces a rocky road in its fight to retain its laurels. The Steelers have lived up to advance reports that they are a smooth-working floor machine, their victory over Brentwood in their first appearance in the current tournament more than substantiating the claims of their backers. All Duquesne did to Brentwood was to score a 41-20 victory, which is quite a feat when it is taken into consideration that Brentwood was undefeated in winning its place in the tournament and scored a victory over McDonald in a first-round engagement.

STEELERS FACE DORMONT

Duquesne faces another real menace Friday evening when it meets Dormont, champion of Section IX and vanquisher of Washington, Section XV champion, in a second-round tussle, 37-31. If the Steelers are successful in eliminating Dormont Friday, they will be called upon to engage the winner of the Ambridge, Section IV-New Castle, Section III, battle, either one of which is liable to check the march of Ray Henry's quintet in the semi-final round.

The nine susvivors in the W. P. I. A. L. eliminations will be granted a respite tonight, but tomorrow night the playoffs will be resumed in full blast when New Kensington, champion of Section I, opposes Ford City, titleholder in Section VI, in the closing battle of the second round. The winner earns the right to meet Uniontown, former state champion and present ruler in Section XI, in a quarter-final match.

TWO UPSETS RECORDED

Only two upsets have been recorded in the tournament to date, Dormont's victory over Washington and Mapletown's triumph over Monongahela proving surprises. Both Washington and Monongahela were regarded as unusually strong.

Duquesne, Dormont, Ambridge and New Castle remain in the fight for the upper-bracket place in the final game on Saturday, March 17, while New Kensington, Ford City, Mapletown, Scott and Uniontown remain as contestants for the championship berth in the lower bracket.

A shift in the W. P. I. A. L. program was announced today when the Scott-Mapletown game, originally scheduled in the Pitt Stadium pavilion Wednesday, was put back until Thursday and will be played in Washington High School.

Double Windup At McKeesport

A double windup features Jim McGirr's boxing show in McKeesport tonight. He has Frankie Wolfram, a seasoned performer from Winnipeg, Canada, in the main event against Nat Litfin, featherweight of the Hill, and Johnny Durso, local lightweight, against Jackie McFarland, of Canton, O., in the other 10-rounder.

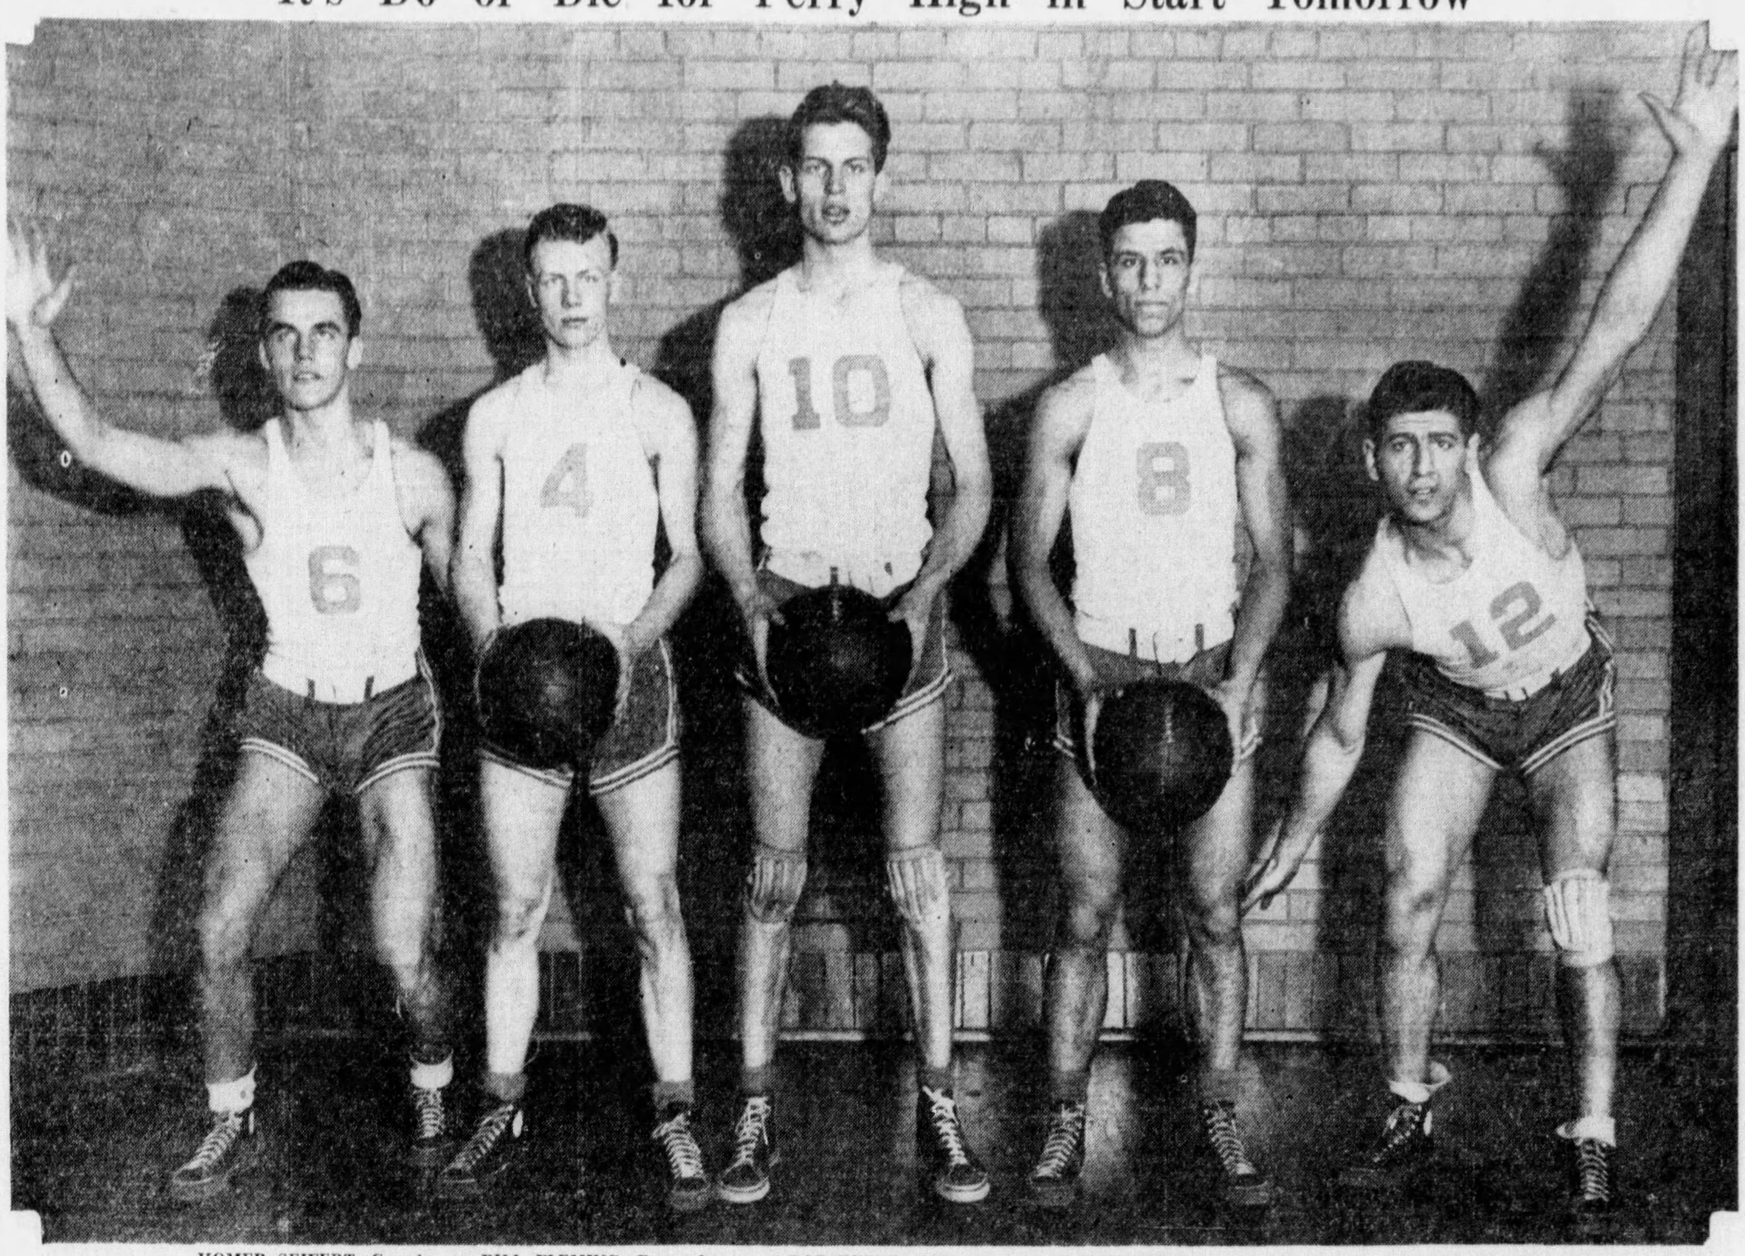
It's Do or Die for Perry High in Start Tomorrow



HOMER SEIFERT, Guard BILL FLEMING, Forward BOB KEENE, Center BOB KORNICK, Forward JOE DI MATTEO, Guard

Perry High School's Section II basketball champions in the City League, who meet South High, Section I kingpins, in the second game of their playoff series for the City League title on the Pitt Stadium Pavilion tomorrow afternoon, and hope to prevent a repetition of last year's result, when they bowed to the South Siders in the series. If Perry can halt South, which now has won 27 successive City League games, it will force a third and deciding game on Friday. The winner goes into the State title series. RACE IS FATAL TO THREE IMPERIAL, Cal., March 5.—(AP.)—The last checkered flag has dropped for Ernie Triplett, the "blond terror" of the race tracks.

Ernie Triplett

Entered in a special event at the Imperial midway fair yesterday, Triplett was injured fatally in a pile-up of racing cars which brought death to two other men.

George (Swede) Smith, 35-year-old veteran of Portland, Ore., died as his racer crashed into Jimmy Wilkerson's stalled car on a turn.

Hap Happerly, Hollywood mechanic, ran across the track to extricate him from the wreckage and was killed by Triplett's speeding machine.

Roaring into the turn abreast of his greatest rival, Al Gordon, the "blond terror," swerved his machine in a futile attempt to avoid striking the mechanic. Triplett's car rocketed into the fence, ricocheted, grazed Gordon's racer, and then hurtled into the air, catapulting the driver clear.

Officials halted the race, awarding places on position. First went to Gordon, while Triplett was awarded second place—his last prize.

UPSET MARKS BOWLING

The Neil team surprised the Kochman team by handing it the first two defeats of the second half race in the Keystone Tenpin League. The Neils are in second place. The Farrells, first half champions, took two out of three from the Smiths, and Armstrong won all three games from Hickey.

Walter E. Bisler, of the Farrells, boasts an average of 194. Bill Wuersch holds single game honors with 256 and Russ Morgan has a 638 set to his credit. The Kochman team has a 995 tally for one game and 2,702 for three. There are six teams in the loop.

STRIKES AND SPARES

The Aldine team defeated a picked team of star bowlers from the Produce Men's League in a return duckpin match, 2,719 to 2,426, on the Enright alleys. Al Yochum starred for the victors by piling up 665 pins. His highest game score was 258. Cullotta rolled best for the losers.

The Keystone Athletic Club No. 1 team will meet the McClintock Marshall team in a special duckpin match Thursday night on the K. A. C. alleys.

The Roxian No. 1, P. & L. E. and Roxian Ponies teams have been entered in the twenty-seventh annual Tri-State Tenpin tournament, which gets under way a week from today.

RUNYAN-SMITH SET RECORD

MIAMI, Fla., March 5.—(AP.)—Shattering the tournament record with a best ball of 62, 10 under par, Paul Runyan, of White Plains, N. Y., and Horton Smith, of Chicago, the defending champions, were 6 up on Mortie Dutra and Al Waltrous, of Detroit, today for the first 18 holes of their 36-hole match in the second round of the International four-ball golf championship.

Densmore Shute, of Philadelphia, British open champion, and Al Espinosa, of Akron, O., teamed up effectively to become 1 up on Willie MacFarlane, of Tuckahoe, N. Y., and Johnny Revolta, of Milwaukee, for the first 18 holes.

TENNES STARS IN BOAT RACE

By LESTER RICE
Universal Service.

NEW SMYRNA, Fla., March 5.—What Barney Oldfield did in an automobile and Earle Sande did in a saddle, Horace Tennes is doing in an outboard motorboat.

The 21-year-old student of engineering at Northwestern University was again the big human factor in the second and third of the series of international races for the silver bowl offered by William Randolph Hearst.

Tennes won Saturday's opening scramble with a time-killing performance. He won the second race Sunday with speed almost as fast. Then, in what was the most exciting splurge of all, he was the runner-up to the persevering Frenchman, Jean Dupuy, in the third race.

Dupuy's victory, due as it was to a mishap that befell another American driver, struck a popular chord with the 10,000 and more people who fringed the banks of the Indian River. He had finished second to Tennes in the previous race and had held on with such tenacity that the throngs appeared to be wholly with him.

Dupuy's time for the distance was 52:38 and compared favorably with the marks of 52:63 and 52:50 made priorly by Tennes.

DODGE TO COMPETE

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP.)—Horace E. Dodge, of Detroit, who resigned from the American Power Boat Association last November and declared he would not compete in the international motorboat races in Florida, has reconsidered his decision.

The Detroit sportsman said he would drive his Delphine VI in the two-day regatta against the Italians at Palm Beach, Fla., next Saturday and Sunday. Another of his line of Delphines, Delphine VII will be shipped to Palm Beach for the races and will be driven by William Horn.

GOLFERS HOLD SMOKER

The Highland Country Club will hold its first smoker of the season this evening. All members are invited.

SQUASH EVENT NEARS CLOSE

The final stages of the P. A. A. intra-mural handicap squash racquets tournament are in prospect for the current week, further progress being contingent upon completion of a delayed third round upper half contest between Jack Beatty and Dr. John O'Loughlin. The survivor of the Beatty-O'Loughlin tilt engages Frank McClintock in the quarter-finals and the victor in this fray will battle Dr. Dave O'Loughlin in the penultimate frame.

Meanwhile Jack Evans, rangy Harvard product, awaits in the lower half the outcome of the upper sector hodgepodge. Evans defeated Paul Sullivan in consecutive games in the semi-final bracket to achieve the trophy round. The summary:

First round—Upper half: Dr. John O'Loughlin defeated Dr. R. R. Gillis, 3-0; Harbaugh Miller won from J. D. Shanor, by default; Jack Beatty defeated Frank McKenna, 3-1; Kari Wolfe defeated W. C. King, Jr., 2-0; A. D. Hannah won from Bill Geissinger, by default; Ed Kelly defeated Bill Stitz, 2-1; Dr. G. V. Foster won from D. D. Moses, by default; Frank S. McClintock defeated J. H. Hillman III, 3-0.

Lower half: Paul Sullivan defeated James F. McKay, 3-2; Mabon Bovard won from C. Lennox, by default; Howard Clegg defeated Dr. E. J. Conti, 3-0; H. W. Mitchell won from F. A. Hewitt, by default; J. M. Holmes won from J. Beck, by default; G. D. Shrum won from C. Cole, by default; W. J. Clegg won from Russ Kambach, by default.

Second round—Upper half: Dr. David O'Loughlin defeated G. Geeseman, 3-0; George Rice defeated William Rodgers, 2-1; Dr. George Booth won from W. R. Winslow, by default; G. D. Henderson won from C. E. Dinkey, by default; Dr. John O'Loughlin defeated Miller, 3-2; Beatty defeated Wolfe, 3-2; Kelly defeated Hannah, 2-1; McClintock defeated Foster, 3-2.

Lower half: Sullivan defeated Bovard 3-2; Mitchell defeated Howard Clegg, 3-0; Shrum defeated Holmes, 3-1; W. J. Clegg defeated J. Rogers Flannery, 3-2; Dr. G. Stegeman defeated R. J. Lally, 2-0; Dr. Jules LaBarthe defeated K. H. Stoder, 3-0; Dr. M. A. Slocum defeated Dr. George Soffel, 3-0; Jack Evans won from R. J. S. Pigott, by default.

Ohio State's New Coach 'Miracle Man' in South

(This is the first of two interesting and revealing articles on Francis Albert Schmidt, the new head football coach of Ohio State University, a man who is little known in the North, but has compiled a remarkable coaching record in the Southwest. The concluding article will be published tomorrow.)

By FLEM R. HALL

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 5.—When Ohio State University signed Francis Albert Schmidt as head athletic coach, the Buckeyes got the "Miracle Man" of Southwest football and basketball; the man who has the best record for winning in this section; the man whose unique personality and rare wizardry have earned him the reputation of being a genuine genius.

The big (six foot, 200 pounds) Dutchman is a dynamo awaiting. His rather sharp face, with prominent nose and keen eyes, only hints at the remarkable mental alertness and nervous energy it makes. He is never quiet. From early morning until late at night, seven days a week, the year around, he is "up and at 'em." Whether he's strumming his mandolin or scrimmaging on the gridiron he is likely to have his coat off, sleeves up, tie off and collar open, sweating and going like he is fighting fire.

F. A. Schmidt

NEVER STOPS WORKING

Something like 98 per cent of the 46-year-old Nebraskan's energy goes to athletics. At one time or another he has played or coached all of the major sports, many of the minor ones, and retains a lively interest in all. Football and basketball are his favorites. He thinks, talks, eats and sleeps them. Track interest is a close third, baseball fourth. Until he was married, a few years ago, Schmidt lived with his quarterbacks. After talking football to them morning, noon and night, he often woke them up in the middle of the night with a shout of "I've got it!" snapped on lights and showed them how he'd figured out how to beat an enemy defense or stop one of its plays. He didn't know whether he had slept and dreamed it or laid awake and thought the problem out. And he didn't care. In the spring, the middle of the summer, or any other time, whenever or wherever he meets one of his players, he grabs him, shoves him into a corner, whips out a notebook, and, with an introductory and characteristic "Lookee," launches into explanation of some detail.

Schmidt attended high school in Fairberry, Neb., and was both captain and coach of its football team in his senior year.

NEBRASKA LETTER MAN

He entered the University of Nebraska and during his four years there lettered in football, track and baseball. Basketball was a little known sport and not played at Nebraska then. He was a football halfback, a sprinter in track, and a first baseman in baseball.

After getting his degree he coached high schools a few years, and then, in 1915, went to what was then Henry Kendall College, in Tulsa. It since has changed its name to Tulsa University. At that time, it was in the Oklahoma State Conference with the University of Oklahoma, Oklahoma A. & M., and the other major schools of the state. His teams won championships in 1915 and 1916 and set scoring records which still stand high if not actually first in national football history. In 1915, the Golden Hurricane piled up 593 points, and in 1916 topped that total with 622. Not a game was lost either year.

Twenty-four days after the United States entered the World War, on April 6, 1917, Echmidt and his entire team enlisted in the Army. He went to officers' training camp at Fort Sill and came out a first lieutenant. After serving as divisional bayonet instructor for the 87th Division, he went to France as a captain and served eight months. He returned to the States in the fall of 1918 and got permission to return to Tulsa before getting his discharge. He gathered most of his old team together and was on his way to his third championship before he was called to Fort Sill to be mustered out. He won two basketball championships and shared another while at Tulsa.

MOVES ON TO ARKANSAS

He went to the University of Arkansas in the summer of 1922. Although he always had excellent teams, he never was able to win a football championship during his seven years in the Ozarks. Because of the remote location of Fayetteville, home of the university, he often found it impossible to schedule enough games to make his Razorbacks eligible for the Southwest Conference crown. That was the major handicap that caused him to transfer to the more centrally located Texas Christian University in 1929. Basketball was not an intercollegiate game at Arkansas when he went there. The university didn't have an indoor court. He built a field house in '23, and three years later came up with a championship team, and not until he left did any of the other six Conference members come close to dethroning the Red and White.

After winning his fourth consecutive basketball crown in the Ozarks, in the spring of '29, he came to Texas Christian Union and in the fall of the same year handed the Purple Horned Frogs their first football title.

By JESS CARVER

The windup, as far as the awarding of the title goes, of the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball Conference brings to mind the story of Biggy Artz, North Side baseball umpire, and Jewel Ens, former manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Biggy was calling 'em in the Texas League at the time Jewel was still a player. Jewell went down from first on an attempted steal, made a fine slide into second, but the ball beat him to the spot and he was nabbed. Drawled Biggy, who was base umpire for the day:

"It was a swell slide, Jewel, but you're out."

PITT IS 'IN'

The case of the basketballers seeking to knock the Panthers from their championship perch, which they captured last year, is somewhat the same. Georgetown, Temple and West Virginia all made swell slides, but they are out, and the Pitts are in. The title was clinched Saturday in Philadelphia when the locals, still minus the services of Claire Cribbs, knocked off Temple's Owls for the second time this season. Pitt had to come from behind in the closing minutes of the game to win, but, thanks to some brilliant shooting by Skippy Hughes, they accomplished same.

Had Pitt lost to the Owls and then been taken over this coming Saturday night at Morgantown by West Virginia, the Mountaineers would have stood a chance to nose out the locals since they play two games more than Pitt. Now the best the Mountaineers can do is to finish in second place, which they certainly figure to do.

TECH'S '34-'35 CARD

Carnegie Tech, which winds up one of the most disastrous floor campaigns in the school's history by meeting West Virginia tomorrow and Georgetown Saturday, has announced an 18-game schedule for next year. The feature of the card is the inclusion of a game with Westminster, to be played here January 3. Each member of the Eastern Conference will be played on a home-and-home basis. The schedule follows:

December 15, Georgetown here; January 3, Westminster here; January 5, West Virginia here; January 8, Pitt at Carnegie; January 11, Duquesne at Duquesne; January 15, Geneva here; January 19, Temple here; January 22, W. & J. there; January 26, Georgetown there; January 29, West Virginia there; January 29 to February 10, examinations; February 11, Geneva there; February 15, Bucknell here; February 19, W. & J. here; February 22, Penn State there; February 23, Bucknell there; February 25, Temple there; March 2, Pitt at Stadium; March 5, Duquesne here.

THE TIPOFF

Mike Sebastian, Pitt's star halfback, was married yesterday in Sharon to Miss Genevieve C. Misko, of Masury, O.

Paul Birch, of the Dukes, continues to lead the city collegiate basketball scoring race, with a total of 172 points, piled up in 16 games, but a teammate, Art Feldman, is pressing close with a mark of 158, and Skippy Hughes, Pitt's forward star, is running a good third with 145.

Track Coach Carl (Indiana) Olsen, of Pitt, has announced a track and field clinic, to be staged at the Pitt track house morning and afternoon of March 31. What a man!

West Virginia remains out in front in the Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing Conference race, with three victories and no defeats to its credit. Pitt, Wash-Jeff and the Dukes are tied for second place with .500 ratings each.

In the individual scoring race, Eastern Basketball Conference, Ed Hargaden, of Georgetown, holds an 11-point lead over his teammate, O'Connor, with 83 points against 72. Skip Hughes, of Pitt, is third with 67 and Stuydahar, of West Virginia, fourth with 66.

Allegheny and Westminster, traditional rivals in all sports, will not meet in basketball next season, for the first time in 36 years. The Allegheny schedule of 18 games was announced yesterday.

DETROIT HERE TOMORROW

By CARL W. SHATTO

Suds Sutherland, coach of the Yellow Jackets, today is busy warning his lacrossers to cock a collective ear and be on the alert for opportunity's knock. Suds full well knows that opportunity is just around the corner, for tomorrow night the Jackets are to meet the Detroit Tigers in an American and International Lacrosse Association game at Motor Square Garden, and by winning, the locals can increase their lead in the association's second half race to the tidy margin of four points.

The Detroiters were taken into camp to the tune of 22 to 8 when they made their first appearance here on February 23, but they d been in training only a short w le at that time, and figure to m ke the proceedings more interes ng tomorrow.

PITTSBURGH BUYER'S GUIDE AND BUSINESS REVIEW

RENEWED FAITH ROOSEVELT'S BEST WORK

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Unity-wide Service.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Behind the avalanche of new legislation and new agencies, President Roosevelt's major contribution to recovery in his first year in office was his capacity to instil confidence in men in their capacity to manage their affairs.

Mr. Rukeyser.

In place of the former paralysis of initiative, the will to go ahead has been restored. This is even more fundamental than the doubling of stock prices in the last year, which incidentally reflects the restoration of faith.

In connection with current criticism of substitution of government enterprise for that of private individuals, it should be recalled that private industry had long been deadlocked, and seemingly lacked the capacity for self starting. This is an explanation of why the administration has been so active, though it constitutes no justification for overstepping the line of proper demarcation.

PEAK NOT REGAINED

The physical volume of production reached a peak last July which has not yet been regained, though since that time general business has recovered half way back to the July summit after a late summer and early autumn slump.

Recovery in the United States in the first year of the Roosevelt administration coincided with economic recuperation in other principal countries of the world.

And yet this fact does not delineate the nature of Mr. Roosevelt's contribution, since recovery elsewhere was doubtless furthered by improvement of sentiment in the United States, which has become the dominant economic country and the pace setter for the rest of the world. Even the neo-nationalists contend that by domestic recovery the United States can make its best contribution to revival throughout the world.

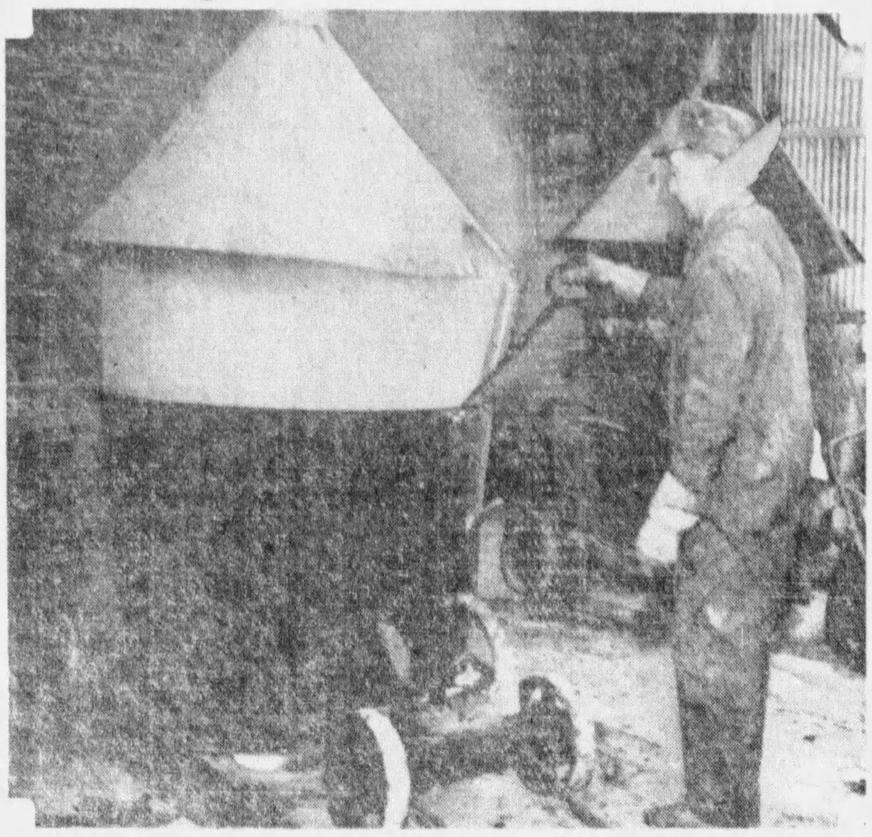
METHODS DIFFER

Recovery in the United States under the "new deal" has been more episodic and uneven than in other countries, such as Great Britain and Canada, which have recovered under more spontaneous, orthodox methods.

The effect of politics on business in this country went far beyond customary experience because of major surgery on the dollar, banking reform and basic changes in the relations between business and government under the NRA, the AAA and the whole array of alphabetical instrumentalities.

Likewise, the effect of political tendencies was discernible in the fact that, though industrial stock averages rose 110 per cent and rails 113 per cent, public utility stocks recovered only 31 per cent, evidently reflecting political opposition to established public utility practices, especially those relating to holding companies.

Cooking Gum and Oils for Varnish



J. WALTER LUNSFORD BUSY WITH A POT OF VARNISH . . . IT'S COOKED FOR A LONG TIME

VARNISH COOK MUST BE ARTIST

Varnish cooking is like making fudge or cake. A good cook can make a wonderful material and a poor cook can make an inedible mess. Varnish is customarily made in kettles that hold about 125 to 150 gallons.

The gum used is put in the kettle and melted over the fire. Then the various oils such as linseed oil and china wood oil are introduced and the heat is raised until the temperature is between 500 and 600 degrees Fahrenheit. It is held for a certain length of time there during which driers are introduced.

TEMPERATURE IMPORTANT

The problem of temperature is delicate. When china wood oil is used if the temperature should go two or three degrees too high the entire mass would jelly and the batch would be lost. Great control of the fire must be had in order to apply the heat quickly when it is needed and to cool off quickly when that is desired.

After the cook is complete, and the varnish maker recognizes this by the appearance of the material, the way it drips off his stirring paddle, the temperature and the time that has been consumed, his kettle is taken into a reducing room where the volatile thinners composing the balance of the varnish are added. These volatile thinners are necessary to act as a carrying medium for the varnish. When the varnish is applied to a floor the volatile part immediately evaporates and leaves the cooked gum and oil to dry out to a protective film.

EXPERIENCE NEEDED

At the Thompson & Co. varnish plant in Oakmont, Pa., the varnish makers are all men of long experience and great skill. The insides of the kettles are scrubbed out after each batch is made, as thoroughly as a housewife cleans up her pots and pans.

Thermometers are checked every day to insure that they are reading correctly and every possible precaution is taken to avoid variation in the quality of material produced.

Increase In Sales Aids Bethlehem Steel

By GEORGE H. SNYDER
Business Editor.

A SHARP INCREASE in sales made it possible for the Bethlehem Steel Corporation to show a profit in the final quarter of 1933, but the gain was not sufficient for the organization to show a profit for the full year. The loss for 1933, however, was only slightly more than half the loss for 1932.

An increase of more than $23,000,000 in sales billed was reported. Total billings for the year amounted to $120,163,374.

That further expansion in earnings may be expected this year is indicated by the fact that the value of business booked in 1933 was nearly double that of 1932. Bookings for the period amounted to $157,279,186 as compared with $85,946,548.

* * *

Deficit for Year Reduced by Half

AFTER DEDUCTING interest and other charges, including depletion and depreciation, the net deficit for 1933 was $8,735,723 as compared with a deficit of $19,404,431 in the previous year.

This comparison, however, does not indicate the extent of improvement in Bethlehem's affairs. A profit was shown for the fourth quarter of 1932, the first quarterly profit since the three months ended March 31, 1931.

Net profit for the fourth quarter was $629,671, equivalent to 67 cents a share on $93,388,700 of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock of $100 par. The last preferred dividend was paid July 1, 1932, making the total in arrears at present $10.50 a share.

* * *

Employes and Wages Show Rapid Gain

THE EFFECT OF increased operations and of the NRA on wages and the number of employes was substantial, according to the report.

The average earnings per hour of the employes of the corporation of the United States during the last quarter of 1933, exclusive of general, administrative and selling forces, was 61.1 cents, as compared with an average of 51.1 cents for the first six months of 1933, an increase of 19.6 per cent.

The total number of employes in the Bethlehem companies has been increased substantially during recent months. The monthly average number of wage earners in Bethlehem companies during the fourth quarter of 1933 was 56,277, as compared with 43,827 for the fourth quarter of 1932.

Monsanto Capital Change Proposed

NEW YORK, March 5.—The Monsanto Chemical Company at the annual meeting March 27 will submit a proposal to increase authorized capital stock from 500,000 to 1,250,000 shares and to capitalize $4,320,000 of paid-in surplus. In event the proposed changes are approved and if future operations justify it, the company will pay dividends at the rate of 25c quarterly o nthe increased capitalization, which would be equivalent of $2 a share on present capitalization, instead of $1.25 which it is now paying.

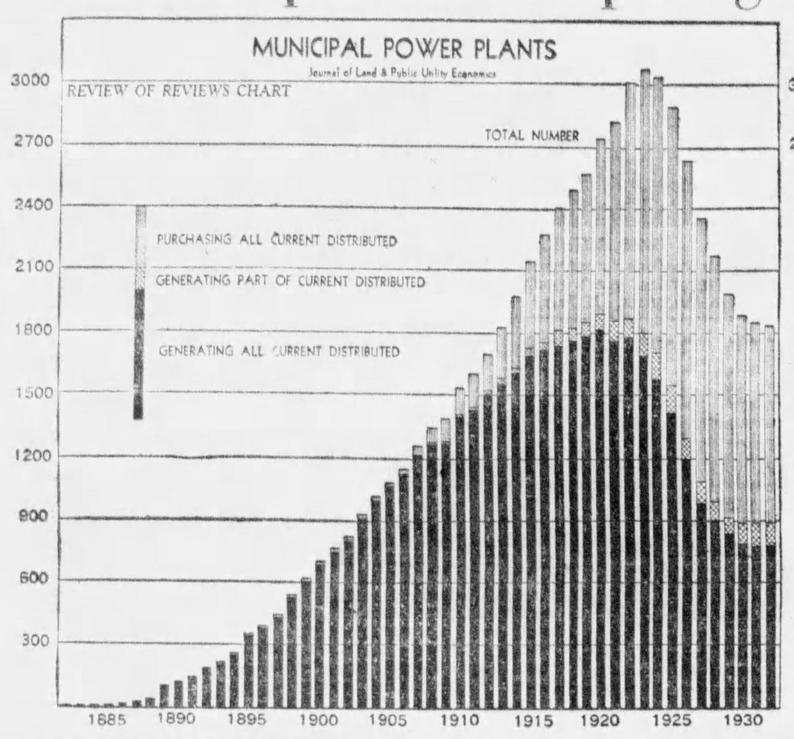
U. S. NATIONAL INCOME UP

NEW YORK, March 5.—The national income produced in the United States in 1933 amounted to $39.8 billion, according to a preliminary estimate announced today by the National Industrial Conference Board. This represents an increase of $1.5 billion, or 3.7 per cent over the total of $38.3 billion for 1932. Income per capita of the total population was $316 in 1933, as compared with $307 in 1932.

In the 3 years, 1930 to 1932, the national income declined continuously, from $83 billion in 1929, to $70.5 billion in 1930, to $54.7 billion in 1931, and to $38.3 billion in 1932. The figures on a per capita basis show even more strikingly than do those of total national income the decline that took place from 1929 to 1932. These figures are: 1929, $683; 1930, $572; 1931, $440; 1932, $307. In 1932 per capita income was the lowest in 24 years, being only $7 above the per capita figure for 1909, the first year in the conference board's series of national income estimates.

Utilities Make Desperate Fight On Municipal Ownership Program



By JOSEPH STAGG LAWRENCE
Review of Reviews

The spotlight of public attention is now playing its powerful rays upon the utilities. In Albany, two bills, supported by Gov. Lehman, are up for a hearing. They have resulted in the most vigorous opposition which utility proposals have provoked in many years. Contention seems to center about three provisions.

The first grants municipalities in the state of New York the right to construct and operate their own power distributing facilities. This in itself the private companies do not especially relish. More alarming is the absence of anything in the bill which would compel the communities creating their own facilities to purchase the plants of private utilities operating in those communities. Without such compulsion private plants, in the face of this competition, would become practically worthless.

A second provision which the private utilities do not like would permit the power commission of the state, after a hearing, to establish new rates. The basis would be a 5 per cent rate on actual investment. Since such provision in the transportation act of 1920 and in state utility laws in practice establish the rate as a maximum, it would mean that the average would be considerably below this 5 per cent.

Finally, the private companies do not like the clause which imposes upon them the cost of the power commission itself.

The chart shows the course of municipal power plant growth since 1883. They reached their peak in 1923, at which time the country had a total of 3,077 municipal establishments distributing power. In 1932 this total had declined to 1,849.

ROBINS BELT ADDS LINE

Robins Conveying Belt Company, of New York, has acquired the coal and ore handling business of the Mead-Morrison Manufacturing Company, of Boston, to be operated henceforth as the Mead-Morrison Division of Robins Conveying Belt Company.

Many members of the Mead-Morrison staff have been taken into the Robins organization. Included in this number are Brooks, Youngberge, of Chicago, and Donahue, Snow and Brown, of Boston.

The local office of the Robins Conveying Belt Company is in the Union Trust Building.

Home Building Credit Problem Two-Sided

CHICAGO, March 5.—(AP.)—Revival of residential construction, in the opinion of leaders in the building and loan industry, depends largely on the return of a capable borrowing public.

It is a popular thing to claim that home building is held up by lack of adequate financing, says A. D. Theobald, director of education and research for the American Savings, Building and Loan Institute, and he adds, "there is a certain amount of truth to it."

"But before a sound home construction program can be undertaken, based as it must be based largely on borrowed money, we have to fit together two parts of the machinery: First, a willing lender, with ability to lend, and second, a willing borrower, able to borrow because of his ability to repay the loan on an installment basis.

"By and large, the public does not rush out to borrow and take on the additional obligation of home and a half or two times its annual income in depression or early recovery times."

However, present evidences of recovery are sufficient, Theobald believes, so that building and loan associations are likely to have "a tremendous loan demand of very high quality, maybe not this six months, but within shooting distance."

A prime need now, in the opinion of Philip Lieber, president of the United States Building and Loan League, is education of a home purchaser to the idea that he must not depend on junior liens, but must wait until he has saved enough for a down payment to warrant the lending of all funds by one institution. Lieber says:

"The coming months must see the education of the borrower to the idea that he undertakes a financial obligation when he gets a mortgage on his home, and is not merely buying something on the installment plan which he can return to the vendor as soon as it seems to meet his convenience.

"We also must have a return to the fundamental idea of financing a home for the purpose of ownership, clear and free of encumbrances, not the keeping of a home forever under mortgage."

Youngstown Mill Rate Nearing 60%

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 5.—(INS.)—Steel operations in the Mahoning valley will jump to almost 60 per cent this week, a survey of the district disclosed today.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company is adding another open hearth, making 11 active out of a battery of 12. Other concerns also are stepping up schedules.

Drawn Wire Price Schedule Adjusted

The following new minimum prices have been established for drawn wire products, according to schedules filed with American Iron and Steel Institute: $4.20 per 100 pounds for annealed stone wire and $5.20 for galvanized stone wire, Pittsburgh, effective March 3; $3.85 for stapling wire, Chicago, and $4.45, Pacific coast ports, effective March 2.

The prices on annealed stone wire and galvanised stone wire at Pittsburgh, represent original filings. On stapling wire, the $3.85 price at Chicago represents an advance of $2 a ton, while, the $4.45 quotation at Pacific coast ports is an upturn of $6 a ton.

Chicago Clearings Gain During Week

CHICAGO, March 5.—(AP.)—Bank clearings in Chicago this week totaled $206,000,000 compared with $172,500,000 last week and $181,500,000 a year ago when the bank holiday occurred.

MOTHER'S 'HEALTH CAKE' RECIPE WINS $5 PRIZE

Reveals Method Of Solving Food Problem

Getting children to eat what is good for them is every mother's problem. Something that causes her endless hours of worry. She wants her Johnny and Janey to be healthy, yet they simply refuse to eat certain nourishing foods. What to do about it?

"Following is an entirely original pancake recipe in which I have combined ingredients, which each of my children turns down alone, but go after in wholesale style when made into delicious brown pancakes. I feel that any mother who serves the school child two, or as many as he wants, of these health cakes, can feel that she has done a good job of sending her child to school or work well fortified."

Whether you're a cook of long or short experience you too have certain special recipes at your command. Send them in to Prudence Penny, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, for entrance in her prize recipe contest. Daily she awards one $5 prize and 10 $1 prizes. No recipe are returned.

FAMILY WINTER HEALTH CAKES

Use 1-gal. crock, or pan of that capacity.
Seven cups of liquid, combination of potato water and milk or cream, and also buttermilk. Potato water can be made by adding water to left-over mashed potatoes.)
Four teaspoons salt.
Two tablespoonfuls molasses.
Two cups buckwheat flour.
One cup corn meal.
One-half cup all bran, prepared cereal (whole wheat flour as substitute).
One tablespoonful shortening, the addition of which makes it unnecessary to grease the griddle except just lightly.
Beat thoroughly and set in cool place, but do not freeze. In the morning stir one-half teaspoon soda dissolved in one-half cup milk, preferably warm. Bake until golden brown on hot griddle and mother keep sour butter on the stove and a few seconds after cakes are done put a liberal chunk of butter on top of each cake. Have the plates warm. (Allowing the butter to melt prevents them from sounding flaky cake) and all is O. K. Put left-over batter out in cool place enough to keep it in the evening, add one-half portion of the above ingredients not forgetting to add more yeast, and these cakes will become almost a second nature to you and yours.

STOCKS QUIET; 'STREET' SCANS NRA MESSAGE

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP.)—Trading in the financial markets was virtually at a standstill for a time today as Wall street attempted to interpret the President's NRA address at Washington.

Proceedings on the stock exchange were the dullest in some months. While a few leading shares exhibited a rather heavy tone, there was no volume to accentuate the decline. Grains, cotton and other commodities emulated the diffidence of equities. Dollar rates were almost unchanged. Bonds were fairly steady.

Some of the tobacco and alcohol stocks, including American Tobacco B, Liggett & Meyers B, American Commercial Alcohol and National Distillers recorded small gains.

Of principal interest to speculative forces was the Roosevelt challenge to industry to raise wages and further reduce hours in order to increase jobs and lift from the government the task of furnishing re-employment.

Although it was felt in some quarters that higher pay and shorter hours would, at least temporarily, cut corporation profits substantially, there was also a disposition to consider the longer-term aspects of the problem with some degree of optimism.

The President's thought that "no one opposes reasonable profits for business and industry" was in line with previous expressions from the White House. At the same time much attention was paid to the chief executive's comment that the country is still in the stage where the profit motive must take into account the fact that thousands are still unemployed. In the long run, he pointed out, profits will depend on getting the idle back to work.

Market analysists read with mixed feelings the other portions of the presidential speech which included a condemnation of unjustified price increases under the NRA codes, a renewed request that consumers buy under the Blue Eagle, a plea for continued and better protection for small industries, a demand for freedom for labor to organize unhampered by employers' domination and a warning that the NRA act would be enforced with a firmer hand.

Publication of the names of those who sold aviation stocks for both long and short account just prior to the recent break in these issues following cancellation of airmail contracts apparently had little effect on prices. Some interest was shown in the announcement that the senate committee had ordered Counsel Pecora to investigate short holdings in the aviation group with the view of determining if fictitious accounts were used by public officials.

COTTON VALUES RULE LOWER

NEW YORK, March 5.—Cotton futures opened barely steady 2 to 6 lower in response to lover Liverpool cables and owing to the uncertainty over crop legislation. May, 12.13; July, 12.25; October, 12.40; December, 12.50; January, 12.57.

Trading was comparatively quiet at the start and the market narrow enough to be influenced by small orders either way. There was some trade and commission house buying on the opening decline and prices rallied a few points right after the call, but the bulge met further realizing or liquidation and was not fully maintained.

The market worked up to 12.20c for May and 12.45c for October later in the morning, or about 1 to 3 points net higher. May sold down to 12.11c, or 6 points net higher, and was holding around 12.13c at midday, with the general list showing net losses of 3 to 5 points.

LIVERPOOL, March 5.—Cotton—No receipts; spot in fair demand; prices 11 points higher; quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 7.20; good middling, 6.90; strict middling, 6.75; middling, 6.60; strict low middling, 6.45; low middling, 6.20; strict good ordinary, 6.00; good ordinary, 5.70. Gains Made Shown by Forbes

By B. C. FORBES

AMERICA has made economic progress since March 4, a year ago.

MOST PEOPLE generously attribute this to the new deal, the NRA, and such like—although Canada claims to have made even sounder progress at far less cost, as do certain leading European countries.

Mr. Forbes

Without entering into a discussion as to what has been mainly responsible here or elsewhere for the climb from the depths, it is timely to make a factual survey of how we stand now as contrasted with 12 months ago when President Roosevelt took the reins.

The greatest court of appraisal in the whole land is the New York Stock Exchange. Its activities reflect the changing fortunes of more than 800 of America's more important industrial, utility, railway and other enterprises. The daily fluctuations in these stocks reflect not only the ups and downs in the earnings of these representative corporations, but in addition, the fluctuating hopes and apprehensions of some 20 million investors.

HOW DO the rated values of the shares of leading American corporations compare with those of 12 months ago? The following tables, covering well known issues under different major classifications, furnish a concrete answer:

NEXT to security prices, commodity prices influence and reflect sentiment and conditions on this continent—indeed, in agricultural states far more importance is attached to prices for farm commodities than to prices for stocks. How do leading materials and commodities stand price wise today as compared with 12 months ago. This table tells:

	Mar. 3, 1933	Saturday's Close	Pct. Gain
Wheat	49	.88	79
Corn	.25	.52	108
Oats	.16	.33½	110
Rye	.35	.60	71
Cotton	6.18	12.06	95
Wool	49.50	106.70	115
Steel	8.50	14.75	73
Copper	5.00	7.04	40
Rubber	2.97	10.43	251
Hides	4.80	8.75	82
Sugar	.90	1.58	75
Silver	.27.60	46.60	69

THESE FIGURES do not tell the whole story.

Unemployment has been substantially reduced.

Retail trade is distinctly livelier.

The general price level has risen over 45 per cent.

Motor, steel and other important industries then gasping for breath, are now showing encouraging progress.

Federal revenues show substantial betterment.

And, perhaps most significant and vital of all, whereas sentiment was apprehensive, not to say panicky, 12 months ago, it is now hopeful and unless Washington injects needless disturbances, sentiment promises to reach and reflect outright confidence.

In the eyes and minds of responsible men of affairs, Washington now constitutes the main, if not the only, big IF.

...an's Own Blood ...sed in Transfusion

DENVER.—Max Nieto's own blood was pumped back into his veins in a rare transfusion operation in a Denver hospital. Unable to find a donor whose blood matched that of Nieto, physicians drained lost blood from his abdominal cavity and injected it into his veins. Nieto had suffered a ruptured liver in an automobile accident.

Safety Council Head To Speak at Beaver

William B. Rodgers, president of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council, will speak on "Safety Cooperation" at a meeting of the Beaver Safety Council in Carnegie Library, Beaver Falls, tonight. C. W. Tissue, of the Duquesne Light Company, is president of the Beaver Council.

MARKET WAITS FOR MOVES IN WASHINGTON

By LEWIS HANEY
Professor of Economics, New York University.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Last week the stock market closed about where it began, the Saturday average being within a half a point of the preceding week's close.

The market is mirroring the general situation. Many stocks are quite high, when judged by anything that is clearly in sight, and so it has paused to wait further developments. These developments are to be looked for in (1) business activity and (2) the disposition to be made of business earnings.

The questions before the market are: Will the new deal make business good? If it does, will the new deal let business have the profits? No matter what the business indexes may show, if the government stimulates business with one hand and takes away the profits with the other hand, the stock market cannot rise much.

CAUTIOUS DEALING URGED

Unless there is some fresh stimulus from Washington, the probability of narrow swings lies ahead. From a speculative trading standpoint, I would buy the active leaders on setbacks. From an investment standpoint, I would buy only stocks whose prices are justified by earnings, and which have not been active trading favorites.

In either case, the prevailing condition calls for caution and moderation in making commitments.

I think that the possibility of eventually higher prices is easier to see than that of lower prices. But this opinion involves a gamble on political action.

The bull can truly say that the market as a whole is stronger than a good many of the individual leaders. For example, one characteristic is the frequency with which the majority of stocks are up during days when the standard "averages" are down. This seems to indicate that the old-line leaders are high enough to suit those who hold them.

ACTIVE STOCKS STRONGER

Another point is that the most active stocks from day to day show more strength than the averages. Perhaps it is fair to say that this shows that any activity tends to develop on the up side.

Anyhow, I think it shows that speculative fires are smoldering, and that the speculative pot is being kept simmering by a system of rotation and testing out the possibilities of a rise.

The averages are still well within a rising path or zone which began last October. They did not quite touch its lower edge last Thursday.

But it may be that the upper limit has begun to slant down since February 5. It may be that a ceiling has been bumped into, and perhaps this ceiling has been lowered.

In short, I think the stock market hangs between two great opposing forces. Inflation and business stimulants keep it up. The fears of new deal "reforms" and government restrictions keep it down.

The hope of making money by an inflationary rise is the chief bull factor. The fear that the government will take the money away and give it to laborers and farmers, is the big bear factor.

Just now, the Treasury has some big financing ahead, so it will try to do only things which will help "high grade" bonds. When the government is in this mood, stocks are not likely to do much.

Chickie's Daughter

books to the ping-pong table, where they had wildly-spirited contests. David was the champion, paired against the two of them. He drove them hard. They couldn't win a set, but when they took three games in succession the big play room rang with their triumph.

Chickie was glad . . . immensely relieved. She understood her daughter's ardent, intense nature; knew the girl was lost with love for Kevin. She feared heartbreak there. Much better for one so young to laugh; to skim the sparkling surface.

She saw the boy was deeply attracted and half hoped Pippin cared. He was clean and good. There was strength in him and fineness. She maneuvered to get Pippin's confidence.

"You've always complained your high school boys can't talk. You should be pleased with Bill. He seems bright and rather neat with his phrases."

"Seems bright! You've got your nerve Helena! Let me tell you it takes real brains to get through Annapolis with flying colors at the head of your class as Bill did. Rather bright! I've never heard anyone as quick with repartee outside of James McNeill Whistler!"

"I get you, mother! This is your cunning way of encouraging me to be light minded. You're afraid I've tragic leanings, so you're glad to have me jaunt about with this one and that."

"Not at all, darling. But it's nice to have murmurs echoing in your heart down the quiet years."

"What a lovely idea! But isn't it a shame life has to get monotonous and quiet and all the glory fade!"

Chickie's lips parted on a loitering smile.

"You're looking mysterious, mother, as though you have some wonderful secret. Does it mean love doesn't need to get that? It can remain shining through the years and you're not bored? You don't long for color and flash and sweet new things?"

Writes in Diary

"Perhaps it does, darling. You can't imagine one who sails high, gleaming seas and knows what a mighty tide can be, getting excited over ruffles in a duck pond, can you?

Pippin started at her mother. Suddenly she closed here eyes.

"Will love like that come to me?"

"It will, Pippin. You're not ready for it. Now is your chance to gather those murmurs. No need to be monogamous before you have to. I imagine Ensign Bill can whisper quite pleasantly."

She wrote in her diary:

"Helena's got my number. She knows I'm mad for Kevin. Doesn't want me to be. Wants me to smile at Bill and George and anybody else, but she's worried that it's too late. And it is! Why is she afraid of you, Kevin? Nothing you could do but would be joy—all joy . . .

"I wonder if you think of me. Every night I take out your picture. I dream that you take my hand and we run away. We run to a wild forest. We sink down and are lost in purple oblivion. Is it lucky for me, Kevin, you're away and I'm too young to know what love can be?

"I like Bill. He's darling and sweet. He's pleasant and fun like Kathleen. But I don't feel music striking and splitting through me when he takes my hand. I don't feel that strange yearning wish to melt away, to be nothing but a pulse or an echo of his heart. Oh, terrible is the longing flowing over me when I think of you, Kevin, my own."

Bill's Last Day

It was Bill's last day. He came for dinner. Afterward they walked to the Presidio and along that hill whence one sees in its majestic sweep, in all its blue uplifting beauty, the San Francisco Bay, the islands and the nude encircling hills.

"Pippin," said the boy, "you'll never know what it's meant to me meeting you."

"The world is full of us."

"Oh, no. You're the only one like you. I KNOW. You look and you think and you act altogether different from the others. You take my breath away, you're so darn beautiful. I'm going to be awfully blue."

"Oh, Bill, don't spoil your precious two years with unhappiness. Think how wonderful to be a man and sail the wide gray ocean, while you get ready for the life you're going to meet so bravely."

"See—what other girl would ever say a deep thing like that? Do you worry about life and how you should meet it?"

"Perhaps. Or I pretend to worry. Just to tease David and my mother. Helena teases so easily. It's almost wrong to trouble a gold angel like her."

"You're the same . . . a gold angel."

She glanced up mistily, found his eyes swimming. Quickly his young face, white and pleading, he bent down and kissed her lips. It disturbed her. It made tears rush to her eyes.

Yet it was sweet. It was delicious.

PERICLES, HIS SECOND WIFE ASPASIA VISITING THE GREAT SCULPTOR PHIDIAS

Pericles (c. 495-429 B. C.) was one of the greatest statesmen of Ancient Greece. Son of Xanthippus, the victor over Persia at Mycale (479 B. C.), thoroughly educated, he became a great thinker, orator and leader of the Athenians. He accomplished the democratization of Athens, the opening of all offices to all citizens. Pericles expanded Athens power, applied increased revenue to beautify it with magnificent buildings, temples and monuments. The grandiose architecture, the Acropolis, tells of the spirit of Pericles' time. It was designed by Phidias, the greatest Greek sculptor. Pericles' imperialistic schemes made the Peloponnesian War inevitable. (World History)

OXY-ACETYLENE BLOWPIPE

Highly compressed oxygen rushes from a steel cylinder through a reducing valve and injector and sucks acetylene (C_2H_2) from an adjoining duct. The mixture ignited, burns with a very hot flame (about 6,000° F.), which melts almost every metal.

The blowpipe equipped with an additional central oxygen duct (above) is converted into a cutting torch. The oxygen, streaming with great velocity from this duct, has a considerable kinetic energy transformed into mechanical work by the impact with the melted metal particles, which are swept aside, leaving a fairly clean "cut."

STUYVESANT REFUSING TO SURRENDER

Stuyvesant, governor of New Netherland, refused first to surrender when a British force claimed New Amsterdam (1664). He later complied. The Dutch New Netherland, increased by them with New Sweden, became British New York. Lands between Delaware and Hudson, sold by James, Duke of York, (holding grant of King Charles II) passed to William Penn and his associates (1674 and 1682), who yielded these to the crown in 1702 (today's New Jersey). The southern portion of New Netherland, also was purchased by Penn and associates (1682) and for 20 years held as part of Penna., becoming the state Delaware in 1776. The Northern portion of the former Dutch colony developed into the state Vermont. (U. S. History)

CONSERVATION CORPS AT WORK

ECW (Emergency Conservation Work Program) directing the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) was created by 73d Congress, public Act 5. It gives employment to 300,000 young men on reforestation, flood control, National Park development and similar projects. Wages are $30 to $45 monthly besides maintenance and clothing. Direction and supervision is by U. S. army officers. Besides work and play they enjoy an educational program.

This project, one of the first launched by President Roosevelt, is of great importance. It not only saves forests, lands and relieves direst want of families but directs the energy of young men, unable to find employment, into useful channels; besides developing them physically. AUTOMOBILE IGNITION—BATTERY, VIBRATING COIL

The explosive mixture of gasoline vapor and air is ignited in the engine cylinders by electric spark playing across the electrodes of the spark plug at the proper moment.

The ignition system, above (on older cars) uses a low tension (6 volt) current of a battery in the primary windings of an induction coil equipped with a "vibrator," which automatically interrupts and reconnects the primary current. Each interruption and reconnection causes the generation, respectively the collapse of magnetic field of the primary coil; the expanding and receding magnetic lines of force of this field cut the turns of the secondary winding inducing in them electromotive force, which causes high tension alternating current, led to the spark plug.

For each cylinder is a separate vibrating coil, the primary windings of which are connected to the battery circuit in succession by the revolving contact of "timer". The condenser, connected parallel to the vibrator, hastens the collapse of the magnetic field (by taking in and releasing electric charge, generating an opposing magnetic field in the moment of interruption of primary) intensifying thus the secondary current and with it the spark.

THEORY OF IMMUNITY AGAINST BACTERIA

Most disease is caused by bacteria, producing toxins (poisons). To kill or neutralize these, invaded organisms develop "antibodies" which, if sufficient, prevent disease. This is called immunity, that may be inherited or acquired by having overcome once the disease, by inoculation of weakened or dead bacteria (vaccination) or by injection of antibodies contained in the blood serum of immunized animals, men.

Prof. Ehrlich's side-chain theory explains immunity by chemical receptors (active molecules) of body cells (represented above). Receptors are antibodies, that combine with bacteria, toxins and protein matter thus making them harmless. Set free, new receptors develop on cells.

Receptors of first order (antitoxins) bind toxins; those of second agglutinize the bacteria or protein matter; those of third order fix bacteria or protein substance with amboceptor and the complement of the blood, rendering the invaders harmless.

Founded by Jenner and Pasteur, this science has conquered such former fatal afflictions as rabies, smallpox, diphtheria, lockjaw, snake venom, becoming a blessing to mankind. (23—III—B)

Secret Agent X–9 Clue Contest

Woman Aboard Wanted

Clue No. 1—The Coded Alarm

Standing on the bridge of the SS. Marthinia, one day out of New York and bound for Havana, Capt. John Blake read the radiogram he had just received—and handed it over to Secret Agent X-9, who was making the trip as his personal guest.

Written in code and from the Federal District Attorney's office in New York, the cryptic message informed the skipper that the notorious international woman jewel thief, Louise (Queenie) Adamson, was aboard his vessel. The cablegram gave a full description of this light-fingered lady and explained that she was wanted by the Federal authorities for smuggling $500,000 in gems into the United States.

"Vital that you apprehend this woman before reaching Havana. Hold her on board until return trip at all costs," the message concluded. Secret Agent X-9 asked some rapid-fire questions. There were four women passengers aboard his small ship, Capt. Blake said. Two of them he knew as respectable married women from previous trips. The third was an old woman of 65 who was visiting her son in Cuba. The fourth was an exceedingly mysterious young woman, traveling alone. She answered most details of the cabled description.

Summoning Billings, the first mate, the skipper told him to invite Miss Edison to the bridge. While waiting to see her, a youth about 17 years old called up from the top deck.

"May I come to the bridge a moment, captain?"

The skipper nodded. It was cold on the bridge and because the slim, delicate-looking youth shivered, Capt. Blake handed him a coat. Absent-mindedly, Secret Agent X-9 noticed the boy buttoned the heavy double-breasted coat right side over the left.

"Left-handed," thought the detective. Seeing the first mate approach with the suspected woman, he told the youth he could come up later if he wished.

On being questioned casually on her business, Miss Edison partly confirmed the Secret Agent X-9's suspicions by giving evasive answers to all his queries. But Capt. Blake was not ready to act. It is a serious offense to arrest a person on the high seas, without sufficient evidence.

And there was still time—

$25 in Cash Prizes for The Best Solutions of 'Woman Aboard Wanted'

The "Secret Agent X-9" three-chapter serial story on this page will close in Wednesday's edition of the daily Sun-Telegraph. The boy or girl reader is to find the hidden clues and solve the mystery in a letter of not more than 100 words. The most nearly correct solution will be awarded a cash prize of $5 and the 20 next best solutions submitted will be awarded $1 each.

This contest is open to all boys and girls living in the reading area of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Your solution must be in the office of the "Secret Agent X-9" Contest Editor, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., before midnight, March 9. The prize winners will be announced in the Sun-Telegraph Saturday, March 17.

"Woman Aboard Wanted" is the first of a series of contest mystery stories, each to run three days—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—for four consecutive weeks. The prize awards for each week will total $25 in cash—$5 for the first best solution and $1 each for the 20 next best. Open to boys and girls up to 17 years of age.

States Must Co-operate

One thing we don't seem able to do is to make our 48 states America-conscious.

We are not referring to patriotism. We mean the big projects in one section which will eventually benefit all.

Every Senator and every Representative wants something for his own neck-of-the-woods. If he can't get a harbor he will accept a new postoffice. If he is unable to snare one of these fur-bearing pelts, he will shill for a bridge. That failing, he demands a government highway or its equivalent in wampum shells.

Now Colorado isn't steamed up to the bursting point about a merchant marine for New York, Boston, Philly, Baltimore and Galveston. Any place a Colorado man wants to go he can get there on hoss-back.

On the same glorious abacus of selfishness you can shunt the buttons and figure that New Orleans doesn't care a rap about the reforestation of the Northwest. Why worry about our trees? We've got the petrified forest that will last forever.

The folks in Nebraska and along the world's greatest water shed are neither for nor against the St. Lawrence project to the sea. They don't know a thing about harnessing the St. Lawrence.

They worried about those two powerful mules, the Missouri and the Mississippi. They don't want to harness them. All they want to do is to back them into their stalls. And keep them there.

Muscle Shoals is a great copy for the South. But what does Oregon and Vermont care about that? Out of sight is out of mind. What they are interested in is things they have right at hand. If a man hollers wolf when his wife makes him walk 20 steps to the woodpile, you know that he isn't thinking much about places that are sleeper jumps.

That is human nature of the finest table variety. An anteater is proof that you can pick up a comfortable living without seeing further than your nose.

Still, we figure this nation will be much better off when our different sections concentrate their hide-bound generosity upon each other. It's about time that local talent started getting national.

There can be a helping hand without the foot drawn back for a place kick. The place where all these matters and appropriations are settled is in Washington, hard by the Potomac.

And it's getting harder to get by the Potomac than ever. But we're beginning to get clubbier on intersectional welfare. And we will know that Utopia has driven up when California awards the noble commonwealth of Florida a medal for its grapefruit.

Inexcusable Vandalism

Defacing of Street Trees With Advertisements is Illegal and Should Be Stopped

A law of Pennsylvania enacted in 1903 prohibits the placing of any advertisements, except authorized legal notices, on public property. Advertisements placed in violation of the law are declared in the statute to be a public nuisance, and penalties are provided for those who affix them.

An ordinance of the City of Pittsburgh prohibits the display of advertising, either for business or political purposes, on city property, and directs that those who violate the ordinance shall be punished with a fine or imprisonment.

In spite of the law and the ordinance, business advertisements have been affixed recently to shade trees on the streets of Pittsburgh between the sidewalk and the curb—trees planted by the Shade Tree Commission during the last 20 years and unquestionably city property.

The law and the ordinance have been clearly violated.

Aside from the illegality of the procedure, the tacking of posters on the trees is undesirable because it mars the beauty of the trees and probably injures them.

Lake Erie Canal Nearer

Improvement of the Beaver and the Mahoning Would Be a Boon

For many years the businessmen of Pittsburgh have been campaigning for a canal to connect the Ohio River with Lake Erie by way of the Beaver and Mahoning rivers. The project has not received much encouragement from the Army engineers who have charge of waterway improvements.

Now, however, comes the heartening news that Maj. Gen. Edward M. Markham, chief of engineers, has recommended that the government establish a 12-foot channel from the mouth of the Beaver to Struthers, Ohio, with a width of 250 feet in the Beaver and 200 feet in the Mahoning, and 300 feet at bends.

The project, he estimates, would cost 37 million dollars, and would require $630,000 annually for maintenance and operation. Interests along the rivers that would be benefited are asked under the plan to give rights of way and waive damage claims.

The proposal, at least at first glance, seems one which should arouse the enthusiasm of this community. It would bring much nearer to realization the water connection with Lake Erie for which we have been working for well-nigh half a century.

A State Spelling Bee

Allegheny County Should Take an Active Part in This Interesting Contest.

The Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg announces that nearly every county in Pennsylvania will be represented in the finals of a state-wide championship spelling bee to be held in Harrisburg April 4 in connection with the observance of the one hundredth anniversary of the passing of the free school act.

It is to be hoped that Allegheny County will make a brave showing in the affair.

Dr. C. E. Dickey, county superintendent of schools, has granted the Sun-Telegraph permission to sponsor the contest.

This spelling bee will not be for school children or school teachers, as you might suppose. Participants are limited to "adults not now in school or college as students or teachers." This should add to the entertainment.

And the words to be used in the finals are to be selected from metropolitan Sunday newspapers, which assures fair play.

Pennsylvania History

The Movement to Have it Adequately Taught is Gaining Momentum

Twelve years ago the late Dr. George P. Donehoo, whose father was for many years pastor of the West End Presbyterian Church in this city, called the attention of the Dauphin County Historical Society to the fact that the colonial history of Pennsylvania received little space in history textbooks in comparison with that given other eastern states, particularly Massachusetts.

That was the beginning of a movement which has been rapidly gaining momentum — a movement to have Pennsylvania history adequately taught in Pennsylvania schools.

Attention is directed to it by an International News Service message from Harrisburg to the effect that Dr. Virginia B. Donehoo, widow of the initiator of the crusade, is carrying it on vigorously. From notes and books accumulated by her husband, and from material obtained from Dr. Hale Sipe, the Butler historian, Mrs. Donehoo hopes to prepare a textbook that will enlighten Pennsylvania school children on important matters concerning which they are now ill informed.

It is a commendable effort and should enlist the sympathy of all Pennsylvania educators.

Speeding Doesn't Pay

Anywhere and Especially in Russia.

In Russia, where they believe in direct action, a court has just sentenced a chauffeur to death for driving into a column of soldiers and killing four.

He will be shot, to encourage other chauffeurs to drive carefully. You imagine that they will.

We don't advocate the death penalty in America for reckless driving, but perhaps a diluted dose of Russian medicine for our speeders and road-hogs would have a salutary effect.

When these gentry kill somebody, as they frequently do, it may not be murder, but it is certainly manslaughter, and should be treated as such.

In fact, we don't know but that it deserves to be ranked as murder.

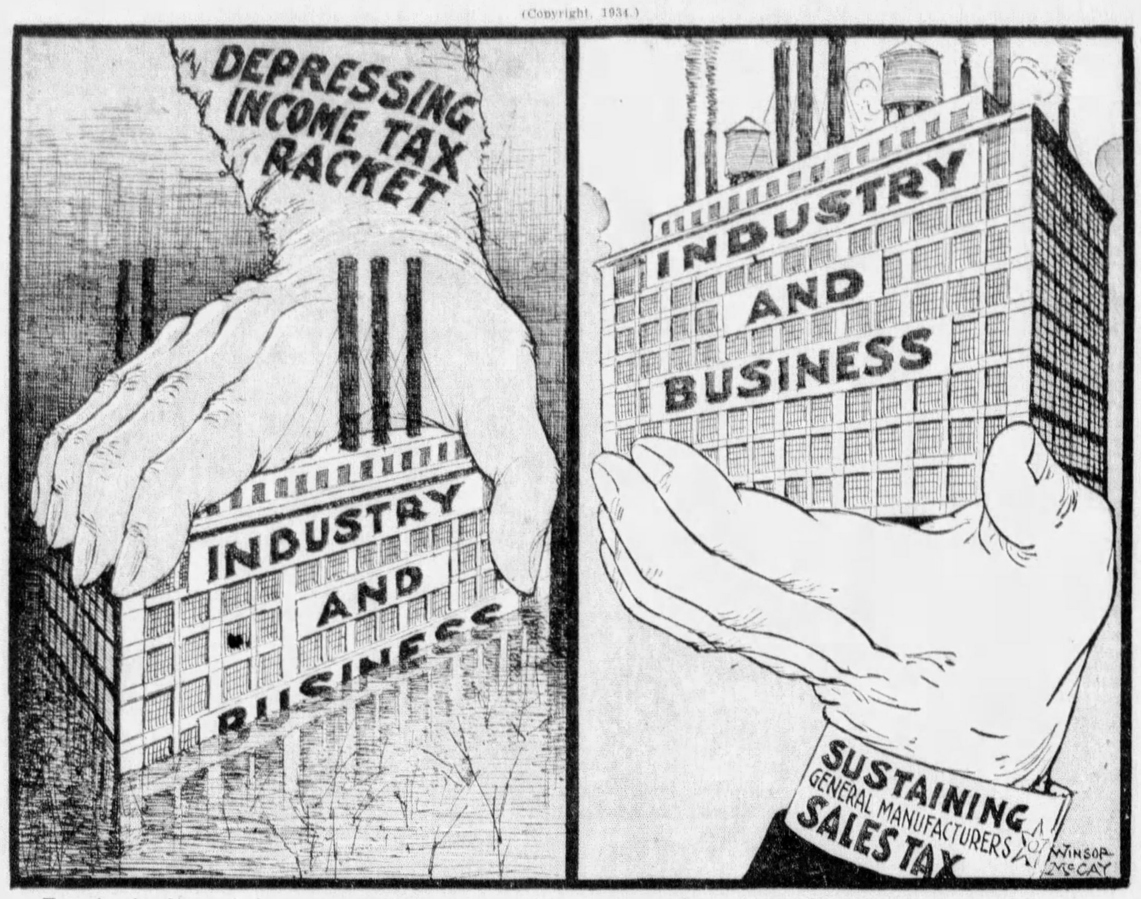
The reckless driver by his habitual carelessness has sentenced some other motorist or some pedestrian to death.

The mere fact that he does not know when he is going to execute the sentence makes little difference.

He executes it SOONER OR LATER, and the victim is quite as dead as if there had been a deliberate and cold-blooded plot to carry out the crime.

Which Hand?

(Copyright, 1934.)



Taxation is of two kinds—unreasonable taxation, which oppresses thrift and enterprise and rewards tax evasions, and just taxation, which avoids discrimination and permits productive enterprise to function freely.

A just and equitable tax actually BENEFITS business because it maintains, without unfairness, the degree of government and of social security that business itself must have for its own protection. Business is thus encouraged to go ahead.

Our discredited income tax is the world's outstanding example of a bad tax. Based on the false idea of "soaking the rich," it is easily evaded by them. Consequently its burden falls excessively on the capital industries that make employment and on the persons who work for their incomes.

The General Manufacturers' Sales Tax, spread over the whole country, is the most successful example of a good tax. It is distributed so widely that nobody feels it, and the rich pay their just share.

Canada has such a tax—and Canada calls it the "PAINLESS TAX."

Congress at its current session must choose between these two taxes—the one that bears down on business and the other that permits business to prosper.

It is up to Congress to choose rightly—let the racketeering income tax be abolished and the General Manufacturers' Sales Tax be substituted for Federal purposes.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 5.—Diary: Early abroad, surtouted in my brave greatcoat of deep blue, and came upon Edgar Selwyn, here from the cinema studios, and his sister Rae. Then to see the Watterson Rothackers, like statues in chalk, after having lost their daughter Virginia temporarily between trains in Chicago.

So at my labors and reading authentically from a private letter that two of our young screen stars each have false upper and lower plates. Mid-afternoon Riley Cooper popped in with his Boston "Michael" he has taught to circle, growl and charge like a Clyde Beatty lion as he plays trainer with a chair.

Dinner at the M. H. Aylesworths, the Grantland Rices, Lucy Virginia Long and the Richard Pattersons there and on to a charity to-do, talking to Kent Cooper, who introduced Owen D. Young. To bed late reading Charles Williams' biography of Bacon, who had 100 hand warts as a boy.

One of the best of the late Montague Glass' stories—and what a story teller he was!—concerned the stay-out who arrived at the Lambs at 2 a. m., afraid to go home to his wife at Great Neck. He spied two gray-derbied acrobats in dead-panned quiet at a corner table and invited them to accompany him, praising his wife as one of those willing hostesses, ready to arise at any hour to prepare a tasty spread. Reluctantly, they accompanied. On the way he continued to extol his wife's good humor. Throwing open the front door, she greeted him in frowzy contempt from top stairs and then heaved a flower pot that nipped him flush on the chin. As he came to he cried to his companions: "Jolly little woman. Always clowning!"

I think nothing quite so appealing as the candor of small ambitions. She is a blonde Venus of the cinema ticket window, gazing out from her glass enclosure with a sort of scientific detachment. The favor was granted and after hastily gobbling a dessert, he filled his pockets with cigarets and was on his way. Which gives you an idea of the New York brand.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Should Boys Be Trained to Be Husbands?

SHOULD BOYS BE TRAINED TO BE HUSBANDS?

Perhaps that isn't an editorial subject but it ought to be, for it's Front Page News with most wives—particularly young ones. F'instance, Madelyn—to whom the whole space goes today, with my earnest recommendation that a lot of Dear Doting Mothers, who spoil their men-children rotten, read it, and reform accordingly.

Dear Elsie Robinson:

I'd like to ask the mothers of this country a few questions. And I think there are a lot of other young married women who will agree with my ideas, and want the answers to them, too.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, WHY IS IT THAT MOTHERS DON'T GIVE THEIR BOYS A FEW IDEAS ABOUT WHAT MARRIAGE MEANS? WHY DON'T THEY TRAIN THEM IN CONSIDERATION AND UNDERSTANDING? WHY DO THEY BABY THEM, UNTIL THEY'RE UTTERLY SPOILED AS HUSBANDS?

I am 22. A year ago I married a boy I'd been going with for about 10 months. He had, and has, a good job. He is honest, ambitious and very charming—when he wants to be. But—

Well, I knew when I married him that he was somewhat spoiled, but I never dreamed of his total lack of any feeling of responsibility for our home. His mother always managed their own home—and SHE ALWAYS WAITED ON HIM. He has two sisters, and they waited on him, too. It seems he was a sort of young god at home.

When we went to housekeeping, like every other girl I dreamed of happiness and harmony. BUT I SOON DISCOVERED THAT MY NEW HUSBAND EXPECTED ME TO WAIT ON HIM, HAND AND FOOT, AND IT NEVER OCCURRED TO HIM TO EVER WAIT ON ME.

He expected me to baby him always. He wanted HIS way in everything. I was elected, to hear him tell it, to the special privilege of being his glorified slave. I was second in importance. He pouted and sulked. He threw things around and expected me to pick them up.

Naturally, I balked. My idea of marriage was that we BOTH had privileges—and responsibilities—and that it included fair play, companionship and tolerance for each other's foibles and differences. I expected marriage to be a job, but I didn't expect to play nurse or maid.

I tried to talk this over with him in a friendly way, but he just couldn't get it. Hadn't his mother and sisters always put him first? He was honestly puzzled and hurt by my attitude. HE DIDN'T SEEM TO EVEN DREAM THAT HE HAD ANY DUTIES AS A HUSBAND. He wanted to be catered to and looked after. It was his due.

AND THE INFURIATING PART OF IT ALL IS THAT HE WAS NOT TO BLAME. HIS MOTHER WAS TO BLAME. HIS SISTERS, TOO.

It made me so mad I could hardly see—not at him, but at the silly system that so many mothers use to make their boys impossible husbands, and to lay up misery for them and their brides.

Well, I thought it over carefully, I made up my mind I wouldn't be licked. So—I just quietly and pleasantly stopped picking up after him.

He had tantrums, but I pretended to pay no attention to them. I pretended to be very tired when he asked me to jump to get him the paper, or a match, or some other silly thing. I sweetly asked him to get ME things . . . and thanked him prettily and told him how sweet he was, when he did.

And then I pulled a fast one on him. I knew one or two men who always waited on their wives a good deal. I got up parties and invited them, along with another couple. We played cards, danced, grew to know each other very well. And it worked! Now we can laugh over our battles.

BUT HOW MANY TIMES DOES ALL THIS WORK OUT DIFFERENTLY? How many times is there either a divorce, or one of those bitterly unhappy marriages that just drag on in misery?

MOTHERS WHO TREAT THEIR SONS LIKE YOUNG PRINCES CERTAINLY CAUSE A HECK OF A LOT OF TROUBLE. THEY DON'T EVEN MAKE THE SONS HAPPY. They spoil everything.

MADELYN.

You don't agree with it? All right—sit down and think it over. How much is YOUR boy, or YOUR brother, or YOUR sweetheart, trained in the difficult art of Being a Husband? And whose fault will it be if he fails at the job?

MARRY-GO-ROUND

By Helen Rowland

Women—And Other Women

A philanderer doesn't have to be exposed to the dangers of love, at this time of year. He carries the germs of the malady around with him, and leaves every woman he meets with a touch of heart trouble or high blood pressure.

Love used to be a sporting proposition; but there's not much sport about it in these days when a girl carries her heart around with full "Directions for Unlocking" printed right on the lid.

* * *

Not every girl feels that "Independence" consists in taking orders and putting up with grouches from another woman's husband around an office all day, instead of giving orders to your own husband and coddling him into a good humor, all evening.

A woman is old or young, in inverse ratio to the ages of the men who LOOK at her. She is not actually passe until the men half her age STOP looking at her and begin listening to her.

One of the vital changes in love making is that a man's coat-lapel gets so much more wear and tear these days. It used to be merely damp with tears; but now it has to be dry-cleaned by an expert in order to remove the cream, powder, mascara and lipstick.

* * *

There are few of them left—but you can always tell a catty woman by the fact that she is so much more eager to pay off a grudge than she is to repay a kindness or a favor.

Outside of poison ivy, the only thing that appears to thrive, flourish and blossom better on complete neglect and discouragement, is a man's LOVE!

OUR RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Cabeza de Vaca

Of lands unknown and scarcely to be drawn
By fancy's pen. A hostile world and grim
In spite of lonely loveliness of dawn
Across wide, foam-flecked beaches where the sea
Could smile like heaven or in mad fury sweep
Upon the dreaming coast's tranquility
And drag destruction's harvest to the deep.

Cabeza and his valiant three alone
Were left of all the happy, eager scores
That had set out on chartless seas unknown.
To seek a fabulous New World's golden shores.
The others? Death in many a strange disguise

Three Glaring Examples Of Misgovernment

By James T. Williams, Jr.

ONE OF the melancholy aspects of government as viewed in the federal city in recent months is the tendency of some of the newcomers to official power, and some of the old arrivals as well, to forget or to challenge one of the great objectives of the American system of government.

This objective has never been better defined than in the constitution of the commonwealth of Massachusetts. In article 30 of that declaration of the rights of the inhabitants of that commonwealth the reason why the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the government were made entirely separate and independent of one another is thus set forth:

"To the end that it may be a government of laws and not of men."

It is only under "a government of laws and not of men" that for the humblest and the weakest American citizen, as for the most eminent and strongest, "government is protection."

When Government Fails to Protect

GOVERNMENT IS no longer protection for its citizens when its officials are permitted to publicly condemn any citizen as guilty of any crime, or misdemeanor and, to punish him, if you please, before that citizen has been given a chance to be heard in his own defense. When such a thing happens government ceases to be protection and therefore is no longer the government of the federal constitution.

Take only three recent examples of many that could be cited:

If the government at Washington were functioning today as "a government of laws and not of men" such citizens as Charles A. Lindbergh, of Missouri; Charles Francis Adams, of Massachusetts, and Herbert Hoover, Jr., of California, would not have been subjected to public condemnation by any agent of either house of Congress or by any governmental official without a chance to be heard in their own defense.

If the government at Washington were functioning today as "a government of laws and not of men," no committee of either house of Congress, charged with the investigation of any part of the common defense would be permitted to expend public money to assail the character of citizens entitled to a presumption of innocence before such a committee had completed its investigation and made its report to the branch of the government that appointed the committee.

If the government at Washington were functioning today as "a government of law and not of men," no member would be allowed to retain his seat in either house, much less his committee chairmanship, who dared to broadcast unproven allegations against citizens presumed to be innocent until they had been given a hearing, until the committee's so-called investigation had been completed and until its findings had been reported to one house of Congress or the other.

If the government at Washington were functioning today as "a government of laws and not of men," no chairman of any committee of either house would dare write letters to any executive department in behalf of any applicant for government contracts.

If the government at Washington were functioning today as "a government of laws and not of men," no newspaperman in his honest efforts to carry out the instructions of a fearless and patriotic chief and to acquit himself as a loyal citizen would be harassed for weeks at a time by threats about what would happen to him unless his allegations regarding maladministration of which he had offered evidence ceased to appear in print.

Roosevelt Expected To Give Protection

WHEN HE gets around to it President Roosevelt will doubtless embrace the inspiring opportunity that he faces, of making the government at Washington once more what the framers of the Constitution designed it to be—"A government of laws and not of men."

And in this purging process the President will deserve the support of those brave and honest public servants in both houses of Congress who have not entirely forgotten that they took an oath to be Senators and Representatives in Congress, not of any party or class, but of the United States of America.

"Government is protection."

The statesman of the old South who said that referred to the government of the Federal Constitution—"a government of laws and not of men."

Human Side of the News

The Country on the Brink of Violence at End of Hoover Regime—Changes in a Year.

By Edwin C. Hill

ONE YEAR ago yesterday a hundred and fifty thousand people, shivering in the black wind which swept the great plaza and park which spreads between the Capitol in Washington and the Congressional Library, gazed curiously at a small Greek temple of an affair which had been erected on the east front of the Capitol itself. The spectacle which drew them was one of traditional appeal—the inauguration of a President, an outpouring of notables from all over the land; men and women visible in the flesh who were familiar to most only through newspaper headlines; the sweep and color and clatter of cavalry, bands playing.

But underneath the curiosity was a kind of dull despair. The government—the administration—was changing, yes. But few, probably, hoped for anything like a transformation of the public mood and plight. One old party was succeeding another in the conduct of the government. The country was waist deep in misfortune, bogged down. So was the popular mind.

And then, of a sudden, the transformation took place. A man appeared on the platform, slowly making his way to the front of the white stand, taking his place by the side of the Chief Justice of the United States, and presently that man lifted a face which shone with the inspiration of purpose and courage. Presently his voice was sweeping out over the great crowd with a pledge and a purpose, simple, understandable, convincing and uplifting. One hundred and fifty thousand people looked on, and at least 50 millions listening by the magic of radio, instantly felt the electric impulse and from that moment things began to get better in these United States. The black spell was dissipated. The devils were exorcised. The peaceful revolution had begun.

Nation Was On Brink of Violence

IT IS no far-fetched analogy to compare the recent revolts in Paris and Vienna and their scenes of bloody violence—the mob loose; the people fighting behind barricades; death and destruction—to what might have taken place in this country if impending revolution had not been conducted by the orderly processes of law into a peaceful channel. A cloud of witnesses could be summoned to testify that this country was on the brink of violence on the fourth day of March, 1933.

There are men in and out of power today who know—who do not guess or surmise, but who know—that a storm was ready to break from half a dozen black clouds of public desperation. And then came the inauguration, an inspiring and courageous address by the new President, and a whole series of swift and bold maneuvers, which had an almost instant reassuring and quieting effect on the frightened and angry people.

* * *

Incomprehensible Sneers and Attacks

IT IS for this very reason that this writer cannot understand the sneers and attacks directed against the President and his policies. Many of them are covert and furtive, but they are whispered and muttered just the same. Surely those Americans who may not like Mr. Roosevelt, who may have an honest doubt of the wisdom of his policies, who wonder where all the money is going to come from for which checks have already been made out—surely these honest critics must acknowledge that it was the President's thorough understanding of the mood and temper of the people, his clear comprehension that something had to be done, tried; that it was dangerous to delay action of some sort another 24 hours, snatched us from the positive peril of violent revolution.

Even if his policies should fall short of their goal—and it will take at least another full year even to obtain a just measure of that—he must stand in history as the man who changed overnight the temper of the country, who brought his people back out of unreasoning panic—the panic from which such things as insurrection spring—to the sanity of confidence and the inspiration of faith.

ISN'T IT SO?

Doing well on this earth does not mean that you are to go out and do others.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Your ideals, aspirations and general manner of conduct may be on a higher plane than those of your associates.

What effect has this upon your life?

Why don't you try to raise the standards of your friends if they don't come up to your ideals instead of being dragged down to their level?

There must be something you can do—though it might be a hard task.

There might be considerable satisfaction in helping others up.

Of course you can't do it if you assume to be superior and so antagonize them.

But to have wrought a change for the better should be compensation enough.

Then it should be a labor of love, not a course of criticism that is needed.

Consistent effort, which will avoid antagonism, is required.

If you don't descend to the lower plane, but bring up your dearest one to see and understand what you are driving at when you avoid certain things that the weaker one might desire, you may, together, become of one mind.
